M1 garand airsoft aeg

Electric Airsoft Gun. Replica of the M1 Garand in wood/metal from A&K. WWII replica massively used by infantry rifle, which was later replaced by a more modern variant of the M14. As the name suggests, the grip is made of real wood with a comfortable shade (no plastic imitation to maximize the credibility of the whole model!) And all other parts are made of metal alloy. The rear vision is fully adjustable and the Hop-Up control is performed after pulling the underslication in the ejection port. Compared true fire rifle this otherwise realistic airsoft processed version equipped with a small recording mode switch on the left side of the bolt (the handle can be easily removed). Another necessary difference is the Midcap magazine, which is inserted from the bottom into the grip before the trigger guard. Despite this slightly different technical solution, the rifle is a very faithful imitation that greatly expands the exclusive offering of these lesser-known and slightly-swung airsoft weapons. The mechabox with metal reinforced mechabox features high-quality steel wheels (TM M14-style), precision metal 6 mm bushing, M125 spring, reinforced top and back piston head. Included in the package are the magazine filler, barrel cleaner and 22 BB (Lowcap) magazine. - Notice - Battery and charger are not included.
