Is Christmas is a time of fun, When everything you save for the year are gone Buy gifts and get stuck in the shopping craze The long lines in the cashier's lane never make me forget. For many people, Christmas is their favorite Getting the things they want as a Christmas present, but for me, it's not just for that. Christmas is time to share love, and you have to remember it. Short and stupid funny Christmas poems Do you want to put a touch of stupidity and fun into your Christmas greetings? Why don't you try these funny, stupid Christmas poems? I'm pretty sure that would make someone smile on vacation. CHRISTMAS SPIRIT Christmas is here and the best part is the good cheering, Everyone will understand that the music gets loud in the car, This is the only time to hit it hard with a good beer, but be careful not to end up in a cheesy bar. Everything that happens, all the credit Santa gets, And when they ask for your Christmas spirit, It's ok to show them the liquor cabinets, After all his Christmas and there is no limit. FAILURE CHRISTMAS Christmas is here, children want a lot, and our pockets empty, Santa claus is praised, you get to pay. As I want to see, the day I give Santa the bill, so he knows empty pockets can kill, Christmas is here, so let's all be cheerful. Funny Christmas Poems to Read Reading Christmas poems is one of my past times especially as the holidays approach. That's why I like to write a little bit. Here we are sharing some of our amusements to read Christmas poems. I hope you like them too. AFTER CHRISTMAS Christmas ruins all my efforts at home, And after months of training and celery sticks, Christmas comes and suddenly I can't limit my choice, although I know I'll need to have a bigger blouse. So I decided to write back to Santa Claus, asking why he let go of all the holidays in my life, post-Christmas doesn't taste so great, Every piece of food that I like must be banished. CHRISTMAS WATCH DOG While I preside over the socks and tree in the house, I drove out all the greedy cats and mice, time to have hot cookies, or hot milk, or cake, No one will know because they think Santa always eats. The man with the beard and and sack never lands, I see a figure go down the stairs with gifts in his hands, Stealthily walks to the tree and puts them down, The children will not be happy when they wake up tomorrow DAD DURING CHRISTMAS My father knows the right way, to make it sweet, a perfect day, When it's Christmas he wears rolled pants, now I know he's really aged. I was embarrassed to walk with him, his beard I wanted to cut, I saw him love the mess I made on the wall, now I'm sure I love him without fear. Funny and witty Christmas poetry Thinking, when you say Christmas, you would think only of happy moments, decorations, parties and good weather. But if you look at it closely, you'll see that it's not all about that. That's what these witty and funny Christmas poems are all about - Christmas credits and Christmas irony. CHRISTMAS CREDITS I work, I buy but the bearded man gets my credits, my milk and biscuits that everyone loves, but he gets my credits, At the end of the day, I can't wait for the man with the beard, because even though I do my best Christmas it's still about the man with the beard. Christmas is the only time that no one wants to be smart, mature men drink fools, it does not look like lighting, The strangeness of the day and the normal anomaly can lead Santa claus to be afraid, At the end of it all, the big man from the belly gets all the credits that come with Christmas! CHRISTMAS IRONY Christmas is here and real, Shops get bigger and fat, everyone's appetite grows with every meal, but guess who will pay for it! It's Christmas I celebrate trying to win, but when it ends, the shops get fat and my bank account tapers, I still want to scroll with Christmas, making a snowman from the snow, I won't stop, even if it will hurt, I have to enjoy a Christmas show! Funny Christmas poems for children and children and children at heart Who doesn't recognize a snowman will always be associated with Christmas, as much as Santa Claus. That's why we wrote funny Christmas poems about, well, snowman. Here they are: CHRISTMAS SNOWMAN Snow, snow and more snow, I make a snowman, in the morning, the nose of the snowman is not there, the bunny ate it, now it is not overall, the troubles of the snowman never end until the end of Christmas. The chubby fat snowman must have quarrelled, to save his precious carrot nose and get through the night, Santa should have prevented his nose from turning into lunch, the stubborn bunny enjoyed Christmas made easy with a free creak! CHRISTMAS MADNESS It's Christmas and I'm three years old, I made a snowman for my sweet Santa Claus, I put it right next to me, so he couldn't escape, but he wet my bed and ran away Santa. I know he came, because everything I wrote was under the tree, what surprised me is that Dad was wearing Santa's shoes, I asked why but mom was laughing, looking at Dad and taking me to my gifts, Funny Fun made a strange impression, and to Santa claus today there is a drift. Funny Christmas greeting poems And as I said before, it would be nice to add poems in your greetings too. Here's another fun and fun Christmas greeting poem you can write on your Christmas card. You can also post it on your social media site while greeting all your friends, family and cheerful Christmas. Don't forget to add credit to it, all right? Here. I hope you like it. Merry Christmas! Merry Christmas, Me Christmas is here, dance, celebrate and cheer with good cheer, slide down your fireplace and sometimes I'll hurt my ass, but hey! It's worth it because I can eat candy and milk. Many wish to be thin with a fat bank account, But because their homes full of cheese, rum balls and beer, Enjoy Christmas is my joy and the biggest applause, After dropping my gifts cry !! I have! I have! With a belly full of towel cream! On the side note, these funny Christmas poems aim to make someone or anyone laugh and smile, not to offend. When shared on the right, this will definitely give someone's Christmas fun. This can also be a perfect Christmas gift for anyone to cheer them up on them. Let's hope you enjoy these fun Christmas poems. share them with your friends and loved ones to spread good vibes. Finally, enjoy the holiday. Merry Christmas! Christmas!
