HISTORICAL INFORMATION South Florida National Cemetery built in Florida and the 125th National Cemetery. Historically, the site of the South Florida National Cemetery has been used as farmland, as evidenced by the historic canal systems used to irrigate the property. Parts of the site were used for cattle grazing until its purchase by the National Cemetery Administration in 2002. The development of Palm Beach County, and South Florida in general, has been sparked by investment in the local Henry Morrison Flagler rail system. As Standard Oil's first partner with John D. Rockefeller, Flagler left the company at the end of the 19th century. This railroad was a tool for the rapid growth of Palm Beach County in the 1920's. South Florida National Cemetery opened for funerals in 2007, and was formally dedicated on March 9, 2008. EDUCATION We are developing educational content for this national cemetery and will publish new materials as they are available. Visit the Veterans Legacy Program and NCA History Program for more information. Thank you for your concern. What does it mean to sponsor a wreath? That means you're going to honor an American hero on one of the more than 1,200 locations nationwide this year for wreaths across America Day. It's a day that has been set aside to lay wreaths in places where we remember, honor and teach about our veterans: cemeteries, monuments, parks... Anywhere we can pay homage to their victims. But we can't do it without your support. Your sponsorship will ensure that the wreath is handmade from all-American balm and hand-tied with a red velvet bow here in Columbia Falls, Maine. It will then be sent to one of our participating sites, where a volunteer will place it on the mark of the fallen hero. This volunteer then puts out his name to ensure that the legacy of the duties, services and sacrifices of this veteran will never be forgotten. So, what does it mean to sponsor a wreath? This means that you have the opportunity to join the grateful nation in saying thank you to our veterans. *Please note: Specific places marked as ceremonial only accept a limited number of sponsorships. Any additional sponsorships received in addition to those used for the ceremony will be distributed to other venues. Funeral section at South Florida National Cemetery.
