let's address it immediately. Simply put, memory foam smells for dogs at first! When memory foam is packed, it is chemically compressed. That's why it requires time to puff up. Some people may see the chemical smell when unpacking memory foam, and some may not. Either way, your puppy's sense of smell is 200,000 times more sensitive! Dogs can smell compression chemicals even after you think the fragrance has gone away. Memory foam compression chemicals to evaporate There is a great need for time and ventilation. One to put to the fooled! This bed remains very resistant against intensive chewers. The removable cover machine of this almost indestructible dog bed is washable, and the bottom part is non-skid. The outer layer is water resistant and too soft for tough on to this bed is presented to soft for tough on the problem with Kong's dog bed is that because most people love their dog toys so much, expectations are too high for their bed, too. And in all honesty, Kong dog beds aren't as good as toys stamped by the same brand. In fact, reviews all over the internet and our tests have shown that Kong failed to deliver an actual chew proof indestructible dog bed. And worse, it charges a premium for your beds while not delivering on quality. Therefore, I would discourage anyone who is in Kong to fall for their bed. How Kong toys myself, they are amazing and the only ones that last with my border Koli! Still, Kong is untariated up and down really tend to specialize in ultra-resistant (and indestructible) dog beds rather than just doing it because it brings revenue. Stick with Kong for other top brands for quality deads dog beds. Only it is also the least attractive for the eye. Other options are amazing solutions if your dog is a chewer but not an obsessive one. Take your pick but make sure your search for an indestructible dog bed doesn't take comfort from you list of priorities.
