Published 2019 Description of skillFlix™ for parents (SkillFlix) is an online video folder designed for parents of mildly cognitively visually impaired youth. By modeling effective conversations, SkillFlix videos teach parents conversational skills and information about sexual health, allowing them to have more productive conversations with their children. SkillFlix for parents undergoes a formative assessment to improve the design and implementation of the program and add adolescent pregnancy prevention to the evidence base. According to the format assessment will be an assessment of the effectiveness of the program. Population snapshot: Parents of students with cognitive disabilities (ages 10 to 26): Kent, Ionia, and Montcalm Counties, MI Partners: Nine School Districts in Kent, Ionia and Montcalm Counties Goals Increase Parents' Knowledge of Adolescent Sexual Health Teach Parents Conversational Skills and Increase Their Ability to Have Effective Conversations About Sexual Health With Their Cognitively Impaired Adolescents Increase The Frequency of Communication About Sexual Health Between Parents and Their Cognitive-Impaired Teen Strategies Video Creation Skills for Parents SkillFlix for Parents , which teaches parents how to have conversations about sexual health with their adolescents with cognitive impairment. The skillFlix video featured actors portraying young people with cognitive disabilities and their parents having conversations about sexual health. Every sixty-second video models Micro-skill™, a small action parents can take to improve the quality of their conversations. The video is organized with the help of skills; each skill contains three to five videos that teach individual Micro skills. For example, the skill of using a spoken tone involves video on Micro-skills using relaxed and open body language and staying positive or neutral when surprised. The videos also contain information about sexual health topics, including abstinence, pregnancy and sexually transmitted infections (UIDs). By watching videos and practicing, parents learn skills that allow them to have effective conversations with their children and respond to unpredictable situations. SkillFlix for Parents is an extension of SkillFlix learning technology originally developed for healthcare educators using dfusion with national health funding institutes. Parallel school lessons for young people All participants of SkillFlix for Parents intervention have children receiving the Difference curriculum at school. Funded by the HHS Administration for Children's and Family Services and Youth Services and implemented by Kent Intermediate School District, this evidence-based programme has been adapted for students with mild cognitive disabilities and provides them with the knowledge and skills to reduce risk and pregnancy. SkillFlix videos for parents are consistent with the Create a Difference curriculum and allow parents to have conversations with their children about what they're studying at school when they learn about it. The teachers of these schools have been trained by facilitators and provide students and their families with an additional level of support. About the TPP Program The Teen Pregnancy Prevention (TPP) Population Management Program is a federal grant program that funds diverse organizations working to prevent teen pregnancy across the United States. OAH invests in both the implementation of the evidence program and the development and evaluation of new and innovative approaches to prevent adolescent pregnancy. The OAH TPP program reaches adolescents ages 10-19, with a focus on populations with the greatest need in order to reduce disparities during teen pregnancy and fertility. And while higher quality schools are usually accompanied by higher property taxes, homeowners in such areas end up returning because of the higher sale price of housing. Getting paid off sounds great, but how much do we say? New research research Realtor.com shows that for entry to the desired school district, 9% of buyers say they will pay 11% to 20% above the budget. Separately, 17% report being paid to be close enough for their children to go to and from school. Realtor.com found that 62% of shoppers would pass a home spa if it meant getting into the right school district. 50% would give way to easy access to purchases, while 44% would give up their seat in the form of a bonus room. If the house you plan to sell is in a very desirable school district, do everything in your power to highlight this fact in all your real estate marketing materials. Many potential buyers are parents of children currently in the school system, so be sure to get the word out among neighbors and local friends. If you're buying a home, use a search tool that lets you filter by school district because district boundaries don't always align with urban, rural, and urban lines. After all, you can't assume that your children will be assigned to attend the same school as children down the block or even next door. Individuals can use the ForRent.com or Hotpads websites to search for apartments in a particular school district and see the boundaries of the district. Users can see a specific school attendance area to find out if their children will be eligible to attend a particular school while living at an apartment address, Hotpads notes. Users can visit the Hotpads website and choose any filters by number of bedrooms and price range for the apartment. They can then enter location information into the search box and then run a search to see a map of apartments in the area. Clicking on the result, a list appears that lists elementary, middle and high schools that residents can attend, shows the Hotpads.Zillow website allows users to select filters for the right type of apartment and then enter the school district name in the search box. This brings up the map with a limit, with apartments within being part of the school district. Clicking on the result of the property on the map shows a detailed list with information about the school. ForRent.com allows users to enter a specific school district or school name in the search box and then see apartments nearby. Once filters are installed for the price, bedrooms, amenities, bathrooms, rules or features of pets, users can enter a search term to see the apartments eligible. Jonathan Kiern/Stone/Getty Images The best way to figure out your school district is to consult an online search engine that uses geographic identifiers to determine a school district. Education Statistics Center of the U.S. Department of Education provides one such tool, and Schools provide similar. Once one has identified the correct school district, it is sometimes still necessary to find out which school is assigned to. This can be done by calling the local school district. Many large school districts, including the Los Angeles and New York City districts, provide online search tools that use the requester's home address to determine a designated school. School.
