Today, I share with you five different sentences that you can use in Spanish to say you're sorry and show your empathy. 1. Te/Le acompaño en el sentimiento (my deepest sympathies)It is used when we talk to someone who has lost a loved one. If this person is an acquaintance or a relative, we will use te (tú) and if the person who suffered the loss is an adult, then we will use le (usted). 2. Lo siento mucho / muchísimo (I'm really sorry for your loss)If the relationship is much closer (e.g., our partner or first-degree relatives or even our best friends) then maybe we experience ourselves the pain and sorrow as well.3. Who/ Nuestro más sentido pésame or miss / Nuestras condolencias por la muerte de.... (Our sincere condolences) It is usually used by personalities when handling public messages if a famous person dies (or a relative of a celebrity). 4. Ermm! Estoy aquí para lo que haga falta / para lo que necesites (cheer up! I'll be by your side) It's used when you want to offer your support to the other person that is/is probably your best friend or relative.5. Entiendo por lo que estás pasando (I know what you are going through)It can also be used in difficult times that do not involve someone's death. You show your empathy to the other person so you realize they're not alone and they can share their feelings with you. Perhaps you've experienced a similar situation before so you can help or advise them one way or another. Well, then that's all for now. I hope that's useful. Useful.
