The personal data you provide (Data) will be processed by FCA Italy S.p.A. (Company, Us, Us) to provide you with the service you requested. We will also conduct customer satisfaction surveys regarding the quality of our goods and services, provided this is in our legitimate interest. If you agree to do so, we will send you relevant marketing information and conduct market research on our products and services so as not to miss out on current offers. If you tell us that you want to receive communications that are specific to you, we will analyze your personal preferences, interests or behaviors so that we can send you a customized communication that we think you might like. If you tell us that you are interested in receiving relevant offers from other companies that might interest you, then we will share your information with companies in our group and selected partners in the automotive, financial, insurance and telecommunications sectors with whom we work closely. What happens if I don't? Data delivery is never mandatory, however, if you do not provide essential information, we will not be able to provide you with the requested service. Only asterisk fields are essential for us to be able to provide you with the service you requested. If you do not fill in optional fields, we will still be able to provide you with a service. If you don't agree to our marketing, we won't be able to tell you about our latest deals or deals that we think you might like. Who processes the data? The data may be processed by natural persons and/or legal entities (processors), acting on our behalf in accordance with our specific instructions or contractual obligations. We may send information to third parties to comply with legal obligations or security purposes. Who's the data controller? The data controller is FCA Italy S.p.A., with registered office in Corso Giovanni Agnelli 200 – 10135 Turin, Italy. You can contact the data protection team at the e-mail address dpo@fcagroup.com. Where will my data be processed? Processors are usually found in EU Member States, but we can transfer data in countries outside the European Economic Area (EEA), for example, to store in databases operated by entities acting on our behalf. These data processors are bound by the instructions we give them for data processing and must do so in accordance with applicable data protection laws. In the case of data transfers outside the EEA, we will use appropriate measures to ensure adequate data protection, usually in the form of standard contractual clauses approved by the EU Commission for the transfer of personal data outside the EEA. How long will my data be kept? By providing you with the service you requested, we may store your data until our interests related to the potential liability associated with this service need to be protected. We will only keep the data for as long as it is deemed strictly necessary to fulfil the purpose for which it was collected. You may withdraw your consent to marketing and other activities that are not related to the performance of a particular service required at any time, after which the data will no longer be used for this purpose. While we will no longer contact you for this purpose, we may continue to store it to protect our interests. What rights do I have? You have the right: to know if we process any information about you and, if applicable, have access to it; correct any inaccurate information we have about you or delete it when the request is legitimate; restrict data processing when the request is legitimate; portability, if applicable so that you can obtain the data in a structured, usually used and readable format, as well as the right to transfer data to other controllers; object to data processing when the request is legitimate; lodge complaint to the supervisory authority in case of unlawful data processing. You can exercise these rights by writing to the data controller at the address above, or you can write to the e-mail address: privacy@fcagroup.com.
