The project is called Le Monde – The Life of Charles Darwin. This will be a collaboration to help students learn about Darwin's life and career. There are two versions of this workbook available, the books are an easy-to-read coloring book, and a spreadsheet that will bring the colored pages to life. The book tells the story of how Charles Darwin worked on his life's work, and how he travelled around Europe to collect data. Students can add pictures of their own choose and create life-like scenes with just a paper plate and markers. The tiles can be printed in black and white or color to represent the scene they create. There are many drawings, and re-enactments are included. You can even add text and talk about the events that occurred. In addition to the coloring pages and life workbook, there is also a workbook for kindergartners. This includes fun activities, games and a helpful lesson on evolution. It also contains facts about Darwin's work, and the creation of The Origin of Species with means of natural selection. The worksheet contains topics such as the animal kingdom, insects, birds, fish and plants. There are many fun activities for children to do, such as watching a movie on Carl Sagan, and thinking about how natural selection came to exist. That includes making wine from grapes, reading the history of the trees and rainforest history. Darwin wrote the genesis of Species during his time in Scotland. It tells the story of the variation in life on Earth. There are several lessons in the workbook that can be used with your kindergartners.
