Ijchi) AWAJI, Hyogo -- The world of popular ninja-themed anime and manga series Naruto and Boruto jumps into new exhibits that open at a lively theme park in Awaji, Hyogo Prefecture, western Japan, April 20. Visitors can explore the Naruto and Boruto Ninja Village at the Nijigen no Mori theme park, which features stylish attractions on the famous animated series. The park is located on the grounds of Hyogo Awajishima Prefectural Park. The theme park was created by Tokyo-based Pasona Inc. as part of its regional revitalization policies. Including the next naruto world, the park also features exhibitions of the manga Phoenix by Osamu Tezuka and Yoshito Usui Shin-chan Pencil. The park has become popular as a place of natural beauty where visitors can enjoy the worlds of anime and manga. To attract more people from home and abroad, the park has opted for the internationally recognized Naruto as its latest addition. In an 8,000 square metre plot nestled in one of the park's tranquil forests, visitors may feel as if they have truly entered the world of Naruto. Visitors to the park can see a re-enactment of the Hokage Rock series, as well as life-size models of many characters. The park has a wide range of attractions for all ages, including a 3-story maze with quiz and goals to complete. On a stand using augmented reality (AR) technology, fans can take photos and videos that make them look like they're doing some of the brand ninja moves in the series. Admission to Nijigen no Mori costs 3,300 yen for adults, 1,800 yen for high school and high school students and 500 yen for children 5 and older. Children under the age of 4 can enter for free. Naruto was originally published in Weekly Shonen Jump, one of Japan's most popular manga magazines, by Shueisha Inc. between 1999 and 2014. He follows the adventures of Uzumaki Naruto, a stubborn ninja who lives with the spirit of the monstrous nine-tailed demonic Fox sealed in him. A successful TV anime adaptation was originally broadcast by TV Tokyo. (Original Japanese by Katsuyuki Ijichi, Osaka Cultural News Department) A lively outdoor adventure with Naruto, Shin-chan and Godzilla! Nijigen no Mori immerses you in the world of some of the most iconic manga that characterize Japanese pop culture. It also doubles as a fun and interactive adventure inside the Awajishima Prefectural Park on Awaji Island, just southwest of Osaka in Hyogo Prefecture. Photo: Nijigen no Mori The Naruto and Boruto: Naruto Next Generations attraction opened at the park in April 2019. The island of Awaji is in connected by bridge to Kobe, the city with Japan's most famous beef. Basically, it's a day trip to a less crowded, infused anime park where you can even camp all night. Nijigen no Mori literally translates as two-dimensional forest. The park is designed for visitors feel as if they were entering the fantasy world of their favorite characters. Some attractions are more family-oriented and child-oriented, but it's fun for all ages. Anime highlights from Nijigen no Mori Calling all Naruto fans, here's your chance to discover the world of popular anime Naruto and Boruto: Naruto Next Generations. The Naruto and Boruto attraction (Naruto and Boruto - Shinobi-Zato) offers life-size statues and models, and offers a number of activities for all visitors. Photo by: Nijigen no Mori Believe it! Lose yourself in a maze or train like your favorite ninjas. Beat the trials and challenges to collect all the missing seals (the same ones used for the sealing Jutsu), or perhaps just relax in one of the restaurants, including the iconic ramen shop favored by Naruto: Ramen Ichiraku (火影). But wait, there are others. In the summer of 2020, the park will open a new Godzilla attraction with a 120 meter long statue of everyone's favorite Japanese monster. Photo: PR Times Take a zip line through a giant head of Godzilla, which will open in Nijigen no Mori in the summer of 2020. Visitors will act as a scientist helping to tame the imposing beast at the National Institute of Awaji Island in Godzilla Catastrophe. after research on it went completely wrong. The attraction will take you on a pulsating zip line through Godzilla's mouth, firing missiles inside. It looks great, even if it doesn't really make sense. If you're familiar with the beloved manga character Shin-chan Pencil, you'll love walking through the forest and trying to spot characters peeking over the bushes in some of his most famous and outrageous poses at his own attraction, Shin-chan Adventure Park Pencil. In this area, also check out the two zip lines (130 meters and 210 meters long) that you can slide along and even participate in water pistol fights along the way. Then challenge yourself in the Bravo! Great adventure through the belligerent states! Area. It has a course of obstacles and ropes for families and children.
