Cut and paste sentences worksheets pdf

I can't get too much of a penguin! They are just too cute and so perfect for central activities in the winter! At this time of year in kindergarten, we work our writing skills. We want to have strong fine motor skills and with that be ready to go to first grade with proper letter formation and have working knowledge of the beginning of the sentence structure. This penguin sentence writing cut and paste activity gives children the opportunity to work on scissors cutting skills and writing sentences too! *Pair this with our Winter Writing Centre activities! Penguin Sentence Writing Cut & Paste Activity I recommend that this activity is suitable for kindergarten in the middle of the year or around the time you start to introduce a sentence structure to your students. We like to talk about how a sentence starts with a capital letter and ends with punctuation using these fun sentence sorting activities! This writing center can be ready with just a few supplies you already have at hand! Simply print and secure scissors, sticky wand, pencil and crayons for a simple writing center! How to use this print I like to use it in small groups or in the writing center. If you use in a small group, I would suggest using with a group of 4-6 children at once. After you model the correct sentence structure with your students, this makes it easier for them to choose words and puts them in the correct order. Since we know that the sentence begins with a capital letter, I can immediately select this and paste the first word in my sentence. The same applies to ending punctuation. Children can quickly see the final word in their sentence because it has an exclamation point with it. Then we'd take on the words we know. This is what we call our high-frequency words or spelling words for those who take spelling in kindergarten. Before you know it, we've built a sentence and we're reading it all ourselves! I like that children can immediately feel successful with this activity of writing sentences. RELATED RESOURCE: January sentence sorters Advantages of using sentence sorting activities Fine practice of motor skills with scissors for cutting, coloring and gluing. Children immediately feel successful with predictable text showing capital letter and punctuation. The structure of sentences correctly modelssan in a fun way! The practice of forming letters with 2 opportunities to correctly copy and write a sentence. Teachers can use it to assess student growth or to use it for areas of focus.
