The editors' recommendations so far have made the challenge clear: intervention, interruptave, self-focused marketing yet works in such a way that it once did, and its effectiveness will continue to be reduced only in social age. The question is that the legacy model will be changed. One word answer is: Stories. It understands. Search – or create – a narrative thread is always how we have been looking to order in the chaos of a life of the castes. And it explains how smart brands have done next in the chaos of modern marketing. Co. Make happy on vacation. We are sending 2013 by analyzing our most popular stories of the year. Enjoy. What is the matter for the material? There are human causes. Welcome stories where ads are resisted. They are acquisition and shopy, constantly changing based on those who touch and touch them. They make the fastest way for the heart and mind – how behind the brain science is to interact with human stories. There are business reasons too. Marketing of content increases the brand's needle, growing awareness, changing idea, driving to create desire and make purchases. And as stories spread, the audience did not budget. Stories work. Here's another good reason to believe in the power of stories: you have no four. Ignore or ignore communications to empowered users There are no and their lives do not include value. Are. As if by 30 second locations, or social cutting or feature length films, brands who want to invite in conversations will have to say something that is worth their audience time and attention. It's a truth brands like The Koka-Kola, THE BMW and RED BELL know the interview. After years of observation, brand stories create and decide, it is clear that there are some guidance principles behind the great brand story. Call them 10 content commands. 1. Find out why your cultural anthropology in the words of Simon Inks, the best brands don't focus on what they do or how they do it, but why they do. Find you and you've got your story. Beyond the category by focusing on your role in people's lives. Forced brand stories speak to values, what stands for your brand and why it exists. Customized content is 92% more effective than traditional TV ads in increased awareness and 168% more powerful in driving shopping preference. It's not (all) about some people just enjoy ingesting conversations with people talking about yourself. For the last 100 years yet, brands have intervened in customer conversations that they want to make points about their attributes and utilities. That approach does not work now. Content must be provided with entertainment, education or utility. Stop focusing on what you want to say and start listening to what your audience want to talk about. 3. Insight supphering your users as well as you know as well. Data based insights and intelligence are fuel for creativity, structures that ideas are not just cool but are linked to business challenges and are related to consumers. The beauty within The Intell ∓ Toshiba has been branded content ∓ entertainment grand in this year by a simple human insight and a brand-quadruped mining of truth: it's coming within that count. 4. Be fearless all the way (not careless) in your commitment to the story. While many content marketing is menable, it is often on an experience or addition at the end of the current marketing and media process, setting the stage for frustration. Stories should be at heart, not the tail of your marketing planning. Once the narrative is decided, it should be homely and amplified in all communication channels. Think of your media planning as a content sandiation plan. Stay social in CoreBrands and have to work as publishers. Lose the campaign mentality. Don't end up put a story in the market, it starts. Users want a role. They want to advocate for the brands and products they choose. Branded content can provide bilateral conversations and deep erasing relationships that can convert customers into entties, and mabushors. Make sure your content can be discovered, shared and sized. Acting on speed Social design by social design can move from the idea of how to create experiences that understands how a new creative mindset is needed and implemented faster than that. Stay close to the data and improve, improve, and rearrange your efforts along your way. If you're not sure what it means, google Oreo Daily Turn. It doesn't matter how good your content is if anyone sees it. Seems obvious, but when most brands are recognized they create content without a clear distribution strategy space. It's not just about what you say, but what you call it, where and when. Undersiard how you will use ownership, paid and channels to get your message. It's not about distribution of content versus. It's about getting the right. Go to The Ohtantaglyave stories you tell. The narrative of a brand as promoting its products should serve the same role. The Koka-Kola just does not talk about sharing happiness. It provides experiences that allow people to do so, such as two or separated into a welding machine that allows someone in India to buy a cook for someone in Pakistan. MasterCard's invaluable city promises its brand for life. Your brand has a personality and perspective that goes out of the bregyong about you, and your audience knows when you attack false notes. Be transparent and true to your story. Be an expert It speaks more than learning and utility than entertainment, but content is fertile ground for marketing. Your brand is mastered in a theme that can add value to people's lives. That's the idea that Roine and trust. The New Life L'Oreal Paris and self-confidence. Brands can be reliable information providers to audiences. That's okay to have an agenda: Do all the stories, from Bible writers to Steven Spielberg. To The Daft Pink To The Mesi. The audience is ok with it until the information is clear, and the content is relevant. 9. Your grip unfold ingume is presented to your brand and is not understood what kind of (single) control you are now in. Gone is the 100 page on The Day of Rolybok which will be a brand showard will not. Whether by creative partners or consumers, your brand image is influenced by far more sources than brand managers or creative agencies. Accept this fact to build credibility with the audience. Brands still need to look after their interests, but the fact is that a brand is put through more than one filter, including fans and critics. Jimmy Kommal's BMW/BMW tie, in which the brand bought all the adhesive time in one episode and has since been pleased to be the host of the show to take it back. 10. Expect results to forget the idea of non-working media dollars. Narrative marketing must be there. Define clear business objectives so they can come out. Content Do not invest It's cool or opportunity. Invest in content because you believe it can be a powerful and effective part of the marketing blend and helps achieve business goals. UM-owned research shows that customized content is 92% more effective than traditional TV ads in rising awareness and 168% is more powerful in driving shopping preference. Make sure the story's perspective is connected to strategic, disciplined, and real khypandia. KPIS.
