Warframe quest release order

See more Last updated: 2020/10/05 - Heart of Deimos: Hottfix 29.2.1 New content marked in red. This article lists all available quests for Warframe, with tips on how to unlock them and what you'll get from these quests. *The information in this article is based on the computer build for Warframe, and some quests may not be available on the console build.

General tips: When you unlock quests, you can start from the Codex > Quest tab and hit 'BEGIN' on the UI. When you search for yourself, it's best not to change the active find until it's finished. Most of the serping cannot be replayed when it is complete. There are few exceptions as shown below, but the reruns are just in the lore of purpose and completing the quest again won't give you a quest reward again. When you're done, you can get the Quest prize again from Cephalon Simaris in the standing relay. Most quests are unlocked through Junction completion. Vor's Prize First quest when starting Warframe as a new player. Completing the quest will unlock most segments of the ship player. If you skipped this search when the search system was introduced, it will be considered complete and will not affect the future search unlocked Saya's Vigil Search unlocked by completing the Vor's Prize, reaching Mastery Rank 1, completing the Bounty from Cetus, located in the Eidolon Plains, and then talking to Konzu about the Personal Service. You will then be instructed to talk to Sayo in Cetus (do not go to the plains of Eidolon), and when you do, you will get a Quest. If you skipped Vor's Prize back when quest was first introduced, it will look for Completed on the server page and will not affect your ability to unlock quest. This one's going to reward you with Gara Blueprint. Plans of gara parts are obtained from bounties on the Eidolon Plains. Quest can only be played in solo mode and cannot be played on koo-op. If you sell the Gara Warframe that you're making, you can get additional Gara Blueprints from Cephalon Simaris Offering in the relay for 100,000 Standings after completing your quest. If a player has bought Gara Warframe from the market with Platinum before completing the quest for the first time, they will receive veiled Riven Mod after completing the quest along with Gara Blueprint via in-game Inbox. Vox Solaris Quest automatically starts when the player visits Fortuna on Venus for the first time. To view and access Fortune, the player must have completed the Unda-node that preceded Fortuna. Completing the quest will reward the player with the K-Drive Launcher tool on the Quest completion screen, and will receive Garuda Blueprint separately from Eudico via Inbox mail after completing the quest. The K-Drive Launcher award is a gear element, not a Design. It does not have to be produced any element for the gear wheel after completion. It is also important to know that the K-Drive Launcher is a gear element for calling up K-Drive, and there is no actual K-Drive (you need to acquire/craft that outside quest). K-Drive Launcher is still a k-drive without its own K-Drive and will bring up a basic Bondi K-Drive that cannot be changed. The garud parts are not part of the quest prize, but they are also obtained by completing Bounty Missions on Fortuna/Orb Vallis. If you sell the Garuda Warframe you are manufactured, you can get additional Garuda Plans from Cephalon Simaris Offer in the relay for 100,000 Standings after completing the quest. Find some traders in Fortuna to complete. Deadlock Protocol To search you can access from your Codex if you are Mastery Rank 4 or higher, and you have done Vox Solaris searches that are previously. To complete the quest, the player will be rewarded with Xoris Glaive weapons, which will be collected and produced by the design/parts within quest. They will also be rewarded with a Protea and Granum Void Captura Scene after the first tour is complete. The Proteo component plans are not part of the Quest prize, but they are derived from Granum Void, a special location accessible only from Corpus Ship tiles. If the player first bought protea warframe on the market with Platinum before completing the quest, they will receive a Riven Mod shingles rifle after completing the quest via in-game Inbox. Quest Deadlock Protocol can be replayed once completed from Codexa, but completing the find again won't give you quest rewards again. If you have sold the Xoris you have acquired from quest, you can obtain an additional Xoris Blueprint from Cephalon Simaris Offering in the relay for 100,000 Standings, and Parts for 15,000 Standings each after completing the quest. If you sell the Protea Warframe that you're making, you can get additional Protea Blueprints from Cephalon Simaris Offers in the relay for 100,000 Standings after completing your quest. Heart of Deimos The quest can be accessed from your Codex so that the Martian crossing on Earth is complete, and have access to cambion Drift Open World node. This queskating can only be played in solo mode. Complete the player award with the plan Xaku and Deimos Necralisk Captura Scene after completing the search for the first time. Xaku's plans are extracted from Cambion Drift Bounty missions. If a player has bought Xaku Warframe from the market with Platinum before completing the quest for the first time, they will receive veiled Shotgun Riven Mod after completing the quest via in-game Inbox. If you sell the Xaku Warframe you have manufactured, you can get Xaku blueprints from Cephalon Simaris Offering at the Relay for 50,000 Standings after the quest. Howl of the Kubrow Quest is unlocked by completing the intersection from Venus to Mercury. This inqen will allow you to create your first kubrow! After the first mission you will gain access to the incubator segment. Then you will have to find kubrow egg by destroying kubrow dens found on earth's forest tiles. You can also buy it for Platinum. Once you have acquired an egg, you must also obtain a Power Core incubator. It can be obtained as the ultimate element through the market or in the form of a plan for crafts in your Foundry. You can also get an Incubator power core after the first completion of the Mars junction. They ask them to wait until Kubrow matures, incubating and hatching the egg. Kubrow can immediately mature in the Incubator Segment by clicking the button. Finally, you will receive a Nai-Zhen collar that will allow you to get your kubrow on a regular mission (once acquired, the collar is automatically attached to the kubrow in use). Advancement quest specifically requires Kubrows, and other Pets (Kavats, etc.) will not be considered for quest progression. When Awake Quest is unlocked by completing the intersection from Venus to Mercury. Completing the quest will be awarded to you with Molten Impact MOD (not Quest exclusive), plan heat sword plan but you can also buy from Nightwave Offers. Archwing Quest is unlocked by completing the intersection from Earth to Mars. To complete your daughters you will receive odonat archery weapons and 2 archery weapons (Imperator and Veritux). After completing your mission you will be able to use your archery in regular Archery missions, and underwater levels. The resources needed to make the parts of The Odonata are not obtained by advancing the quest, and must be obtained on their own. To complete this search, as many collaboration tasks, missions and events as possible are recommended to request access to the archive. If you sell the Odonata Archwing, Imperator and Veritux you made, Additional Blueprints for Tu's Equipment from Cephalon Simaris Offering at the Relay for the Relay for the Following Cost: Odonata Blueprint: 100,000 Standings Odonata Parts Blueprints: 50,000 100,000 Standing Veritux Blueprint: 100,000 Standings A Man of Few Words Unlocked by talking with Darvo in any of the Relays. Completing the quest will be awarded to you with the Exilus Adapter and 1 Clem Clone Blueprint. The Clem clone plan cannot be reused. To produce more Clem clones it is necessary to obtain additional plans. They can be obtained by completing missions to help Clem, which can be accessed by talking to Darv in Relay after sweating has been completed (only once every 7 days). Dreams Quest unlocks by completing the intersection from Mars to Phobos. To complete the trail you will receive Ethern Dagger Blueprint and Orokin Catalyst Blueprint. Additional plans Ethern Daggers can get from Cephalon Simaris Offering in the relay for 100,000 Fairs each after completing the find. Limbo Theorem Quest is unlocked by completing the intersection from Jupiter to Europe, which will then be quest unlocked and available in your code. You will also need Archwing to play some tasks for quest. From the 21 Updated Limbo Theorem Excavation Mission will now provide one of the plans at the end of 3 extractors as the end of the mission award. Completing the quest will be awarded to you with Limbo Component Plans (Limbo Neuroptic, Systems, and Chassis). Limbo can be manufactured after the end of the route by purchasing Limbo Blueprint from the market. If you sell the Limbo Warframe that you are making, you can get additional Limbo Parts Blueprints from Cephalon Simaris Offer in the relay for 50,000 Standing each after completing the quest. The new Strange Quest is unlocked by completing the mission of the Crossroads from Jupiter to Europe. When you're done, you'll get a Chrome plan. The plans of parts of Chrome are awarded as junction prizes and are not part of the prize for quest: Neurotics Blueprint: Uranus Junction on Saturn Chassis Blueprint: Neptune Junction on Uranus Systems Blueprint: Pluto Junction on Neptune If you sell Chroma Warframe, you've made, Additional Chroma Blueprints i Chroma Parts Blueprints from Cephalon Simaris Offering on relay for followers : Chroma Blueprint: 100,000 Standings Chroma Parts Blueprints : 50,000 Standings The New Strange quest can be repeated once in the Codex, but completing your quest again will no longer give you quest rewards. Natah Quest is unlocked so that mojestry Rank 3 and scanning Sentient Oculyst are found throughout the Solar System (reports indicate frequent Oculyst sightings in the laboratory, located underwater). Completing the quest will be awarded to you with an Exilus adapter, and allows the player to buy the Exilus Adapter design from Cephalon Simaris. The second dream quest is unlocked by completing the intersection from Uranus to Neptune and completing the Natah's wandering. Quest prizes include: Broken-War Focus System Unlocked Access to Orokin Moon Nodes Scar Sigil Broken War Prize is required for making a war weapon, which the plan is dumped from a special assassin boss enemy that appears after completing the quest. If you sell the broken war you have acquired, you can get additional plans from the special enemy Assassin Boss, which occurs after the quest is complete. The war inside unlocked by gaining access to Sedna via Junctions, and have the Second Dream Mission completed. The ultimate boss fight will have to fight Kuva Guardians only with your Melee, so it's advisable before you know to infiltrate you to equip your best Melee, and preferably your best Warframe. During the fight against Kuva Guardians, they are immune to warframe attacks, and warframe powers are eroded inside the chamber, along with the player unable to use his primary and secondary weapon, or any gear. To fight the Guardians, Tenno must use its operator's power vacuums to destroy them by using their warframe from their warframe using their portable capabilities. Any Guardian kuva can be killed through the following steps: The Guardian's Kuva should first be stunning with the Void Blast. When Kuva The Guardian kneels on the floor with an orange grill around it, Void Dash players must pass through the Guardian to make them take their bets. Finally, when the Guardian kuva starts using their Twin Rogga pistols, players can now deal with the damage to them using Void Beam or Warframe. If you go into battle with weaker equipment, the fight is balanced for dimension with each melee weapon. The key is to use your new powers to defeat the Guardians, and in another segment of the fight, you must evade and evade the perpetrator's attack and attack with your melee when you show the openings. To complete the trail, you will be rewarded with Broken Scepter, Orvius Blueprint, Riven Mod Rifle and Grineer Queens Glyph. When you're done, you can get Orvius's plan back from Cephalon Simaris in the relay as an offer to pay 100,000 Standing. Completing the quest will also reward the player with a personal quarter segment plan. If you select a alignment that you didn't want, warframe support can't change or edit the user's choices and alignment. If you sell the Orvius Orvius Weapon that you're making, you can get additional Orvius Plans from Cephalon Simaris Offers in the relay for 100,000 Standings after completing your quest. If you have sold a broken stomach that you have acquired, you can obtain additional Broken Scepter Blueprints from Cephalon Simaris Offering in the relay for 100,000 Standings after completing your quest. Mask of the revenant prerequisite: The Rank of the Observer or more with the Quills Syndicate. It is important to note that Ostron Syndicate is not the same as Quills Syndicate Visit Nakak in Cetus and select the option of the Maska dialogue. Buy a Lost Mask from Nakaka and equip it for the operator You can do it straight from Cetus by going to Equipment &t. Operator via the ESC menu while you are in operator mode! Go to the plains of Eidolon during the night with a mask fitted. There will be a marked area with the item you will find – listen to Nakakov's dialogue for clues! When you find the item, you must return to Cetus and the consul. With the bounty board select Bounty with a plan of revenant parts in your droptable. Complete the Bounty until you receive the plan. Build a plan and keep it from your casting. Repeat steps 2 – 4. NOTE: The revenant of the part you are building must be different from the part you completed in step 4 Return to the Eidolon plains with the lost mask and locate the item within the highlighted area. After that, another marker will appear in your minimap. Search the area, locate the item, and then follow Nakak's instructions. There are no Riven MOD awards associated with this mini-quest regardless of the previous Quest Warframe purchase. If you sell the Warframe Revenant, which you're making, you can get additional Revenant Blueprints from Cephalon Simaris Offering in Relay for 100,000 Standings after completing your quest.
