By clicking the ACCEPT button at the bottom of this page, you acknowledge that you understand and agree with this rule. Keep it plain and simple. What your register does and how long you keep it. What information do you ask of the person to give in order to use the portal and how long you keep it. Any third parties with access to this data? I'm a big fan of keeping these simple things :)It will be the web traffic that will be logged. The logs will report URL/IP address/FQDN being visited, number of connections, how much bandwidth to consume etc... In terms of how long the logs are kept, I believe the default is 30days but I should check For the reason of getting on our guest wireless, all we would ask for is their name. No email address, no phone number. No third party will have access to portal information or logs. Hello Cookie Master, You can probably use this as a reference and build one according to your ...
