Are chip and joanna getting divorced

For Chip and Joanna Gaines, age seems to be just a number. Not only did their loving jokes on Fixer Upper prove that they will forever be young at heart, but they became parents for the fifth time on June 24, 2018, to their son, Crew. Plus, they seem to be constantly on the go with their business endeavors. From continuing to build their Magnolia empire to Joanna's multiple books, they're definitely keeping themselves busy in their post-HGTV life. Considering Chip and Joanna aren't slowing down anytime soon, you might be surprised at how old they really are. Here are both Chip and Joanna's ages, as well as how old they were when they first met. Chip and Joanna Gaines | HGTV Joanna was born on April 19, 1978, making her 40 years old. In classic Gaines fashion, her birthday was celebrated with a big party at the Magnolia Table. And even though she gave birth at 40, she's not a new mom at all. She and Chip are also parents to Drake, 13, Ella, 11, Duke, 10, and Emmie, 8. You'd think fans of Fixer Upper would be happy for the new addition to her family, but her pregnancy announcement actually sparked some controversy. On top of social media users warn of the dangers of giving birth at an older age, others criticized that they were contributing to the overpopulation of the planet. One Facebook user wrote: I like them ok but enough with the kids already. And another person advised, I hope this will be your last and you will use wiser judgment. Fortunately, Gaineses seemed to have brushed off some negative comments. She has even admitted that they may still not be ready to have children. I'm joking with my friends that I'm going to be that 45-year-old who's pregnant, Joanna said in an interview with People. Chip is such a child at heart and we both love a big family. I'm open to anything. I'm just having fun with it. Chip and Joanna Gaines | HGTV Chip is 43 years old Joanna is only a few years younger than her husband, who was born on November 14, 1974. Chip's 44th birthday is coming up, and we're sure their friends and family are having a fun party planned. Like Joanna, chip is definitely defying all expectations of what your 40s are supposed to look like. For starters, he ran his first ever marathon in May 2018 – which is a huge achievement for anyone of all ages. He trained for the Silo District Marathon for months, at the beginning of which he could barely run two miles. He wrote in a blog post early this year, some of you might feel a little blindsided, because you (mistakenly) assumed that behind Chip Gaines you know, there's this super-fit guy who goes on long-distance runs in his spare time. But don't be fooled —I haven't 'gone on the run' since college. How old were Chip and Joanna when they met? Chip and Joanna met back in 2001 — when was only 23 and the chip was about 27. As Chip explained in an interview with Popsugar, he knew he wanted to marry Joanna before they actually met face to face. When he visited his father's Firestone Tire store in Waco, Texas, a photo of Joanna was enough to make him fall in love. Her father made the mistake of putting a picture of the family behind the counter in his store, Chip said. I knew I was going to marry her one day just at the picture on the wall. He kept trying to bump into Joanna in the store, until one day—he finally did. Even Joanna admitted, We met in the waiting room and knocked it off immediately. He was genuinely engaging and he had such a sincere smile. After dating for over a year, Chip and Joanna tied the knot on May 31, 2003. Within a month of marriage, they began to turn houses together—and the rest is history. Chip and Joana Gaines via Facebook If you were a faithful of HGTV's Fixer Upper, you might be wondering if you could ever have Chip and Joanna Gaines renovate your home. Can your home-renovation dream become a reality? You would have an interesting story to tell guests during parties about how the TV couple designed your home. Can you hire Chip and Joanna Gaines? Here's what we know. Their first fixer upper After Chip and Joanna got married, they were strapped for cash. Since money was a big issue, they didn't have the resources to buy a nice home. Their only option was to buy a home that needed a lot of work. Consequently, the couple bought their first fixer upper, an 800-square-foot home in Waco, Texas. They began building on the house after returning from their honeymoon.

Joanna said she cried when Chip told her they were moving there because it was dumpy and it smelled bad, she wrote in an Instagram post. But Joanna says it all came together and now it's one of their favorite fixer uppers: We fixed it up and fell in love with it. To this day, if you ask us what our favorite house we've ever lived in, we both go back to this little white 800 sqm home. We were broke and had to be creative with our resources and we were proud to punch about this place. Most of what I learned creatively stemmed from this little fixer upper. Small house or large, rich or poor, owns the space you live in and loves what you have. Joanna's design education Joanna attended Baylor University (her husband, Chip, also attended Baylor). While you may think she got a degree in connection with design, this is not the case. Joanna graduated in communication. Her original plan was to enter the field of communication. When Joanna was a college student, she had an internship in New York on the show 48 hours with Dan Rather, reports Baylor Magazine. Although Joanna was on her way to a career in communication, she decided to go in a different direction. She soon realized that had a passion for Joanna was inspired by some of the stores she visited during her time in New York. How much they charged on Fixer Upper Joanna Gaines via Facebook Those who appeared on HGTV's Fixer Upper had to shell out some serious money. Cast members had to spend at least $30,000 for renovations, in addition to the cost of buying their home, Romper reports. Can you hire Chip and Joanna Gaines? If you have an old home that needs to be renovated, you are unlucky. According to Magnolia's website, they're just doing new builds. The couple are no longer doing renovations or fixer uppers. Here's what it said on the website: If you live in Waco, or are moving to Waco, and are interested in one of our new builds, you can get in touch with our agents on MagnoliaRealty.com to find out more information. We would love to talk about what Magnolia Homes and Magnolia Realty can do to help you find your own Fixer Upper here in Waco! And if you live far from Waco, Texas, it's unlikely you can work directly with Chip and Joanna. The Magnolia website makes it clear the couple are engaged working near their home: If you don't live in Waco, and don't move to Waco, then unfortunately, no... We believe in the importance of home and family, and traveling for a remodeling project would put unnecessary strain on our families and children... Chip and Joanna have chosen to work only within a radius of 30 km from Waco. So, there you have it. If you want to work with the couple, you may have to make a big move. Chip and Joanna Gaines have been hunkering down with their family since the arrival of their fifth child, Crew, in June. Along with welcoming the latest addition to their Waco, Texas farmhouse, Fixer Upper stars are also revealing some of their favorite traditions they've shared with each of their children, which also include Drake, Ella, Duke and Emmie Kay. From one-of-a-kind gifts to weekly activities, here are 10 of the most heartwarming Gaines pastimes that will inspire you to start some sweet customs of your own.1. Crafting homemade gifts and cardbirthdays, holidays and other special occasions (like Chip's marathon training) requires one thing in Gaines household: handmade gifts. Kids always pour their little hearts into homemade gifts, Chip told CountryLiving.com. I really think I'm the happiest guy in the world to father these four [now five] beautiful kids. Another sweet paternal rule Chip follows is to wear their children's hospital bracelets long after they have returned home. Chip started a tradition with Drake where wore the hospital bracelet until it fell off, Joanna wrote on Instagram along with a picture of her husband showing off his paper play. Seems like the tradition lives on. This content is imported from Instagram. You may be able to find the same content in a different format, or you can find more information on their website. Last year, Joanna created the cutest memorabilia for her children: Memory boxes for each child stored in clear fabric boxes, filled with their baby items and a handwritten letter. I finally packed my favorite baby clothes and shoes for every child, she said. I wrote them a note for later in case they're sentimental like their mother. This content is imported from Instagram. Honoring the children of their companyIt they are still young, Chip and Joanna have already found ways to include their children in their home improvement empire. At its new Magnolia Table restaurant, visitors will find special menu items such as Ella's Dipping Donuts and Emmie's Grilled Cheese. The same goes for Joanna's color line with Kilz. The collection includes four shades named Ella Rose, Emmie's Room, Duke Gray and Sir Drake. We're sure it won't be long before Crew is included!5. Baking biscuits on weekendsSnad than heading out for breakfast, gaineses tend to stay in and enjoy a large batch of homemade biscuits on Saturdays and Sundays. In fact, the tradition came about as Joanna tried to perfect her recipe for her Magnolia Table cookbook and needed a group of regular taste testers to try the latest batch. It became a family project, and then become a regular weekend activity. This content is imported from Instagram. Like so many other families, gaineses take time each holiday season to whip up special treats for their loved ones. In this photo, her impressive Christmas tree is upstaged only by the counter full of homemade sweets that she made with the help of her daughter. This content is imported from Instagram. You can be to find the same content in a different format, or you may be able to find more information on their website. While the girls prefer to spend their seasonal parties whipping up sweet treats, the boys are all about that Black Friday shopping. Chip said he and his sons have made a tradition of scouring the stores for deals during the post-Thanksgiving event. Maybe this year they'll bring Crew! This content is imported from Twitter. You may be able to find the same content in a different format, or you can find more information on their website. The husband and wife team has made it a habit to show off their personal ventures to kiddos first. Fans got to see this twice during Fixer Upper, first with reveal silos Baking Co., and again when they opened the doors of the Magnolia Table. This content is imported from Instagram. You may be able to find the same content in a different format, or you can find more information on their website. Several times a year—including Mother's Day-Chip and the kids whip up a great breakfast for Joanna to enjoy in bed. Kids love to help, and there's really nothing better than my four kids bringing in a plate of dad's breakfast before I've even set foot out of bed, Joanna wrote on the Magnolia Market blog. It's nice to be spoiled from time to time, and this is one of my very favorite ways Chip serves me and kiddos. This content is imported from Instagram.
