The California School Directory and related public school and school district data files (collectively known as directories) contain information about California schools, school districts, and district administrators, and provide public convenience information that the California Education Organization (LEA) voluntarily self-reports to the California Department of Education (CDE). Because the information is voluntarily self-reported, the directory does not contain information about all LEA's, and the information in the directory may be outdated or there may be errors, omissions, typos, and other inaccuracies. Therefore, if there is no information or information in the directory, it should not be relied upon for any purpose and should only be used to contact the LEA. CDE does not make explicit or implied representations regarding directory information. For information on LEA certification, visit the U.S. Department of Education's Certification and Quality Assurance web page. For more information on how to participate in housing for rent and sale near this school, this school is rated against the average of school quality compared to other schools in California. Here, students are making about improving their academics on average year-over-year. The school has below-average results on how well it serves disadvantaged students, and students perform an average or so on state tests. Students at these schools are performing on average from one grade to the next compared to students at other schools in the state. The school's parent tip test scores are about the same as the state average, but still lower than the state's best-performing schools. Because test scores are so low in some states, many students at this school may not perform at the grade level. Parents notice something missing or confusing tips? Equity in these schools Disadvantaged students may be left behind other students in the state, and these schools may have significant achievement gaps. Parent tips by low-income and under-rated students result in other students submitting ratings for school environment audits! Check your email inbox for instructions on approving reviews. Welcome to Character Builder, the Palomar Family YMCA's postwar program, which serves students from kindergarten to fifth grade at Lady Creek Elementary School in Escondedo, is an affordable way to ensure your child is in a safe, fun and caring environment before.
