But there is a huge difference between the girl avatars and the boy avatars. I tried to overlook it, but it's ruining my fun. Honestly, it hurts my heart. A lot of games make hairstyles and clothes different depending on gender. Long story short, you need to do it so that the clothes are the same whether you are a boy or a girl. And maybe you could make the hairstyle and body less gendered like you did in Pokémon Magikarp Jump and get rid of choosing gender at all. Or just do outfits the same for everyone. Like, maybe everyone could have of the male or female clothing without having to change their characters sex. Also, I've noticed that you can only change your name a certain amount of times. This is disappointing because maybe someone changed their in-game name a bunch because they couldn't decide what sounded better. But then they changed their name in real life because their gender changed or something like that. Then they wouldn't be able to change their name again. I think you should do it so you can change your name as many times as you want, but you have to wait 30 days between name changes so people don't just change their name willy nilly. Well, thanks for reading my review. I really hope you'll consider my proposal. -Pokémon Trainer Alex These reviews and reviews come from Aptoide app users.
