U.S. Sergeant Major in ArmyIncumbentMichael A. Grinston since 9. 54 years ago (1966-07-11)First holder William O. WooldridgeSalary $8,844.30 per month, regardless of the incumbent service life [1] WebsiteOfficial website Sergeant Major of the Army (SMA) is a unique non-commissioned rank and position of the office of the United States Army. The holder of this rank and position is the most senior enlisted member of the army, unless an army enlisted man serves as Senior Enlisted Advisor to the Chairman. The SMA has been appointed to serve as an advocate for resolving the problems of enlisted soldiers to all officers, from warrant officers and lieutenants to the army's highest positions. As such, they are senior adviser to the chief of staff of the U.S. Army. The exact duties depending on the chief of staff, although much of SMA time is spent traveling throughout the army, observing training and talking to soldiers and their families. Kenneth O. Preston held the rank from January 15, 2004 to February 28, 2011, the only incumbent to serve longer than five years. [2] SMA Michael A. Grinston has held office since 9th[3] [4] While SMA is a non-mission officer, the protocol places SMA higher than all lieutenant generals[5] (with the exception of the Director of Army Staff) and corresponds to a general for formal courtships in addition to seating, ticketing, transportation and parking. History Rank and position was based on those of sergeant Major of the Marine Corps (established in its current incarnation on May 23, 1957). [6] The Chief of Staff of the Army created the position in 1966 after asking the leaders of the major commands for a personal recommendation. He asked that it not be considered a mission of the type close to retirement. He listed seven duties and functions he expected the sergeant major to perform, including serving as a personal adviser and assistant in matters related to enlisted soldiers. From 4,700 proposed candidates, 21 nominees were selected. Eventually elected the sole serving in Vietnam, Sergeant William O. Wooldridge from 1st[7] The other services followed later, and created the positions of master chief petty officer in the Navy and Chief Master Sergeant in the Air Force in 1967, Master Petty Chief Officer of the Coast Guard in 1969, Senior Enlisted Advisor to the Chairman in 2005, and Senior Enlisted Advisor of the Space Force in 2020. These seven positions are collectively referred to as senior enlisted advisers (SEAs). Insignia SMA insignia timeline 1966–1968, The only authorized insignia for all sergeants major[8] 1968-1979, command sergeant major 1979-1994 1994-2015[9] 2010-present, green background was replaced with dark blue 2019-now, tan on olives for use on green service replaced the dark blue as primary uniform. The army sergeant major, like colleagues in the other branches, wears a unique rank of insignia, including a unique collar insignia (brass). The collar insignia of the SMA is the shield part of the collar insignia of an aide-de-camp to the Army chief of staff (unless the overmounting eagle), placed on an enlisted collar disk of gold color, an inch in diameter. The insignia used by SMA Wooldridge was hand-fed by Colonel Jasper J. Wilson of cannibalized insignia and enlisted collar brass by an assistant. Insignia was approved 4. [10] Originally, the SMA would have the device on each collar, but he now wears the standard United States disk on his right collar which makes all enlisted soldiers. [11] This insignia is also used instead of a unit signa on SMA's beret, garrison and pull-over sweater. [12] The collar insignia of senior enlisted adviser to the Chairman (SEAC) of JCS, approved 2 February 2006, is based directly on that of the SMA, and has the shield of an aide de camp to the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff (without the overall eagle), on a gold-colored disk. Sergeant Major of the Army cap unit SMA cap unit, worn on the front of the blue service cap (and, earlier, the white service cap; and, until 2011 the green service cap) is a gold-colored rendering of the United States coat of arms, surrounded by a wreath. [13] The cap unit for all other American soldiers is a gold-colored rendition of the United States coat of arms on a gold-colored disk (men) or surrounded by a gold-colored ring (women). [14] The Air Force's chief sergeant has the same cap unit as the SMA, but in silver metal. Position color Sergeant Major of the Army, Chief Master Sergeant of the Air Force and Senior Enlisted Advisor to the Chairman are the only members of the United States armed forces under the rank of Brigadier General/Rear Admiral, lower half to be authorized a position color (flag). SMA's color was first assessed in 1992,[15] and has been approved since 22. [16] It is based on the design of the collar insignia and the position flag of the chief of staff, the Army. Like SEAC's collar brass, SEAC's position color was patterned according to the SMA color. List of Sergeant Major in Army No. WilliamWilliam O.
