What is a written statement of action

A joint SEND (Special Educational Needs and Disability) inspection was carried out in Shropshire by the Care Quality Commission (CQC) and Ofsted in the field of health, Between 27 and 31 January 2020. The inspection was carried out by Shropshire Council, the Shropshire Clinical Commissioning Group (CCG) and its outside healthcare providers, as well as schools, colleges and other educational establishments, care providers and other key stakeholders – also known as the local area in Shropshire. The final letter was published on 6 March 2020. The inspection identified a number of concerns and, as a result of these findings and in line with the 2004 Children's Regulations (Joint Area Review) 2015, the Chief Inspector determined that the local area in Shropshire was required to submit a written activity statement (WSOA). Shropshire Council, Shropshire CCG and The Maternity and Care Board (PACC) have worked together to develop this co-produced WSOA, which identifies measures that will be taken by all partners to ensure timely improvement, as well as providing an indication of what difference we expect these measures to make to our children and young people with SEND and their families. This will ensure that SEND is a priority for everyone and that all partners recognise the importance of send. Follow the link to see and read Shropshire Written Statement Action. Ed Potter, Shropshire council member for children's services, said: Since the inspection in January the partners have worked together to negotiate the WSOA, which has been co-produced with parents and carers. This takes into account all six priority areas identified in the inspection report as well as the ambitions of the SEND community identified under the SEND strategy. We have received feedback from Ofsted/CQC that the action plan presented has been adopted as fit for purpose and that it meets the requirements of inspectors. Shropshire Council and Shropshire CCG are committed to working together and any future developments will be supported by the principles of cooperation. Dr Julian Povey, joint chairman of Shropshire and Telford and Wrekin CCGs, said: We are committed to achieving the objectives set out in the WSOA to address the shortcomings highlighted in the inspection. We are aware of areas of concern and that through joint work and co-production with our partners, we need to make the necessary improvements to ensure a future in which children and young people can expect and have the same opportunities in life as others. The Shropshire Board of Caregivers (PACC) welcomed the partnership approach to WSOA. A PACC spokesman said: "We look forward to continuing to work this way with Shropshire Council and the CCG to ensure that the parent carer's voice remains central to all activities and decision making during the implementation phase of the statement." Following the Ofsted and Quality of Care Commission (CQC) Joint Local Area Special Needs and Disability (SEND) inspection, Birmingham City Council and NHS Birmingham and Solihull clinical commissioning groups are pleased to publish a written statement of action (WSOA) for the city, on behalf of all partners. Wsoa focuses on a number of priorities that will lead to rapid improvements and long term sustainable changes in send services for our children and young people and their parents and carers. WSOA has been approved by Ofsted and the CQC, and ongoing collaboration in all partner organisations will continue. The Council and the CCG would like to thank all those who have so far been involved in the development of the written activity statement. We remain focused on improving standards and addressing identified concerns that Birmingham children and young people receive good services that respond to their needs and are able to fulfil their potential. Following the Ofsted and Quality of Care Commission (CQC) Joint Local Area Special Needs and Disability (SEND) inspection, Birmingham City Council and NHS Birmingham and Solihull clinical commissioning groups are pleased to publish a written statement of action (WSOA) for the city, on behalf of all partners. Wsoa focuses on a number of priorities that will lead to rapid improvements and long-term sustainable changes in send services for our children and young people and their parents and carers. WSOA has been approved by Ofsted and the CQC, and ongoing collaboration in all partner organisations will continue. The Council and the CCG would like to thank all those who have so far been involved in the development of the written activity statement. We remain focused on improving standards and addressing identified concerns that Birmingham children and young people receive good services that respond to their needs and are able to fulfil their potential. Our Written Activity Statement (WSOA) sets out our plan to address the significant areas of scarcity identified during the joint SEND inspection, which November - 22 November 2019. We recognise that local children, young people and their families deserve much better service in response to their needs and we intend to do so. We are committed to improving our local offerings across education, care and health services. We will build on things that we know are already serving children and families well, and we will strengthen the partnership in partnership with parents, carers, children and young people to identify and implement the desired improvements. Ofsted and the Care Quality Commission (CQC) have checked the services provided by practitioners and professionals supporting children and young people (0-25 years) with SEND, and although strengths have been identified, they have also identified six areas of weakness: existing education, health and care plans (EHC plans) are not of sufficient quality to ensure that the needs of children and young people are identified and met Leaders do not have sufficient supervision of the quality of the new EHC plans Leaders in the fields of education, health and care do not have a common understanding of the results they want for children and young people with SEND The SEND strategy in this area is not clear Co-production is not well informed by the views of children, young people and their families Local offer is not Effective Council and Clinical Commissioning Group (CCG) work with SNAP Parent and Carer Forum (SNAP) and other parents and experts to present a plan to address these areas of interest. This plan is called the Written Declaration of Action (WSOA). The WSOA focuses on four areas with a thesis, as some areas of Ofsted's weakness sit together. Topic 1: Quality and supervision of EHC plans (combination of weakness area 1 and 2) Results we strive for: EHC plans are high quality EHC quality plans are presented to the SEND Partnership Council, so leaders have oversight The annual review process for children is timely, meets needs and is completed within the legal schedule and is reported to the SEND Partnership Training Board for professionals and parents/carers; to ensure a unified understanding of send support, EHC Needs Assessment and annual review of the processes and roles and responsibilities of participating professionals Theme 2: SEND results and strategies (combining areas of weakness 3 and 4) The results we focus on: Leaders have a greater understanding of the needs of children and young people with SEND in Central Bedfordshire through data and engagement There is an agreed set of outcomes for children and young people with SEND in central Bedfordshire, which informs about the development of the SEND strategy. These are embedded in the Partnership Data Panel so that progress towards results can be used to inform future developments The area has a clear SEND strategy, including priorities objectives and identified improvements to services to better meet the needs of children and young people in Theme 3: Results of co-production we strive for: Send health, education and social care professionals a clear understanding of co-production, informed by the views of children, young people and their families Service leaders successfully engage in representative numbers and groups of children; young people, parents and carers, including people from ethnic minorities Co-production is understood and consistently used in social care, health and education services Theme 4: Results of the local offer we seek: Local supply is co-production as a partnership between local authorities, health, private and voluntary organisations, parents/carers and children and young people The local offer is fit for purpose in accordance with the Code of Practice and Local Needs Children, young people and families say they have access to the right information at the right time and are able to make informed decisions about the services and support that Our WSOA receives, after working with parents, has now been approved by Ofsted and is published below. See our written statement of action. See Ofsted's response letter. We will work hard to reach our WSOA over the next 18 months and we will provide an update on the progress that will be posted on the local offer website. Work has already begun on progress in four areas of focus (called work flows) for improvement. We will update the website and update interested parties and parents signed up to receive our email updates for each period. We will update on what we have done and what we are doing next. Sign up for our email updates We are aware that when we spoke to parents and caregivers to understand their experiences and how the send system needs to improve, some issues were not included in Ofsted areas of weakness and are therefore not included in THE WSOA. That doesn't mean we haven't heard this feedback and want to address it. However, the WSOA is only obliged to address the concerns raised by Ofsted and the Care Quality Commission (CQC). More details about these improvements will be added to the website as they evolve. We will also keep stakeholders and parents up to date through our SEND email newsletters.
