Notice of parcel on hold usps

SACRAMENTO (CBS13) – With gift delivery and online shopping on the rise, a mail scam seems to be doing the rounds again. The scam involves false warnings of waiting packages. Notices often of official postcard size say the sender was unable to deliver a package to his home. They are official looking and similar in appearance to the notices you might find from a legitimate shipping company. When you call the card number, if you don't remember ordering anything, the caller can try to convince you that the package is a gift from a friend or family member, says the BBB. However, things get weird quickly. The caller may attempt to ask you to verify the personal information or provide the credit card information to reschedule the delivery. A Reddit user in the Sacramento area shared a photo of one of these fake notices. If you receive one of these, it is a Sacramento scam there is also a digital version of the scam. Emails that appear to be from the U.S. Postal Service say you missed a delivery, and ask you to print an attached form and take it to your local post office so you can pick up your package, the FTC says. The message may also include offering additional emails, but when you download the attachment or click on a link, you are likely to end up with a virus or malware on your device. No matter the contact method, the package does not exist. Sharing your personal information puts you at risk of identity theft. If you receive an email that appears to be from the Postal Service and looks suspicious, you can report it to the USPS Inspector General hotline. The USPS Hold Mail® service can securely hold your mail at your local post office™ until you return, for up to 30 days. To retain your mail for longer or to redirect your mail, sign up for a forwarding service. You can apply up to 30 days in advance or as soon as the next scheduled delivery day. Request the Hold Mail service start date before 3 AM ET (2 AM CT or 12 AM PT) on the requested day, Monday through Saturday. Request retention mail To provide you with greater security, we are making several changes to the USPS online retention mail process. These enhancements will require you to create or log in to your USPS.com account and verify your identity before submitting an online request to retain your mail. Here's how to submit your next USPS retention email request: Create or sign in to your USPS.com. Go to USPS Hold Mail and follow the steps to verify your identity. Once your identity has been verified correctly, you won't have to this step again for your current address. If your identity cannot be verified at this time, you can still put your mail on hold for now. For more information, visit the USPS Hold Mail FAQ. If you are eligible, you will have the opportunity to create or log in to your USPS.com account and sign up for free USPS informed delivery® account. During enrollment, you can verify your identity online in a seamless process. If you have already registered with Informed Delivery and have completed the identity verification process, you will not be prompted to complete this step again. Once enrolled in Informed Delivery, you'll be able to save your email in addition to viewing mail previews the size of an incoming letter, checking package delivery status, and more. Sign up for frequently asked questions about informed delivery If you have other questions regarding this change, please visit our Hold Mail FAQ or feel free to contact us.
