PersonalityNot much is known about the personality of White • Star in detail. As a member of the Star Clan, he was known as a cruel and sinister individual who had a reputation for doing anything for money. He had a suret of power, even taking the Demon's Way to achieve that power. Some of the various negative traits seen inside the killer were passed on to his son Black • Star, who unknowingly followed in his footsteps for a while until he embraced the Warrior's Path as a result of those around him. Overall, White • Star was a dark and evil individual who was killed as a result of his crimes. AppearanceWhite • Star has white hair in the same way spiked as Black • Star. However, he is not very star-shaped and does not seem to have a recurring pattern in his style. White • Star also has green eyes, which contain the star clan's main pupils. In addition to how these stars sometimes grow in size, White • Star's eyes also sometimes glow a bright red, causing the pupils to disappear as a whole. The teeth of the white star are sharp and have a slightly more muscular build than Black • Star. White • Star's right arm shows the star clan tattoo of a star on his shoulder. White • Star's outfit is also almost exactly the same as his son's, except that his sleeveless ninja shirt and shoes are white instead of black, and he wears a long white scarf that covers his entire face to his eyes. Finally, White • Star wears a bandana equipped with a metal forehead protector that contains a trident mark on each side of the plate. Magic and Ability'sMartial Way Expertise: He is presumably skilled in various martial arts, with the Star Clan originating from the Hoshi Family. How skilled he is is unknown. All that was known is that he was still defeated by unknown Forces of the DWMA. In the anime, he combines his own martial arts with the use of his weapons of choice, a Ninjato and even rivaled a powerful swordsman like Mifune, who claimed that he was the first opponent he really feared. Exceptional athleticism: He was also seen to fast and agile as well as strong, possessing enough strength to kick Mifune away. Mifune held White • Star in high regard, considering him as the most fearsome opponent he encountered and was seen even tired of fighting him. Despite his apparent ability, however, he was defeated by the samurai after a long battle. Murder Skills: White • Star was known to be a renowned assassin in the Star Clan, his fame along with the clan rose to a level of consideration to the point where the DWMA was forced to exterminate the clan. HistoryWhite • Star was a member of the notorious Star Clan, a clan of infamous assassins in account that they would do anything for money. During their reign of terror alongside their clan mates, they would terrorize several villages, including Shin Village. At some point in his life, he had a son whose name was Black • Star with an unnamed woman. A year after his birth, having broken the rules established by the DWMA, he along with his clan members was killed by his forces as a result. PhysicallyHe is incredibly fit, his physical abilities rivaling those of the black star. MagicNone still-- Background, history &amp; and AUs/Headcanons ---Nationality: JapaneseBirthplace: KyotoResidence: Hisashi residenceSalmente he works at the gym as a star meister, a strong one though, he is skilled with most weapons and no matter who he is paired with, he can almost immediately catch them. Although he wasn't always so strong, he wasn't even interested in becoming a meister. Her mother was accused of using healing magic, being from a much more technologically advanced area, she knew ways to treat people and herself that no other did, and, she used it on an infected wound that Chikara had, the villagers assuming it was fatal, he nevertheless surviving. This made them decide to do a witch hunt, forcing them to flee, imagining that the dwma could feel her soul and tell them that she is not a witch, although people say she is only using the protection of the soul. He is treated like a black star in the sense that people know about it, but no one talks about it, out of respect more than fear of angering him (as a black star) so although he is a bit more of a outcast, he still does due and moves on a day-to-day life. He's mostly passive, but if someone repeatedly brings up the incident in a negative light, he'll challenge them to a fight, and generally win, most of the people who would do this aren't strong enough to deal with it.--Trivia &amp; ExtraOriginally--- I intended it to be a weapon, but both for lack of creativity and not to be so generic I changed. Chikara translates into strength, I chose it because it represents my confidence. Although convenient, I didn't make him a flexible soul for that reason. Reason.
