Four year anniversary gifts for her

Our editors independently research, test, and recommend the best products; you can learn more about our review process here. We can get commission on purchases made from our selected links. If you are approaching your 20th anniversary then congratulations-you've done it! 20 years is a lot to celebrate. You two have gone through two decades of ups and downs as a married couple since and now you get to celebrate that special day with one (or more) well-deserved gifts. Traditionally, China is the symbolic 20th year gift and it is meant to symbolize the beautiful life you have built together. The modern take on gifting for this milestone is platinum-strong, like your compound. There are lots of amazing china and platinum gifts here, but feel free to avoid tradition and gift something super personal or to represent your hobbies and history together—we've found them too. Here, the best 20th anniversary gifts. Courtesy of unusual goods This first dance press is a great way to remember that time-stopping moment on your wedding day. Each print can be customized with names, dates and places - except for hair and skin color - so it suits you two like a well-tailored tuxedo. A 20th anniversary is definitely an opportunity to gift something she really treasure-a pair of diamond earrings. These studs are a modern update on a traditional style and will soon become her go-to couple for both day and night. China is a traditional gift for this anniversary, but give it an unexpected twist with this custom plate. Choose a favorite photo from your wedding day and get it printed on porcelain—they will be blown away. With the permission of unusual goods this is a creative way to remember the current events of the two decades you two have lived together. This book can be customized to feature every New York Times front page from the day of your wedding day until the day of your 20th anniversary. Courtesy of unusual goods These delicate illustrations celebrate the pride of the state with beautiful depictions of your state's bird and flower. We love the idea of pairing your homeland with theirs and then adding a third depicts where you have made your home together. Customize your walls with custom wooden maps of significant locations in your history—from where you first met to your wedding venue or favorite destination. Emerald is considered the 20th anniversary gemstone-pair it with the traditional gift of china in the form of this chic dinnerware set. Chances are if you and your spouse registered for dishes 20 years ago, your collection can probably use an update. Celebrate both your love of wine and each other with these hand-cut crystal glasses. A platinum band around the edge marks this great anniversary. If your partner already loves a cozy night in with you, take it to the next level with a roaring fire and this insanely lambswool cashmere blanket. Courtesy of Etsy Pull your wedding invitation out of the closet and turn it into something they can watch every day. The colors of this custom plate can be matched exactly to those in your invite. For the fashionable fellow, it's time to surprise him with a gift he will use every day. This trendy style is made of stainless steel and leather and has two mini steering plates measuring 60 seconds and 30 minutes. If your partner appreciates both great design and home fragrances, they will love this modern take on the traditional incense burner. The incense sits inside a piece of sculpted aventurin, a stone that represents happiness and opportunity. Courtesy of Laura Mercier Perfume may be personalized, but your partner will be sure to love the soft vanilla sandalwood and amber scents in this bottle. It also has notes of daylily, the 20th anniversary flower, so it's the perfect gift for this occasion. If your partner never misses a playoff game, they'll love this gift card — it gives them the option to choose their own seats on what sporting events are on their must-see list. You can't go wrong with this chic, crocodile-embossed bag. She will love the adjustable strap and go-with-all shape and size. If your partner loves the look of fresh flowers in the house, they will faint over this beautiful vase and bonus point to hit the platinum anniversary note. Fill it with the same flowers that they used in their wedding bouquet or just a few stems of their current favorites. If you and your partner consider you outdoors or want to experiment with water sports, then this inflatable kayak is a must. It's inflatable, which means you can store it pretty much anywhere (hey apartment residents) and yet it will still suit you two with ease. I think you two have been through more than a few bottles of wine over the years. Now you can store your favorites in a perfectly cooled refrigerator to keep them ready to break open with a moment's notice. Courtesy of unusual goods The cocktail-loving couple will get a kick out of this miniature engraved oak barrel. Due to its small sadding, it ages spirits at an accelerated rate so that they reach peak drinking status faster. If they love tailgating or camping, there is no better companion (other than you, of course) than this virtually indestructible cooler. It keeps drinks and snacks cold for hours. Courtesy of Anthropologie Create a dreamy spa-at-home experience for your S.O. with this amazing bone-inlay caddy. Fill it with their favorite bath salts, bombs and oils so they can really relax. Courtesy of Mark & Graham This cute pillow is as comfortable as the home you've made together. Each one is handmade to order from New Zealand wool and contains two names in a sweet heart Courtesy of Jonathan Adler Game night, but do it fashion. Fashion. of the 1960s Italian style, this set is about to make game night together much more colorful and chic. Courtesy of Artifact Uprising your partner will love this ingenious display box that stores up to 50 prints, allowing the front image to be changed out whenever they feel like it. To make the gift more meaningful, fill the box with favorite pictures of you two over the years. Even if you and your important others have been at each other's side for 20 years, there will be times when you are apart. This latest and greatest iteration of Echo Show lets you video call them, then binge your favorite shows and movies until they return. If you and your significant other love wine but want to learn a little more about what it is that you love, this monthly membership will kickstart your ascent to oenophiles. Every time you get a box and rate the bottles, Winc will teach you more about your love and send you more of your favorite vino. Courtesy of Briggs and Riley Get your partner ready for an upcoming romantic getaway with fancy new luggage. This state-of-the-art case allows you to compress lots of things inside and have a lifetime warranty so it should be around for all your future travels. Fill this beautiful vase with a bunch of her favorite blooms for a 2-in-one gift. The delicate glass is hand blown and painted by craftsmen in Morocco. If it's been a while since you've bought new bedding and you're looking to splurge on a luxe upgrade, these linen sheets are for you. Woven of the highest quality, environmentally friendly fibers, this bedding will be in a range of colors and will last a lifetime. Courtesy of Stuyvesant champagne Nothing says party like champagne and this duo will definitely set the stage for this milestone anniversary. Based in Bedford-Stuyvesant, Brooklyn, this female-owned brand combines 3 Champagne varieties for each blend, creating an effortlessly crisp and refreshing flavor. Celebrate your partner and renew your engagement year after year with a gift that nods to the traditional milestone markers, from paper (year one) to tip (year 12). 1 of 12 First Anniversary: Paper immortalize the paper anniversary—and score a conversation-start wall hanging—with a custom silhouette by having a photo transformed into a paper cutout in black acid-free archival paper. ($40, silhouettechicks.etsy.com) 2 of 12 Second Anniversary: Cotton Celebrate the Cotton Anniversary with a gift that's as functional as it is beautiful: A large woven hammock lights up the porch or courtyard, and is big enough for two adults and an even little one to cuddle comfortably. ($180, veronicacolindres.etsy.com) 3 of 12 Third Anniversary: Leather Of the Third Year, you may have collected an impressive collection of passport stamps—or logged a ton of road miles—like a family. Honor your adventures along with personalized leather luggage tags. ($40 for a of two, leathermadenice.etsy.com) 4 of 12 Fourth Anniversary: Fruit or Flowers Way more long-lasting, budget friendly, environmentally conscious, and personal than cut flowers, a homemade juicy garden is the perfect way to celebrate a fourth anniversary. Make your own flowering version easy and cost effective with this guide from Bright Bold & Beautiful » 5 of 12 Five Year Anniversary: Wood Tell the story of five years of marriage with a cunning photo display including photos and memories of your trip as a couple, complemented by wonderful natural driftwood. (Great bonus if you have collected the wood during a beach trip together!) Get tutorials on Morning Creativity » 6 of 12 Sixth Anniversary: Candy or Iron Candy may be easier by the symbolic anniversary gifts of the sixth year, but iron can be just as sweet. For a longer life and healthier option, give your sugar an iron gift in the form of monogram hooks customized for your last name. ($18, anthropologie.com) 7 of 12 seventh anniversary: Wool or cups envelop your loved one in a wool gift that's like a big hug from you even when you're not around. This super fine merino throw is as eye-catching as it is warm—and worth the splurge. ($149, pendleton-usa.com) 8 of 12 eighth anniversary: Bronze or ceramics Give a gift of bronze rendered absolutely cozy for your common home, like a new mailbox to pep up your porch. Consider presenting it with a love letter already inside for one can't miss the romantic anniversary present. ($49, potterybarn.com) 9 of 12 Ninth anniversary: Ceramics or Willow Fete on the ninth anniversary with a gift of rustic pottery. Present it with a beautiful plant already inside for a gift that grows along with your relationship. (From $14, anthropologie.com) 10 of 12 10th anniversary: Tin or Aluminum Celebrate lasting spice in your relationship with the gift of a custom spice kit, each variety is presented neatly in its own individual tin. Pick your own herbs and spices to customize the package. It works especially well for the partner who loves to cook – or eat! ($48.95, craigslist.etsy.com) 11 th of 12 11th Anniversary: Steel How do you make the traditional gift of steel feel warm and comfortable? Give it in the form of a stainless French press, so your partner knows your love—as well as a strong jolt of caffeine—every morning to start the day off right. ($70, anthropologie.com) 12 of 12 12th anniversary: Lace Transform as the craft staple, the humble and hard-working Mason jar, for a sweet gift befitting the lace anniversary. Michaela Noelle Designs has DIY to create a lace effect on a jar for use as a vase or candlestick. We think the effect would be just as lovely when replicated on bowls, planters—or just about anything else you can imagine. Get tutorials on Michaela Noelle Designs » »
