Let's learn more about this game through the game. Create Your Own Life Join The Sims FreePlay community You will become a resident in a beautiful city. Here you will live as a normal person, go to school, work, communicate with friends, relationships,... When you start the game, the system will produce a video review to introduce you to the landscape here, how to play and what you need to do in the near future. To start the experience, the first thing you need to do is create your character. Setting up the character as you like the character creation interface will appear on the screen where you can choose gender, skin color, outfit, and give yourself a name. If you have character, the system will start giving you tasks to accomplish. The initial tasks are fairly simple and have detailed instructions. For example, feed the dog, buy goods in the house, cut a new floor,... You may wonder if our character never went to work where I would get the money to buy the things I just mentioned above, right? Every time you complete the task, you will get a bonus and you will use it to buy something. In the beginning, your character will need a whole host of other tasks before a career or other relationship. And every time you perform certain tasks, you will align and discover new characters, new stories. Each character has their own responsibilities, They will do different tasks in the city, and build different designs. The game offers up to 54 levels and 34 different styles. That is, you will control many characters at the same time. And then I'll show you some quick ways to make money in The Sims FreePlay. Live with your Sims in real time gardening, it's a pretty gentle job and loved by many people. You just need to go to the grocery store, pick some seeds and plant it in your home plot. After a while they mature, and you can collect agricultural products, and then sell for money. In addition to agricultural products, you will also get Exp points to align when above the level, you will have access to many other works, homes, materials and new characters. Another way is to build buildings in the city and find work for the characters. The more crowded and growing your city, the more money you get. One of the things you can find is scientists, artists, teachers, politicians, athletes, firefighters, musicians, actors and real estate agents. These are all desirable jobs, aren't they? In addition, you can also build more resorts, relax with a massage sauna, go to the spa and take advantage of the beauty services, design the house you've ever dreamed of. ....
