Are you sure? Credit: wayfair.com if you thought willow was left in the golden girls category even when, think again. Willow pieces have a moment in the interior of the home, but they have been a staple with stylish patio signs for years. The most exciting thing these days is the wide range of styles stored in our favorite online furniture stores. The range has never been better from vintage inspired designs such as an egg-shaped lounge to classic woven rows and brightly coloured bistro chairs. While style, size and budget are always part of furniture purchases, it is also important to take into account willow materials when considering outdoor use. If the piece is located in a shady place on a covered porch or screened on a patio, less durable willow options may prove appropriate. But if you plan to spend the whole summer mining with your new willow by the pool, consider investing wisely in an outdoor willow set that will last the seasons. The nifty willow, often referred to as 'weatherproof willow', is a durable, weatherproof synthetic fiber that can withstand elements such as sun, rain and moisture, recommends Lindsey Zborowski, style expert at Wayfair Professional. The nasta basket is typically made of PVS, nylon or polyethylene. High density polyethylene (HDPE) is the preferred choice. It usually lasts the longest due to its very strong durability. When you have willow patio furniture in place, it is also important to keep it clean. Use only mild soap, water and soft brush, spontana or cloth to remove dirt or dirt that can accumulate over time.
