Mike FriedDiamonds Direct Total Score:3.83 Price:3 Selection:3.5 Customer Service:5 ProsNice DiamondsExcellent ServiceOther recommended dealers James Allen Blue Nile Diamonds Direct have a great business going. Their customer service was all you need it to be: Helpful, friendly and informative. They had a decent range of products and the mood, but room for improvement, was nice. That said, Diamonds Direct prices were by no means unreasonable. It looks like you'll end up paying about 20 - 25% more than if you buy from a reputable online jeweler like Blue Nile or James Allen. But it is not an unreasonable premium to pay if you are one of those customers who prefer to buy in person. If a reader of us mentions that they get a diamond from Diamonds Direct, we have no reservations (we are happy to comment on specific diamonds from them or any other company if you contact us directly) that support them. The storyThere are big retail chains (most of these chains are now owned by Sterling, the parent company of Zales, Kay and Jared to name a few). There are big retail chains have the advantage of buying such large amounts that save money. The independent jewelers have the advantage of being a drug in the community and tend to have longer permanent staff who are better trained. Diamonds Direct is a unique independent retailer. In 1995, a diamond manufacturer based in Tel Aviv decided to remove the middlemen and opened its own store in Charlotte, North Carolina. Their business model seemed to be successful, and they have grown to seven locations around the country. At the end of 2015 Diamonds Direct was acquired by a major investment fund, Blackstone. The ExperienceOn our last secret shopping trip, Annie and I needed to come up with an excuse to visit Franklin's BBQ in Austin. San Antonio was close enough to justify a trip. Fortunately, Diamonds Direct has a nice standalone shop on the outskirts of The Shops At La The shop looked very nice from the outside. Enter (after the short break in their super secure entrance road), we got into the store. It was very nice, clean and bright, but it didn't have a particularly luxurious feel to it. That's what a typical independent store should look like. It would be nice if the experience had a slightly more luxurious feel. I don't mean to be nitpicky, I'm just trying to give some constructive criticism. While Diamonds Direct was definitely the best overall experience for us in San Antonio, in this area they were behind the competition a little bit. David, instantly get over to us. He was very helpful and made us feel like he's been there for ages, helping countless couples find the perfect ring. We had a nice chat about our expectations and a general idea of what we want. He also put us at ease, ensuring that the overwhelming majority of diamonds were GIA certified. He said some of them were certified in the house. I assumed that these were smaller diamonds, or very cheap diamonds, or very cheap diamonds, or very cheap diamonds, and we didn't come across any of them while secret shopping. Diamond Direct Rings After some review of the showcases, we settled on two different rings. The first ring was a 1.21ct round E VS2, in a platinum track setting (with .60cts worth of sidestones) for $16,950. This diamond had its advantages. It was by no means a bad diamond. But the diamond lacked a little something better. The second diamond was amazing. There was a 1.61ct K SI1 round diamond in a white gold split shank pope settings (with 0.40cts worth of sidestone). This ring would cost $11,900. Annie was immediately thrilled with this ring. We saw several dozen rings on this trip to this point, and I've never seen such a positive reaction from Annie. I should note that we usually do not recommend a K color diamond with a white gold pope setting. You should keep in mind that these are guidelines. Did we notice the yellow one? Yes, we did. But the diamond was very brilliant and we didn't think the color was distracting. Overall, we preferred this ring we looked at, here's a gorgeous 1.26ct E color, plumbing2 clarity excellent cut round diamond for $11,039. This diamond from Diamonds Direct. I found this similar setting on Blue Nile's website. Adding the two together, you'll end up shelling out $13,942. There is a saving of 20% while coming far Diamond. Let's move on to the second diamond we looked at in Diamonds Direct. Here's a beautiful 1.64ct K color, VS1 clarity excellent cut round diamond from James Allen for $6,960. As you can see from the photo, the diamond is incredibly light for a K color, and the GIA certificate confirms that the diamond is superbly cut. I decided to add the diamond to this split shank ribbon engagement ring similar to the one we saw at Diamonds Direct. The total cost of the ring would be $8,930. So you would get a comparable (in fact, James Allen's choice is a little better given the higher carat weight and clarity class) diamond ring for 25% less. The product itself was almost amazing. Although I didn't love the cut on one of their diamonds, they were pretty nice in general. The jewellery looked amazing and seemed to be quite priced. As we have mentioned, there is simply no way a physical retailer can compete with an online store in terms of price (or choice for that matter). It's just the nature of the beast. My husband had some bad luck with a salesman when he shopped for my engagement ring, but he eventually worked on... Ross, which was great. My parents joined us when we picked up our wedding ribbons and they were very impressed with the selection compared to the other jewelry stores they've been in. We now live in Raleigh, and I look forward to Diamonds Direct too. We were so with the service we received when we bought an engagement ring and wedding band. Everyone is always so useful and I love coming in to browse and look at the extensive amount of jewelry they have. They really have grea ... good funding, and something that meets everyone's needs. We didn't have a big budget, but we still came out with beautiful rings. My husband and I got our wedding bands turned out great. I wanted something unique and with Deborah's help, I just got... hat I wanted. My husband's ring also proved perfect to him. We couldn't be happier! My husband bought engagement and wedding rings from Diamonds Direct Crabtree. We have been very pleased with the service we get there every time we arrive. Sometimes there is a wait time, depending on what time you go and on what days, but it ... s completely worth the wait. They offer beer, wine, mimosas, etc while you wait if you want. The range here is bigger than we saw. We'll be back in the future! We found the perfect rings here- thank youOur wedding bands are beautiful and very good quality, but we could have spent less on my husbands at another store. There's a ring on Diamonds Direct for everyone! I love my simple but classic engagement ring from Diamonds Direct. There are so many different styles to choose from. The service is great; everyone is nice, knowledgeable and professional. We have... the week of our wedding to get bands and they were able to rush the order (including size) and we picked everything up in 3 days! You also get free jewelry cleaning and everything is guaranteed. I'll never buy jewelry anywhere else! My husband bought my engagement ring here, and then we bought my wedding tapes here. I had to get my engagement ring resized and they did an excellent job. A small accent diamond fell out and they replace it and solder my rings f... or free. They also clean rings for free and do it very quickly while doing an excellent job. We worked with Megan and Liz and they were both great! Excellent service! Would recommend! We have my engagement ring and wedding band at Diamonds Direct, and I love them!!! My husband got his grandfather's gold ring resized and engraved with a pattern to match his second grandfather's ring. They did an amazing job! They were so friendly and welcoming at Diamonds Direct. We didn't feel pressured to buy a diamond that was outside our price range or compromise what I wanted. They were able to make sure we could get the ring that I wanted in the price race ... that we could afford it. I plan to continue using Diamonds Direct for all diamond in the future.Since writing Original review, Diamonds Direct has contacted us and been more than willing to work with us to turn our experience around. They do everything in their power to make sure we are satisfied customers. Let me start with said ... ying, everyone we've ever worked with at Diamonds Direct has been anything but extremely enjoyable and really listened to our wishes and needs. They also have the best selection. That said, I would never recommend Diamonds Direct, nor will I ever spend another dollar in their store. Over the past year, my fiancée and I have used Diamonds Direct for his engagement ring and wedding band. If I wasn't going to use a family service for my wedding band, we probably would have ordered it through them too. But after all that's happened, I'm very grateful that we didn't. My fiance and I started looking at engagement rings in March 2014. I fell in love with a ring that Diamonds Direct bar and couldn't get it out of my head. Unknown to me, my fiance ordered that ring the first week of April using his grandmother's, he asked to hold on to the stone until the ring was made. Diamonds Direct explained that the ring designer needed the stone to make the ring, so he handed over the stone to Diamonds Direct. He was told it would take between four and six weeks to get the ring. After a five-week wait, he called to check the status of the ring and was told that the company he ordered the ring from had caused Diamonds Direct problems. He was told that the company changed computer systems and could not find his order. After getting the runaround, the ring finally came in in June. A month after he proposed, I shopped for the bridesmaids' dresses and looked down at my ring and realized that I was looking at the profile of the middle stone. The centerpiece had rotated 90 degrees, fortunately not losing the family stone. When we went to Diamonds Direct, their first offer was to fix the ring. After going back and forth, they agreed to order a new custom ring to replace the broken one. When it was time to order my fiancée's wedding band, we reluctantly went to watch bands at Diamond's Direct after not finding what he was looking for elsewhere. He fell in love with a ring and decided that the past was behind us and we would try again. After much deliberation, the seller said he was a size 9.5 and we ordered the ring. A month later, we get a call saying the ring is in. When he finally wiggles the ring of his finger, the size ring to be an 8.75. Their first instinct is to offer to just resize it. My fiance and I were both not happy with this We both don't make a lot of money so to spend the amount of money we made on the right size is ordered the second time to find out his ring size is a 10.5. Where did the previous seller come up with 9.5? We depended on them being the experts and know what they were talking about. So now, here we are, in the hope that they stay true to his word and order him a new one in the right size. My husband got my engagment ring from DD, and we later ordered both wedding bands from there. Good service and good service, good value for money and excellent service. We had a great experience with diamonds directly. My husband got my engagement ring there, and we went back to my wedding band. Lisa helped us both times and was super nice and helpful. The service is good and you get a good deal here! Free cleaning. Diamonds Direct offers great value for your money across many of the regular retail jewelry store. While they will not carry all the name tags, they have very similar styles. And really no one ever really shows off the brand of jewelry, just ... that it is beautiful. Just make sure to know which are the name brand pieces and which ones are not so you know what price points you should expect. What's also amazing about Diamonds Direct is that you can bring some jewelry at any time to get it cleaned/polished for free! The staff were very friendly and helpful. Shopping at Diamonds Direct was a great experience! We will go there for all our future jewelry needs! Love this place! My husband bought my engagement ring there, and we got our wedding rings there too. Very professional and useful, with good quality products! Will go there for all jewelry in the future! My husband bought both my engagement ring and my wedding ties from Diamonds Direct. They are the most beautiful rings ever. His sales associate Kim was very helpful and went out of his way to find the perfect diamond for my engaging... nt ring. Product quality cost, knowledgeable employees and sales service are top notch. For anyone who gets engaged or married, I would recommend shopping there. You can't go wrong! My husband did a fantastic job picking out my engagement ring and wedding band but had some help from Diamonds Direct!! I couldn't be happier with the service they gave him or the product I received. I love to show my ring off and... I look forward to carrying it for years to come. My husband bought my beautiful Henri Daussi ring at Diamonds Direct and I absolutely love it! Tama was a joy to work with and went beyond finding us the perfect stone. We were able to get so much more bang for our buck at Diamonds Dir... and it was nice to buy in a pressure environment without pressure. Diamonds Direct employees have so much knowledge and experience that know that you get the best diamond at the best experience at Diamonds Direct. They are very friendly and I can go straight in and have my ring cleaned (usually with a little wait, but it is expected). We went on one of their big sales weekends to get my wedding band and my house... band band and l'm so glad we did! It was crazy crowded, but we were still helped pretty quickly and got our bands too much less than we would have paid. Lifetime guarantees and cleaning can't beat it! This is certainly the best place to buy jewelry. My engagement band was tailored at no extra cost. They have everything you want here, or they'll get it. Sherry Gilmore is our favorite seller. We always go back to her now.... She's not intrusive or snoody, and we always take care of us. I knew the style of the wedding band I wanted, but my then fiancée wasn't sure, like most boys. Johnathon helped us choose the perfect ring for both of us. I recommend Diamond Direct. Diamonds Direct is a great place to buy wedding bands and jewelry. Definitely will continue to be a custom ... My husband was so kind to search high and low for a ring that I wanted for our commitment. However, it did not come with matching wedding bands. My ring is not fancy ornate, but it sits a little high and has channel set diamonds along the side t ... he center diamonds Direct found a band that resembled my ring and adapted it (resized the diamonds to match my ring and added a diamond to each side to match the number of diamonds in my ring) The cost was less than buying an uncome wedding band to my engagement ring. I would certainly recommend all shopping for fine jewelry special wedding to visit Diamonds Direct of Crabtree. PS- Use light layers ... it's always hot in there!!! Best service ever and the absolute best selection of diamond engagement bands and wedding bands I've ever seen! You can see that the quality is outstanding as well. I can't wait to carry my rings forever! Everyone at Diamonds Direct is so nice and so helpful. Love my engagement ring and my wedding band. Can't wait to go back and get more jewelry from them! Good service, good products! Having what's needed attitude definitely describes Jody at Diamonds Direct Crabtree. When the wedding band I received wasn't the perfect match for my engagement ring, she took the case in hands to make sure that it was fixed and that t... he designer would hasten it to have in time the big day! She pulled it off and made me a happy bride! With bands from all different price ranges, you're sure to find the one that's just right for you. And you won't find better service. Some advice: weekends are very busy, something overwhelming and you have to wait, so I would recommend going when it's less crowded! Diamonds Direct offers quality customer service. We have beautiful rings from here. I would recommend using Diamonds Direct. Diamonds Direct offers quality customer service. We have beautiful rings from here. I would recommend using Diamonds Direct. Diamon design the perfect ring. We loved them so much that we bought, his and her wedding bands and br... idal bride jewelry! The shop is beautiful and I found my ring immediately! We had good service that day with a gentleman who I wish we had continued to work with, but instead we were transferred ... d to another guy because my husband went there once before and he helped him. That was the start of my problems. So the problems began when we went to pick out our bands. There was a sale going on and we ended up having the same guy help us again (the one I ended up not liking - you'll see why). I have a platinum engagement ring and I picked out a white gold band that looked like my band. The guy didn't say anything about it. So when we were called that our rings for us, and that's when I noticed that the diamonds didn't match the way I wanted, and it just looked like a misaligned set. When she saw that it was white gold, she said the rings would look different as when they were on. Her suggestion to me was to order a band from the same designer to match my ring, so that's what we decided to do. She said she wanted to let Ross know, and he'd call me at a price. I waited a week and heard nothing. I waited two weeks and heard nothing, so I called. Ross wasn't there, but Lottie was, and she apologized to me and said she'd get Ross to call me. He ended up calling a week later and leaving a message on my answering machine that he just forgot. I called him back and told him I wanted to order the matching band and he said ok. A few weeks later, we're called my ring. We'll go there and pay for it, and I didn't think about it anymore until I got the appraisal papers in the mail, and it said the ring. I went to the store and wanted to talk to a manager. Instead of someone getting me a manager, they got him, and he got me. into an office and ordered the ring while I was shooed away. I got a certain quote and I had it stored on voicemail, so when the ring came 5 days before our wedding and we went to pick it up on the way out of town for our wedding, we got a different price. They argued with me about the price, but I tried to explain that I was told a price, and now they're trying to charge me more. I had to walk out of the store I was so angry. They ended up honoring the award as I was quoted, but it sealed the deal for me that I really dislike that place, especially Ross. Unless you make a big purchase and spend a lot of money, he won't care about you, and he'll ignore you, and he won't make you feel important or special when you're going. If Ross tries to help someone else instead. The girl even asked him if he wanted to talk to us, right in front of us, and he said no. I couldn't compete with it, and if you can't either, find another colleague. He's a commission hooker. Lottie's awesome though. I can't complain about the place as a whole, but our experience with Ross has made me never want to shop there again. Diamonds Direct is a great place for all kinds of jewelry, but especially the wedding variety. My husband got my engagement ring there for a good price, and Raj was super useful during the process (diamond choice, setting selection, wedding ... ribbon proposals). Raj also helped us choose the wedding ribbons a few months later, but wasn't there when we went back to buy them (don't worry, he's still there! He had knee surgery). The lady who helped us buy the bands was still very helpful, though. They give you discount on wedding bands when you have already bought the engagement ring with them and we were able to negotiate the price down a little more to fit our budget. All in all, very useful, professional, and a great experience. The only place to go for engagement and wedding rings, in my opinion. We ordered all three rings (engagement, 2 wedding bands) from diamonds directly. They were helpful from the first moment we came in. My engagement ring was something unique, and that meant that some adjustments had to be made in an original design. The... Worked with us and the rings were perfect. I've had a lot of compliments, and so has my husband. Every time we went to Diamond's Direct, the staff were very helpful when choosing and paying for our rings.
