The social committee works closely with the club's staff to prepare a variety of special events that offer wonderful opportunities for relaxation with old friends and easy meeting of new members. There is at least one special social event every month of the year. Regular offerings include Summer Party, a huge Fourth of July with fireworks, an Easter egg hunt, a Halloween party for adults and children, an elegant Commodore's Party and of course The Christmas Holidays. Eagle Mountain Lake is one of the most popular lakes in North Texas, ing over 8,694 acres. This recreational lake is great for fishing, skiing, wakeboarding, relaxing and recreational craft. Eagle Mountain Lake is also known for its luxury lake houses and private communities. This lake is located just 15 mi north of the center of Fort Worth. For the sake of the health and safety of our community, we have had to change our annual fourth celebration of Fort Worth with a sad heart. Our skies will still be illuminated by the largest fireworks display in North Texas; however, the festival part of the event will not take place. To limit the collection, the Panter Island pavilion will be closed to access the vehicle and pedestrians. There will be no activity or public access. We will still celebrate our nation's birthday with the biggest fireworks ever. This year we are celebrating those who fought for our freedom and the honor of our first responders, health professionals and everyone on the frontline. Check out the biggest fireworks on The Fourth of July in North Texas from the comfort of your home, backyard or balcony. The show will be bigger and bigger this year, so we can see it from afar! It's going to be high in the sky! No earthly effects in the Panther Island Pavilion. Don't come to the scene. The occupied area on the map below will be closed and barricaded to deter collection and reduce traffic congestion. Please keep your family on or do not drive vehicles to areas near the scene. In addition, Trinity Park will be closed to traffic from 17:00 to 23:30. It will be available for pedestrians who will be accessible on Trinity Trails, but no vehicles will be allowed to enter or park inside. Kayaks, supa or canoes are not allowed on the Trinity River at the Panther Island Pavilion for fireworks on July 4. Overwater access to the river will end at Henderson Street Bridge at Clear Fork and on the Fort Worth & Western Railroad bridge at West Fork. The downstream access to the river will end at the bridge on the north main street on the western forka. Follow all signs and avoid fireworks for your safety. In addition, motor boats are banned on the Trinity River. For the safety and health of our community, we are changing the annual Fourth of July celebration in Fort Worth. Fort Worth will continue to have the largest fireworks display in North Texas; but the family festival will not take place. To reduce public gatherings, the Panther Island pavilion will be closed to vehicles and pedestrian access. There will be no activity or access for the public. Thanks to the generous contributions of Lockheed Martin and the Tarrant Regional Water District (TRWD), we will all be able to celebrate the memory of the birth of our nation, with one of our greatest fireworks shows. This year, we will celebrate those who fought for our freedom and honored our health professionals and those on the front line. Check out the biggest Fourth of July fireworks in North Texas, from the comfort of your home, terrace or balcony. the show will be much bigger this year, so you can see it at a greater distance. The whole show can be seen in the sky! Fireworks won't be near the ground. The occupied area on the map will be closed and barricaded to deter mass encounters and reduce traffic. Enjoy the show from home with your family or near your home. Do not go into the vehicle in areas near the event. In addition, Trinity Park will be closed to traffic vehicles from 5 a.m. to 11:30 p.m. It will be open to pedestrian traffic accessible via the Trinity Route, but vehicles will not be allowed inside the park. Kayaks, supa or canoes are not allowed on the Trinity River in the Panther Island Pavilion during the Fireworks on July 4. Upright access will end on the Henderson Street bridge in Clear Fork and Fort Worth and the Western Railroad Bridge in West Fork. The downwater access will end at the St. Louis Bridge. West Fork. S siga todas las señales y manténgase alejado de la zona de fuegos artificiales por su seguridad. Recuerde que no se permiten barcos de motor en el Rio Trinity. Please remember to click on the under page on the left side for previous events that you may have missed that happened on the lake. Also, all the information you need to know about this lake. Enjoy and read on! Eagle Mountain Lake News & Notes February 2020Happy Winter from Royal Bull Yacht ClubGreetings lake & land peeps from Royal Bull Yaght Club! Still in this for fun and sun. If you haven't received regular notifications about updated releases, don't worry, you haven't been removed from the list. I've been busy as usual entertaining and writing that Pulitzer Prize-winning story LOL. In case you might want to check this junk folder in your email to make sure your notification hasn't been marked as junk mail. As always, I don't use your email to send spam or put it in some telemarketing company to send you male treatment ads. I'm not going to bombard you with ridiculous rhetoric. Now read and catch up on what happened on the lake last summer and what's in store in the very near future. 2019 Eagle Mountain Lake Parade of Lights is coming. Click on this link for all the details including dates, times, locations, registration, sponsorships, etc. Estate & other sunset cruise organizations have once again been one of my main things this past summer. Fall is here, and we're fast approaching the end of the story, and we're going to be ahead of you in winter. If you have a docking boat or boat that is not in the water, you should already be thinking about winterization on your boat. You have until December. I helped you achieve this before you took a look at the lake. Last year, I ran into 10 boats that failed to make it winter. You don't want to play Russian roulette with your ship. I hope you will read and have in mind my article on how to winter your boat at the end of the season if you haven't already done so: or if you refuse to give a shot give me a scream in the fall at louisbull@charter.net that you will take care of you. Now that your boat is ready for the lake. You should read my article on The Top 10 Reasons Boats Break Down Click on the link below: This is the time of year for open enrollment for your health insuranceSomber into the same program that I'm in. Health insurance... It's something we all need. Whether you're looking for options for your employees or coverage for you and your family, work with someone who's been doing it for 25 years and worked with more area of Eagle Mountain Lake (references are available). Open enrolment for individual/family plans starts on 1 November and runs until 15 December until 1 January. If you don't sign up during this period, you probably can't sign up unless you have an event that's eligible. Help with paying coverage is available if you are eligible. There is no fee for my help – I am paid through insurance companies. Trudi FreeBenefit Solutions of Texas817-318-1338 office682-552-0855 celltdfree@swbell.netwww.benefitsolutionsoftexas.com Major, big news coming last summer is storm damage to Eagle Mountain Marina. For some strange reason, June was a pretty wild stormy month, especially every Sunday. Documented here: Controversy lives on, on and on. Watch the video below to see how this event has turned into a major controversy on the lake and put lake resident Dusty Gregg, the former owner of the lake restaurant Dusty Gregg, a right-hand smack dab in the middle of an already political lake of hot bed. Yes, TRWD got caught up in the threat of removing the flag pole. The police showed up. They weren't happy scouts. Lake Restaurants are here to stay!!!! You won't be disappointed at this place, believe me. The restaurant is open at Lakeview Marina. is now open @West Bay Marina Catch up on this past summer's Annual 2019 Raft Up Click on it to view the pictures: on this link to view the boat and car show this past June @Fort Worth Boat Club at the gas station? Look out for more E15 this summer, since a number of objections have been raised by several industrial and consumer sectors, including more than 10,000 comments from nautists, the EPA has approved full-year sales of E15, a gasoline that contains up to 15% ethanol. This increases the likelihood that you will see this engine harming fuel at the gas pump road this summer. If only one warning label is required, the fuel naut ity must be extra vigilant. Remember, it is forbidden to use any gasoline with more than 10% ethanol in marine engines. This change promotes the Renewable Fuel Standard (RFS), which forces more ethanol into the country's gasoline supply. The RFS also restricts the supply of petrol without ethanol, a fuel that many boat owners prefer to protect with an engine. Call your members of Congress and the president to fix this corrupt policy by clicking below and hearing your voice. Click on this link to correct this: and tell you Find a wooden boat!!!! Well, folks, I have to tell you that the ship is very important and is still part of the boat and will be here for a long time as fiberglass. That Eagle Mountain Lake still has some wood on it. For example, The Classic 1960s 36' Chris Craft Constellation. yes, it's the wooden ship you're looking at. Like any other type of boat, whether it's fiberglass, wood, steel, etc., they will last forever and always if you spend little time with them and take care of them. If you didn't know this, we're very blessed to have one of the best restorative and maintenance wooden boats here on the lake. That's right. If you don't know who they are, their Clover Marine Body & Repair. & sign the title below. Clover Marine has been with us for over a year and they are right here: NOTE due to its popularity and excellent work the space is quite limited and their bookings increase every day, yes, even boats from the country come into their shop. Here's an example of clover marine's work on a wooden boat. This is an example of a boat being finished by Clover Marine. This classic is Chris Craft from 1954, which is almost finished and ready to splash. Some comparisons to Wood vs. Fiberglass There may be nothing in the world that packs as many life lessons as the activity of sailing. He learns teamwork, engineering, history, patience, oceanography, ecology... All in one swing. That's why we believe that every child should learn to sail, and here are five of the best reasons why. You can add your own. BalanceThe day and age is extremely important to create a balance between the natural world and the computer world. For those over 30 it's not such a reality (though many would argue that), but digital natives really need to switch off and sailing is perfect for it. EthicYelling's work in children grabbing foliage or cleaning their rooms is something that needs to happen, but this is a bit of a skit for everyone involved. Sailing is such a great way to teach work/rewards lessons in the current way. It illustrates the clear importance and association for issues such as organisation and cleanliness. While sailing it's hard physical work, but it's a job that's luxurious and instantly shows its purpose, which is what kids can short-attention-span use. It's all happening with a great view. BondingZ electronic communication, which dominates the worlds of young people, the possibilities of convergence are diluted. It's become a cliché that kids are always in their screens, but it's true. Every moment they stare at this odd electric tunnel, there is a moment when they don't connect to the space that immediately surrounds them. This is another area where sailing can come to the rescue. There's no place to talk, laugh, shared silence happens as easily as on lazy days. A family that works together to make the boat effectively tied above the waves is nothing but nutritious. It's time. Time to teach, time for a joke, it's time to know each other better. Just don't yell at them, it destroys everything... SystemsTho the world is full of systems and to see one as masterfully designed as a jeer is valuable. Centuries of trial and error have gone into what is on board the most modern boats and are living breathing examples of incredible innovations operating in a complex system that creates journeys from a wind source. Reminding children that this thing is somehow amazing can broaden their curiosity and encourage them to look at other systems and become better critical thinkers. AdventureInstilling's sense of adventure in a young person is an important seme for planting. The boats are safe, but they're also a ticket to a wild stranger. Every child who ever sailed into an empty horizon looked out and thought, What if we kept going? Where would you end up? Sailing takes us away from normal and firmly crops us in an environment unknown and foreign. We can't even get up in this world outside the boat – we're basically powerless. There's nature around us that lives in a place we can't even breathe. When you stop and think... And this is a place where a child can stretch his imagination. And that's a very good thing. You dress the way you want it when you suddenly die off the deck. Major Suing! Take a look at these steps that have helped me over the years first to make sure you're safe – power losses can be dangerous if there are heavy nightmares or bad weather. If it is possible to drop the anchor or install an anchor to keep your bow in the waves, and if the storm brews, hit the door and drop any antennas, fishing rods, or outriggers that can attract lightning strikes. Fuel problems are often the reason for the sudden shutdown. Check the filters and/or separation of fuel/water to make sure they are not clogged. If you have recently started using ethanol gas, it can act as a solvent to release the gunk in the tank, which can quickly clog the filter. (You have a spare, don't you?) Then check the fuel supply, front ball, openings and fuel lines – in this order – to make sure you have a flow. If there is too much pressure, you suspect a relentless fuel connection; if there is a negative pressure, you have a problem with discharges; And if there is a complete deficiency of pressure, you probably have air leakage in the line. If the system looks good (and especially if the engine suddenly shuts down, completely and without warning), there are chances that you have water in fuel. If so, call TowBoatUS because you have a more serious problem. If the fuel system is unsue, then electrical problems Be the next suspicion. Obviously, if the battery's completely dead, there's not much you can do. However, there are some other common electricity problems that can leave you tall and dry, yet they can also be easily fixed. One is a mismatched safety switch that thinks the engine is in gear even when it's in neutral. So give the gas a jiggle, then try to hold the key on while moving the gas through neutral. If the engine turns but does not catch, the engine disconnecter may be short. This often happens when the switch is placed horizontally on the exposed handlebar, where water can pour and get into the switch. Try to bypass it and see if it gets you back into action. Simply look behind the handlebar and look for a black wire with a yellow line leading to the switch. Disconnect and try again. If the shut-off switch turns off fine, then the temperature may have turned you off. Usually this is due to a lack of cooling water. If there is no water on board to discharge at normal speed, we could have a serious problem that requires attention on land. However, before you dare to hope, check the raw water inputs on the lower unit. Sometimes a plastic bag, a piece of paper, or some sea sheep dry and stop the flow of water. Remove the relentless clogging and everything will be fine. Another relatively common problem comes in the form of a stuck thermostat. Sometimes you can open it for free and clean it, and then continue in your happy way. If none of these hotfixes work, then you may have to wait for that tow. If so, see the following article exactly below. What am I supposed to do if I need a tow? This video will answer all your questions about it. How do you know that your boat has a weight limit if you don't see this sticker attached inside the boat. I'm sure this will come in handy when you find out how many lake tops you can take on your winning boat for the Parade of Lights. The weight limit calculations of my boat are: 42' Length x 13' width = 546 546 / 18 = 30 people. So this means that Classy Lady can only have a limit value of 30 lakes. Building! Building! If we get to the lake, it'll take a few minutes longer. Lake & land peeps study this article carefully and learn it, know it and live it. Contact me @louisbull@charter.net to find you a boat. We are at the lower level (- 2.23) from October the surrounding lakes are below the level Of Cylinders with metal slides have a bad habit of becoming frozen with corrosion, even though the teeth zipper are plastic. If you use force, you'll destroy the zipper. Instead, place the pillow with the zipper up and place a small cloth soaked with the acid over the corroded slide, cover the cloth with a piece of Sarana and wait. The acid acid will dissolve the corrosion and free the slide. Good prices here. Check the West Bay Marina out for Alternative. StrangeBOAT SERVICES ON THE LAKEIF you need your boat worked on, washed, insured, etc. click on this link to get the services: For example, Rick Hasty, who do I benefit from the primacy of the czech. Actually, I used it yesterday to pull the prop underwater. He's got all the tools and something. He cleaned my bottom, too. Some of you who I've spoken to have not cleaned the bottom, especially my friends with the eateard. Lake peeps, it doesn't cost that much. Mine was $175.00. Yes, that's right. That was for my boat. Yours will be a little cheaper. He went the length of the boat. It's like he's got his lower power. Except in the lake, and you don't have to pull out the boat. Bottom Cleaning/Prop Inspection/Lost Items In The Lake - ScubaNubs Dive ServiceWebite with testimonials: Rick Hasty of Scuba Nubs to book this service. I have used this service for the last 5 years along with a few people on this email list and have been very pleased. His services are worth the price. You'll be pleasantly surprised. He's already making your neighbor's boat and the others around the lake. When he's under your ship, he'll check your props and your shaft to make sure there's nothing wrapped around them. You'd be surprised what gets into these things. If your props are off or damaged, it can fix it. This will help your bottom inexorable. It doesn't matter what your ship is. Works: boats, powerboats, cruisers, etc. Call him @(817) 706-9556 or email him @scubanubs@gmail.com or visit his Facebook page @www.facebook.com/ScubanubsDiveService?ref=stream also has an underwater camera that will record a video of your dna. Look at this on my boat. Look at that prop that was toad on my neighbor's boat. If you let something like that happen, it could do a lot of damage to your ship. Trust me!!!! Boat Cleaning & Detail Ship to Shore Boat Cleaning Services By Louis PalmerA lot of boat cleaning services have come and gone to the lake, but one has remained constant over the years and this is Louis Palmer's Ship To Shore Boat Cleaning Service. I use this service every weekend and when I get on my boat on a Friday afternoon everything is nice and quite ready to go. This service saves me at least 3 hours of work every weekend. At a very reasonable price. The Ship to Coast team will clean you up and shine for every weekend on the ship. Call them @ (817) 688-6378 already serviced boats in every marina and private residence on the lake. They are also described in detail on the boat. Go tech!!!! Here's how to navigate this site: This website should be much easier for you to navigate compared to the previous OneDrive format, which lasted forever for you to upload to your smartphone, laptop, desktop, and tablet. It's all in the ings now and it's going to be updated every week. Look out for subcategories at the bottom of some pages. For example, if you want to know which groups are playing in your favorite restaurants, click on the Lake Fun this week tab. If you're interested in what events are happening on the lake this weekend, click on the Events on the Lake tab this week to see about the tie. As I said, before you go through these categories on the upper left side, check out the updated information. Even subcategories at the bottom of some pages. Feedback is important.
