His rap career began at the age of 16 in his hometown, opening No Limit Records. He was first signed to the Take For Record label in 2002 and debuted his album Like Dat. The name baby boy was given to him by his manager Melvin and he always called himself Da Prince. Baby Boy da Prince is the brother of rapper Dropa and Brittany Nicole (Lil Britney). In early 2006, Success (2006) was first in three weeks when radio station Q93 (WQUE) debuted its debut single, The Way I Live. Universal Republic Records took notice and signed on with Baby Boy da Prince as a hip-hop act. He also recorded a remix of The Way I Live - Saints - to celebrate the recent success of the New Orleans Saints, and he's had success in the New Orleans community, where he plays locally. He can update and remake the remix and host it on a website that local radio station B97 (WEZB) can download for free. The Way I Live was released on radio on September 6, 2006. The way I live was made for his younger brother Adrian. The national debut album (2007) of the 2007 baby boy de bue album Sweder Water was released on March 20, 2007. Across the water, #26 entered the US Billboard 200 chart. The album's lead singleThe Way I Live received moderate airplay and sold 25,700 copies.
