

☐

I'm not robot

reCAPTCHA

Continue

Is antonio brown married

Congratulations are fine for Eva Longoria! The former Desperate Housewives actress is officially married to a woman after marrying media mogul José Antonio Bastón at a private wedding in Mexico a few hours ago. The cute twin is in front of 200 guests at a sunset wedding ceremony at a private residence in Valle de Bravo, Mexico - a small town by the lake just about 80 miles from Mexico City, a source confirmed to People. They married at the altar under a lot of small lights, the source said. It was very romantic. Eva wore her hair down and smiled throughout the ceremony. He was in a gray suit. While the actress didn't post any wedding photos on Instagram herself - you'd imagine she's pretty busy being a bride and all that! – We accidentally found some shots of a super private snub on the social media site. Al Rojo Vivo, a Telemundo news program, has posted some pictures of the blessed event (see below) and we couldn't be more excited to get a look at this wonderful wedding. The photos show Longorio, dressed in a sleeveless fit-and-flare white wedding dress that is complete with a delicately cute neckline, and Baston exchanging her vows in front of a giant white cross overlooking the lake. Ahead of the couple's secret wedding, People reported that half of Hollywood would fly in for Longoora and Bastón's I do's, with a list of star guests including David and Victoria Beckham, Penelope Cruz, Ricky Martin, Katy Perry, Mario Lopez. Swanky, big? The ceremony is set to take place at the home of Jane Virgin actor Jaime Camil in Acapulco, with the bride-to-be confirming herself with a few Instagram stories about her Mexican escape (below), posting one picturesque photo with the location of Puerto Vallarta in Mexico and another with the tag Acapulco. Both equally jealous. The bride-to-be also shared a cute picture of her doing a little pre-wedding yoga in a very impressive Saturday morning poses (below). Longoria was not private about her affection for her husband. 'He's amazing, he's a great and really nicest human being I've ever met,' the Telenovela actress told People. In December, Bastón raised the question of Longoori in a charming desert proposal in the dunes of Dubai with a beautiful ruby red engagement ring. He did everything. He planned six months! the bride told the party tonight of a memorable night. 'I cried with laughter,' she shared. I laughed so much, and then it turned into tears... It was a lot of fun. In February, Longoria revealed to Us Weekly that she and her soon-to-be husband have been calling each other husbands and wives for some time. Well, it looks like these addresses are official! Check out the spies' shinged photos of their muted wedding below. Even if you don't catch up It's hard to escape the latest news about Antonio Brown. Over the past few weeks, the wide receiver has been involved in drama on the field and on the field. Although his troubles began earlier this month, things were cascading and caused him to be cut from two NFL teams in the past two weeks. On Friday, O.J. Simpson - of all people - was used to some tips for the embodied Brown. People didn't expect it, but more than a million people clicked the game to hear what it had to say. Look at this. O.J. Simpson, 2017 | Getty Images/Jason Bean-Pool Simpson took a minute to speak to Standing on the Golf Course and welcoming the world of Twitter. Simpson says he was tempted to use his thoughts to message Brown. He didn't, and instead he posted this video to his account with the caption, Why @AB84? Why, address him directly. At first, Simpson briefly discusses his personal fantasy football list and how things have shifted for some of his players. He then says he wanted to share the words of wisdom he received from legal experts in his circle. When you're in civil or criminal litigation, it's best not to say anything. Shut up. Actually, shut up. And if his lawyer didn't give him that advice, he should sue that lawyer. Do Brown and Simpson have anything in common? Why yes, yes, they do. Both played in the NFL and both dealt highly publicized criminal and civil court cases. We all know why Simpson is in trouble, and the 72-year-old was released from prison in 2017 after serving nine years for robbery. Brown, who was drafted in Pittsburgh in 2010, had his share of trouble. CBS Sports has taken a timeline for the latest criminal attacks, and legal problems have begun in 2018. In October of that year, he allegedly knocked the items off the balcony and nearly injured the child. He's being sued over the incident. He got a 100-mile-an-hour speeding ticket in November, and in December he gave up team workouts with the Steelers after being tricked by Bengals Ben Roethlisberger. He was on the bench. He was traded to the Oakland Raiders in March. The practices began in July, but he avoided it for weeks for a number of reasons, including a helmet dispute. This month, he posted on Instagram the contents of a letter and private conversations with team bosses, and after a double penalty with Brown, the Raiders slashed him on Sept. Brown cited concerns about concussion injuries. The New England Patriots signed him to a one-year deal. But after allegations of sexual assault and civil suing, they agreed to investigate the allegations. Several defendants have come forward, and Brown could face criminal charges. The latest on Brown is that he left the league after ABC News, Sept 20, the Patriots announced that they had ties to the athlete. He played one game with them. We appreciate the hard work of many people over the last 11 days, but we think it is best to move in a different direction at the moment. Over the past few months, Brown has thrown verbal jabs and insults at various general managers, coaches, and team owners along the way. On Friday, Brown then announced on Twitter that he was officially quitting the NFL. He won't play in @NFL more these owners can cancel the arrangements @NFLPA to do whatever they want whenever they want to see if they stick to the responsibility sadly they can only undo the guarantees whenever it goes to 40m 2 months will see if they pay! AB (@AB84) September 22, 2019 It's also the same day simpson posted his advice. Despite being in controversy, Brown continues to broadcast his complaints on social media. He is also alleged to have sent intimidating messages to one of his defendants. While Simpson's video has captured more than 1.5 million views, it's unclear whether Brown got the message. Hannah Brown turned 24 while filming the season of The Bachelor Colton Underwood. She says she was ready to get married. And that she was really interested in Underwood. At first I didn't know who nominated me, Brown told Entertainment Tonight, adding that she felt her first call from Bachelor casting was a telemarketer. In the end, I took a leap of faith. I was really interested in Colton. I thought he had his own platform and he was a good-looking guy. He had a lot against him, so I thought I could see myself with someone like that. Later, the former Ms . Alabama learned that the videographer she worked with suggested she date. Hannah Brown is believed to be expecting to be married on April 25. Even at 23. 'Oh my God, if I'm not married until I'm 25, I should invest in some cats,' she told the publication, which she remembers thinking about at the time. She recalled the escape she had with her former teacher, who was her teacher, immediately after the breakup. As long as you're married to 25, you should be fine, remember, she was told. Same day — it was a really hard day — I was wearing pyjamas in the grocery store because why not? He told me I'd never get a man like that. And then the day before, I had a client who told me I should Match.com, at 23, because I didn't have a boyfriend, Brown continued. Brown also felt she was ready to get married at the age of 23 because she had two serious relationships before going on the Same One. In addition, the former beauty queen had plenty of time to enjoy singles, she says. A lot of people think I've been engaged because I've said it in the past. 'we had two very serious relationships where we were in engagement conversations,' she said. I didn't have a relationship for a year and a half before I went to The Singles. And that was a good time for me. Hannah Brown likes to be single, but she hopes to find a 'boyfriend 'who she's supposed to be with', although both Sam and The Bachelorette didn't result in a partner for Brown, she says she's learned so much about life and who she is. [I] am really learning from some of the situations I've been through and I've been through, and I'm getting stronger and stronger and stronger and empowering through it, she said. I'm really proud of myself. And I'm going to be able to say that... still fighting is still not perfect — far from it. But proud of this girl. Hannah Brown | David Livingston/Getty Images I think I'm still single, so maybe I should try Match.com. I don't know, Brown continued. But I'm also single. I still want a man to live with him. That would be fun to share with someone. And that's what I want. While Brown is good, even happy to be single, she still hopes to find a partner one day. But I've finally gotten to the point where I'm okay with being alone, and I can do my thing. 'Because if I keep doing my thing and become my best self, I hope I wish I could be the man I was supposed to be with, do the same thing right now, and we'll just be better for each other when that day happens,' she said. Whoa, magic. It's not magic. It's hard work, relationship. You know what I mean. Read more: In the game 'Date, marriage, disappear,' Former bachelorette Hannah Brown marries Peter Weber Weber