Note: Please note that we cannot guarantee the accuracy of this quiz, so we recommend that you also go through a cross-practice check. The CollegeBoard offers a good one that we will share in the area of resources below. Both like me. A Carmen. None of them like me. A Luis. (Spokesman) We took to the streets to ask people what their opinion of the new hotel in the city centre is. - (Carmen) Actually, I think it's a very nice hotel. Its architecture and design are very modern and make you feel like you are travelling through Europe. This hotel shows that there are still people who are interested in investing in our country, which I think is exactly what we need. Tourism must be revived as the main source of income, and so our economy will become stronger and stronger. Good job! - (Luis) Mr President, I would like to I don't like it at all! I work in the post office, in the city centre and now the traffic has tripled to get to my job. I find it unnecessary to add more complications in the city center, which is already the most congested place of all. Why not build a hotel on the outskirts of the city? It would be much better to have a place to escape on weekends without dirty roads or annoying noises. Correct answer: B. A Carmen. Explanation: Now is the time to compare the opinions of two different people regarding a new hotel in the city. The key factor in understanding this question is not to look for a cookie-cutter answer among the options, but to be able to capture the perception of individuals according to the adjectives they use to describe the hotel and evaluate its advantages and disadvantages. Who likes it the most? You tell me! On the beach to hear the waves of the sea. On the outskirts of the city to escape the Rutin The city center is a perfect location on the mountain, close to the animals. (Spokesman) We took to the streets to ask people what their opinion of the new hotel in the city centre is. - (Carmen) Actually, I think it's a very nice hotel. Good job! - (Luis) Mr President, I would like to I don't like it for I work in the post office, in the city centre and now the traffic has tripled to get to my job. I find it unnecessary to add more complications in the city center, which is already the most congested place of all. Why not build a hotel on the outskirts of the city? It would be much better to have a place to escape on weekends without dirty roads or annoying noises. Correct answer: B. On the outskirts of the city to escape the Rutin explanation: preferences, suggestions. It's time to see if you understand conditional clauses in Spanish (verb-a). In one of the paragraphs (note: it is the second) the speaker talks about the ideal location for the new famous hotel. Where should it be? Why? At this point, you should have noticed that Mr Luis is not very satisfied with the new arrival in the city centre because of the disruption caused by it. He says the hotel can be anywhere, but it should not cause any disturbances and allow the guest to find peace. Isn't the landscape the best option? Mr Luis thinks so! And we agree. Learning Intent Attention Apprehension Three years ago I lived in the United States. There I was part of something bigger and more valuable than me. I had the opportunity to _____9_____ a group of friends from all over the world who taught me that love has no limits and honesty does not lend _____10_____ Correct answer: C. Attention Explanation: Vocabulary, Vocabulary, Vocabulary. We were given four options: intent, learning, attention and arrest. In the meantime, you need to understand that he/she is talking about the variety of friends he/she has found while studying abroad, and what is the most valuable feature? That no one cares that they are all different. From the four options would be the formed presumption that the answer must be a Nov (either A or C), since the action is already specified; and you never pay intentions! It would be much better to have a place to escape on weekends without dirty roads or annoying noises. Correct answer: D. Tourism. Explanation: Let's make it a push and start confronting a more sophisticated language. In this case, you need to know who is talking about issues like the economy (yes, you guessed it. It is Mrs Carmen). In the interview, she explains why the hotel is so beneficial to the country's GDP, and it has a lot to do with people with cameras and fancy packs. Is it known? Of course we are talking about tourism! There are two glasses there. No thank you. I don't like sugar. Yes, there is a lot of light. In the fridge. The cold keeps the ants away. Correct answer: D. In the fridge. The cold keeps the ants away. Explanation: You probably doubted for a minute when you saw the word sugar in two of the options, right? However, you need to be very aware, because this is not a closed which usually begins with the verb, the main action of the sentence. How can you assess what kind of question is involved? As in English, noting that the it has a Wh question word (Donde= where). They also give you some additional information in the form of complements (additions) that complete the idea of the requested information. Encontrar Encontre Encuentro Encontraba Hace tres a'os yo vivi en Estados Unidos. Alla, formé parte de algo más grande y valioso que yo. Tuve la oportunidad de _____ un grupo de amigos de todas partes del mundo, que me enseñaron que el amor no tiene fronteras y la honestidad no presta _____10_____ a razas ni credos. Correct answer: A. Encontrar Explanation: The general recommendation for this type of exercises is to always be aware of the context. First, you need to read the whole passage (also with the blanks) to understand the general idea. Who speaks? Where is she/he? Does she speak in a third person? What voltage is used? Etc. In this case, he/she speaks in the first person about a rewarding experience that took place three years ago. Why choose encontrar in infinitive, and not encuentro or encontré; Easy! It is not the main action of the proposition (i.e. not the main verb) that is tuve (had), therefore it must not be conjugated. Formar parte de un nuevo negocio de comid Enseñar a un grupo de baile. I find it unnecessary to add more complications in the city center, which is already the most congested place of all. Why not build a hotel on the outskirts of the city? It would be much better to have a place to escape on weekends without dirty roads or annoying noises. Correct answer: B. called. Explanation: This section of the test is pretty simple. Think of two things: be aware of the context and be very vigilant with the tensions. In this case, the question is in a simple form of the past, which, as I have already warned you, sets an accent most of the time. So, don't fall into the trap and be confused with Option C! Because it is the same verb call (to call), but conjugated in the first person for simple presence senz. (Spokesman) We took to the streets to ask people what their opinion of the new hotel in the city centre is. - (Carmen) Actually, I think it's a very nice hotel. Because it is the same verb call (to call), but conjugated in the first person for simple presence senz. Thank you for the invitation. Yes, I'm leaving. Tomorrow afternoon. In the Los Caobos. Correct answer: C. Manana por la tarde. Explanation: On this question, the speaker tries to find out when the party is. Do you remember when I told you to keep an eye on the interrogating words? (Wh- Question words) good, now you see! The interrogation word Cu'endo means when, so when you come across that word, rest assured that you will have to respond with a certain time of day, a date, a month, or a day of the week. Porque estaba ocupada haciendo los deberes de la universidad. Porque quiero hacer jugo para mi mama. Alejandra comio palomitas de maiz. No, empeco a las 4 p.m. Correct answer: A. Porque estaba ocupada haciendo los deberes de la universidad. Explanation: Well, let's mix the times a little bit. Yes, this is a question with the Wh question word, but why you have to look beyond that specific word and realize that the question is asked in the past. Porque quiero might answer the why, but it doesn't meet the information required for the rest of the question, which is the explanation for why the woman skipped a day in the cinema the day before. So why didn't it go out? Jueves. Ayer. supermercado. carcel. (Spokesman) Fuimos a las callares a las personas cu'el era su opini6n con respecto al nuevo hotel en el centro de la ciudad. - (Carmen) Realmente, yo considero que es un hotel muy bonito. Su arquitectura y dise'eo son muy modernos y te hacen sentir como si estuvieses de viaje por Europa. Este hotel demuestra que todav'a hay gente interesada en invertir en nuestro pa'is, lo cual, en mi opini6n, es justo lo que necesitamos. Hay que revivir el turismo como fuente principal de ingresos y as' nuestra econom'a sera cada vez m's fuerte. Buen trabajo! - (Luis) Mr President, I would like to No me gusta para nada! Yo trabajo en la oficina postal, en el centro de la ciudad y ahora el tr'fico para llegar a mi trabajo se ha triplicado. Me parece innecesario agregar m'es complicaciones al centro de la ciudad, que ya de por si es el lugar m's congestionado de todos. Por qu' no construyen un hotel a las afueras? Sera mucho mejor tener un lugar a donde escapar los fines de semana, sin calles sucias ni ruidos molestos. Correct answer: C. supermercado. Explanation: It's vocabulary time! In this case, we talk about where we find what we need to cook delicious lasagna, which means we're talking about a place. Now you can ask: How do I know that the question speaks about a place when the word Donde is nowhere to be found? Among the options, yes, you will find words to display the time (ayer, jueves), but note the important presence of a preposition en in the clause, which means in/at, that is, to display location. The rest is pure logic, of all options the supermarket (supermercado) is the right answer. Answer.
