Pinoy henyo words for family

Edit Comments Share Pamilyang Pinoy Henyo 2012-2013 is an edition of the Pinoy Henyo segment that premiered on June 25, 2012 and lasted until January 19, 2013. This is the second edition of the Pamilyang Pinoy Henyo series. Thousands of families will face each other in the daily qualifying round of the competition. They then go through a series of elimination rounds before being narrowed down in the semi-finals. The contestants are further narrowed down to four pairs, which eventually competed in the grand final of the competition. The daily round of this edition follows the usual format and rules of the original Pinoy Henyo. The pair who correctly guess the word with the fastest time will advance to the jackpot round. In the jackpot round, the winning pair must take turns guessing three of the ten words delivered in less than three minutes. In the semi-final round and the final elimination round, couples receive a set of ten words from any category. Players can guess as many words as they can in three minutes. Couples may choose to move on, but they can't return to those missed words. Which same pair guesses the most words with the fastest time wins the game. The grand finals of the competition are the same as in previous qualifying rounds with a slight modification. This is the first time the game has introduced a points system in the grand final. Players can guess as many words as possible from a given ten words that came from any category. However, each word is worth a certain point from 1 to 3 points. The more difficult the word, the higher the point is worth. Wins the match of the pair with the most points. In the event of a draw in the number of points, the time when the first word is guessed will be the determining factor for the winner. Which day, which pair guesses the first word, the quicker word ultimately wins the game. The family clans that competed in the grand final were Despabiladerases, Santiagos, Hinayons and Ventureros. Siblings Trix Despabiladeras and Harvey Despabiladeras of Quezon City were the winners after guessing nine words in 2 minutes 24 seconds. They received a trophy, a new Chevrolet Spark ₱ 300,000 in cash. The Despabiladeras family is called the Pamilyang Perfect 10 for guessing all ten words in most of their games during the semifinals and recent qualifying rounds. In the grand final, he almost got a perfect ten once again, but the referees refused to count the point when he guessed the word Dumaguete City instead of just Dumaguete. Immediately after Dumaguete City was guessed, the players' LED headgear displayed the third word and the game continues, but the TELEVISION broadcast remained with Dumaguete. At the beginning of the fourth word, the television broadcast showed the result of the second word as Pass, and continued the right words the player guesses. At the end of the round, the players were shocked by the result of the second word because they did not call the Pass. The judges were also amazed and did not hear Pass, so they mistakenly announced that it was correct, but Vic Sotto explained that what is exactly written on the screen must be guessed and confirmed the wrong answer. Nevertheless, the confusion did not affect the final result. Results[edit | edit source] Color key: ✓ Player correctly guessed the word for one point. Due to the COVID-19 pandemic that led to the suspension of all concerts, Eat Bulaga! he decided to replay the videos back some of his most iconic segments and other special presentations back in the past. Community content is available through CC-BY-SA, unless otherwise noted. See source Comments Share 2004 January 2006-December 2006May 2009-May 201820 Pinoy Henyo is one of the most popular and most iconic segments of Eat Bulaga games!. Originally created to play exclusively by the show's hosts at noon, Pinoy Henyo has since expanded to reach people of all backgrounds, ages, genders, socioeconomic status, religions and more. With various editions throughout its run, the game has become really defining Tatak Eat Bulaga! Segment. Eat Bulaga! host Joey de Leon named the segment as pambansang laro ng bayan due to its extraordinary popularity as a Filipino salon game. Pinoy Henyo's review has a similar concept as the traditional Twenty Questions salon game, but instead of limiting the number of questions, the game has a time limit. In most editions, there are usually three pairs each day that play in the daily elimination round. The word is placed on the forehead of the guesser. The aim of the game is to guess the word correctly in less than two minutes. Word guessing must ask a series of deduction questions that become more detailed over time, while another player only needs to answer Oo (yes), Hindi (no), or Pwede (perhaps/possibly). Other answers will incur a three-second penalty. The pair with the fastest time heads to the jackpot round. There are two variations of the jackpot round. In the original format, one player is assigned to guess while the other player is to clue-giver. Unlike the elimination round, guessing must guess the guess category this time instead of a word. Meanwhile, the other player must provide words that are examples or are related to that particular category. For example, if players receive a special category of Mga Sinasawsaw sa Ketchup to guess, a clue-giver can give words such as chips, hotdog and chicken nuggets as clues. Players must guess three of the four predicted categories in less than two minutes. Guessing the jackpot round will award the pair additional cash prizes in addition to their current winnings. The original jackpot round format was used from May 2009 to March 2010. In the reformed jackpot round, the winning pair must guess the words this time instead of the category. Players receive ten words. After the elimination round, the pair will play again, taking turns this time correctly guessing three out of ten words in less than three minutes. Players can choose to move if they have difficulty with the word. For each guess of the word, an additional cash prize is added to their current winnings. The reformed jackpot round was more favoured than the original version and became a model for pinoy henyo jackpot rounds after March 2010. In extra time, Pinoy Henyo also adjusted the single-elimination tournament format to introduce more competition to the game. In general, every day the winners advance to the semi-finals to compete against each other. The semi-finalists advance to elimination until only a few pairs remain to compete in the grand final, which will ultimately determine Ultimate Pinoy Henyo's champions. Editions Throughout the duration, Pinoy Henyo has evolved into many different themes and releases to meet the needs of individual groups of people, often modifying the segment title to indicate the participants of the edition. His gameplay also experienced slight changes over time, depending on the capabilities and intellect of the players. 2006 Classic Pinoy Henyo (January 2006- December 2006) is played exclusively by Eat Bulaga! Hosts. Players are randomly joined together by selecting the host names from a fishbowl-like container. Another name Eat Bulaga! The host is randomly selected to sit on the collapsing seat of the dunk tank. One player must try to guess the word placed on his forehead by asking a series of deduce questions, while the other player must confirm or negotiate the questions to bring the guesser to the word. Each pair has two minutes. If the couple correctly guesses the word on time, the seat of the dunk tank collapses, dunking Eat Bulaga! into the water. If the couple does not guess the word within two minutes, the person in the dunk tank is safe. 2009 The revival of Pinoy Henyo (May 2009 - September 2009, November 2009 - January 2010) was opened to people of all ages, races, gender identity and socio-economic status who wanted to try the word guessing game. Each day, three couples compete against each other to guess the word in less than two minutes. For every couple, Eat Bulaga! a host who has a specific cash prize is allocated to the interior of a small chamber. If the couple correctly guesses their word within two minutes, they will receive a cash prize held by Eat Bulaga! Host. If the couple does not guess the word, an unpleasantly sticky or messy liquid substance is poured all over Eat Bulaga! host and will not receive any cash prize. The pair will advance to the jackpot round with the fastest time. In the jackpot round, one player is assigned to guess, while the other player is assigned to a clue-giver. Unlike the qualifying round, guesswork must guess three of the four specific categories this time instead of the word. Meanwhile, the other player must provide words that are examples or are related to a specific category. For example, if players receive a specific category of Mga Gamit ng Barbero to guess, the donor tips can as tips give words such as suklay, gunting, kapa and hair clipper. The players have two minutes. Guessing the jackpot round will give the pair extra cash prizes. From time to time celebrities and other celebrities have been invited to take on the Pinoy Henyo challenge, which are usually special editions held on Saturdays. Pinoy Henyo: Pop Cola Edition (September 7, 2009 – November 7, 2009) is a follow-up to the previous Pinoy Henyo, which was sponsored by Filipino soft drinks brand Pop Cola. To join the game, novice participants must bring three Pop Cola tansans or one Pop Cola bottle cap for in-game auditions. There is also a chance for homeviewers to become home partners and win cash prizes during live streaming of the segment. The basic sponsored edition game is essentially based on the same concept and principles as the previous original edition. Couples compete with each other to guess the word in less than two minutes. For every couple, Eat Bulaga! the host who holds a specific cash prize is allocated to the inside of the chamber. If the couple correctly guesses their word within two minutes, they will receive a cash prize held by Eat Bulaga! Host. If the steam doesn't guess the word, a sticky liquid substance is poured all over Eat Bulaga! the host from above the chamber, and the steam leaves empty-handed. Pair with the fastest timeadvances for the jackpot round. In the jackpot round, one player is assigned to guess, while the other player is assigned to a clue-giver. The guesser must guess three of the four specific categories based on the examples given by the donor. players are given two minutes.

The pair receives an additional cash prize for each guessed category. Pinoy Henyo: Pop Cola Edition is the first edition to be played. Three pairs with the fastest time in the entire edition are invited back to take on pinoy henyo's challenge for the last time. Cebuan's friends Roselyn and Jocille were hailed as the big winner after guessing their word as soon as possible, receiving more than $100,000 ₱ in cash. The grand final took place on November 7, 2009. 2010 Pinoy Henyo: Pop Cola Edition - Isa Pa! (February 1, 2010 – March 27, 2010) is the second edition of Pinoy Henyo, sponsored by the Pop Cola soft drinks brand. Subtitled Isa Pa! is added because the third member must accompany a pair of players in the game by entering pinoy henyo chamber with Eat Bulaga! Host. If the third member's friends do not guess the word in less than two minutes during the daily rounds, it will be flooded with sloppy liquid substance, and the group will not receive any cash prize. The basic game of sponsored edition basically follows the same concept as previous editions with a slight accent. This time, each pair receives 20,000 ₱ the start of the game. However, this initial cash prize decreases by 2,000 ₱ every 15 seconds after the word guessing game starts. For example, if a couple guesses their word in 33 seconds, their entire group will receive only $16,000 ₱ from their initial cash prize. Their third member will be saved from pinoy henyo chamber and will receive an additional cash prize that Eat Bulaga! Host. If they are not able to guess the word, the group leaves empty-handed. The pair will advance to the jackpot round with the fastest time. In the jackpot round, one player is assigned to guess, while the other player is assigned to a clue-giver. The guesser must guess three of the four specific categories based on the examples given by the donor. The players have two minutes. The pair receives an additional cash prize for each guessed category. Pinoy Henyo: Pop Cola Edition is the second edition to be included in the big game. Three pairs with the fastest time in the entire edition are invited back to take on pinoy henyo's challenge for the last time. Gina Fernando, Vernie Torrero and Mhatet Dacallos were hailed as big winners after they guessed their word as soon as possible, receiving more than $100,₱ in cash. The grand final took place on March 27, 2010. The original Pinoy Henyo (March 2010-May 2011) returned once again after the end of Pinoy Henyo: Pop Cola Edition - Isa Pa!. The original title card is retained and the basic game and segment rules remain the same. However, the jackpot round in the segment has been radically changed. In the daily round, three pairs compete against each other word in less than two minutes. For every couple, Eat Bulaga! the host who holds a specific cash prize is allocated to the inside of the chamber. If the couple correctly guesses their word within two minutes, they will receive a cash prize held by Eat Bulaga! Host. If the couple does not guess the word, the couple leaves it empty-handed. The pair will advance to the jackpot round with the fastest time. In the reformed jackpot round, the winning pair must guess the words this time instead of the category, as in previous editions. Players receive ten words. The pair will play again, this time for a change, to correctly guess three out of ten words in less than three minutes. Players can choose to move if they have difficulty guessing the word. For each guess of the word, an additional cash prize is added to their current winnings. The maximum win in a jackpot round is $50,000 ₱. A formatted jackpot round of this edition would become a model for the jackpot rounds of future Pinoy Henyo editions. The 2011 Pinoy Henyo: Intercollegiate Edition (May 16, 2011 – June 18, 2011) is the first edition of the Pinoy Henyo tournament, in which only one pair has been declared a big winner. However, the basic game follows the same rules and gameplay of the original Pinoy Henyo. Students from various universities and colleges in the Philippines face off in a series of elimination rounds to be narrowed to six pairs in the grand final. The grand final of the competition is in the same format as the jackpot game in a typical daily round. Each pair receives ten different words of a specific category. One couple can get Hayop, while the other couple can get Pagkain. Each pair must take turns correctly guessing three words as soon as possible in less than three minutes. The pair with the fastest time and the most guessed words wins the game. Dennis Racelis and Dhang Lucelo of Rizal University of Technology were hailed as the big winners of the competition. This 2011 edition is the first season of Pinoy Henyo's Intercollegiate Edition series. Pamilyang Pinoy Henyo (June 20, 2011-November 12, 2011) offers thousands of families and their relatives from different parts of the country who faced each other in a series of elimination rounds until only seven couples were left to participate in the grand final. The grand finals of this edition follow the same basic concept as pinoy henyo grand finale: Intercollegiate Edition. Couples only need to guess three words in the shortest possible time to win the match. The only difference is that all the great finalists will get the same ten words from one category to make the game fairer. The pair with the fastest time and the most guessed words wins the game. Siblings Jing Cubilla and Jian Cubilla of Barugo, Leyte won the competition. In 2011, this is the first season of the Pamilyang Pinoy Henyo series. Who has the fastest time will advance to the jackpot round. The jackpot round contains the winning pair of ten words. The pair must guess three out of ten words to receive additional cash winnings. Since this edition is not an elimination tournament like previous editions, there are no grand finals. 2017 Once again, the classic Pinoy Henyo (January 3, 2017 - March 6, 2017) was resumed at the beginning of the new year. Throughout the edition, different groups of five friends are invited to play word guessing and win cash prizes. Two representatives from each group will do a guessing game. Which one guesses the word with the fastest time to advance to the jackpot round to earn extra cash wins. The winning pair will play again, this time for a change, to correctly guess three out of ten words in three minutes. This edition does not have a grand final. This non-themed edition uses the same logo as the 2016 theme. Batang Pinoy Henyo (March 20, 2017 – June 17, 2017) is the second season of the Batang Pinoy Henyo series. It contains different groups of children who faced each other in daily rounds, semi-finals and qualifying rounds, until only six groups remained to compete in the grand finals. Each child group has three members. Two children are assigned to play the word guessing game, while a third friend is placed with Henyo Robot to be pied on his face in case two other friends don't correctly guess the word. In the grand final, the great finalists receive the same set of ten words that can come from each category. Players need to take turns to correctly guess as many words as possible within three minutes. The pair with the most words wins the contest. Foreignry & Pinoy Henyo (June 19, 2017 – June 29, 2017) features different pairs of one foreigner and a Filipino on The Noontime Show. A foreigner is automatically assigned as a guessing word, while a Filipino player is a responder. The pair who finish the round with the fastest time are heading for the jackpot round. In the jackpot round, the winning pair will play again, taking turns this time to correctly guess three out of ten words in three minutes. Since this edition is not an elimination tournament like previous editions, there are no grand finals. Pinoy Henyo Christmas Party (December 4, 2017 – Season 2 Special Christmas edition as a way to promote and celebrate the signature Eat Bulaga! Pinoy Henyo segment, which has successfully become a traditional game that is often played at filipino Christmas party. This Christmas edition follows the same concept and rules as the classic Pinoy Henyo. Each of the three pairs must guess a specific word in less than two minutes. Who has the fastest time will advance to the jackpot round. The jackpot round contains the winning pair of ten words. The pair must guess three out of ten words to receive additional cash winnings. Since this edition is not an elimination tournament like previous editions, there are no grand finals. Other special editions and minor 2017 Pinoy Henyo: Celebrity EditionAdd photo for this gallery 2018 Classic Pinoy Henyo (January 1, 2018 - February 5, 2018) was restored at the beginning of the new year just after the pinoy henyo christmas party edition. This is a non-topic edition in which ordinary participants are paired with celebrities and other well-known personalities to play a word guessing game. Every day, three pairs of one star and one ordinary person have to guess the word in less than two minutes. Regardless of the pair, they will guess the word with the fastest time to advance to the jackpot round to earn extra cash winnings. The winning pair will play again, this time for a change, to correctly guess three out of ten words in three minutes. There are no grand finals. The release also includes a new logo for the classic segment. Pinoy Henyo Kids (May 3, 2018 – July 4, 2018) is a reincarnation of the Batang Pinoy Henyo series for ages 8 and under, which, in addition to the traditional word-guessing game, offers a whole new interactive motion sensor challenge. In a group of three children, one child must play the catch game first to earn extra add or double their winnings. Two other players must then play the word guessing game. Which group has the fastest time to advance to the jackpot round to earn extra cash prizes. 2020 Pinoy Henyo Online is an online edition of the classic game that was returned due to the COVID-19 pandemic. Due to social limitations of distancing, participants participated remotely via zoom video conferencing. Their partners for the game can be one of the hosts present in the studio.
