Weight Class: 157 Hometown/High School: Columbus, Ind./Columbus East Thomas Corhern, TTU Sports Information HOUSTON, Texas - Tennessee Tech Hall of Faund Fame Barry Butch Wilmore has a lot of experience leading space missions. So when astronaut Chris Ferguson withdrew from the first manned boeing CST-100 Starliner mission, Wilmore was an easy choice to lead the way. Wilmore is giving the new vessel a complete list of NASA veterans. The CST-100 Starliner was developed as part of NASA's Commercial Crew Program to develop and build a private spacecraft that NASA could use to transport astronauts to the International Space Station Shuttle. Shuttle. in 2011. As Wilmore is now training for this new vessel, the program will be ready for its first manned flight by June 2021. Plans for a new test flight are set for December or January. Wilmore, the NCAA's 2018 highest honor winner - the Theodore Roosevelt Award - served as a shuttle pilot for sts-129 aboard Atlantis and was commander aboard the ISS for Expedition 42. Its crew profile lists 2,848 Earth orbits, 178 days in space and four spacewalks. Walk-on in the 1982 season. Wilmore started the last three games of the campaign, then was sidelined in 1983 with a knee injury. He returned as a strong safety in the 1984 season. Wilmore earned a degree in engineering in May 1985 and became one of the first tech graduate student-athletes when he finished his 1985 year as an outside linebacker. He thrived that season, recording 143 tackles - standing as the third-highest single-season total in Tech history. Against Austin Peay, Wilmore recorded 21 stops, the second-highest single-game mark. He was selected to the College Sports Information Directors of the American Academic All-District Team and received the Scholar-Athlete Award from the National Football Foundation and the College Hall of Fame. Wilmore earned a master's degree in electrical engineering from the University of Tennessee. After his Tech career, Wilmore became a Navy officer and pilot, logging 6,200 hours of flight time and 663 aircraft carrier landing over four deployments. He flew support missions during Operation Desert Shield, Desert Storm and South Watch while flying 21 combat missions during Operation Desert Storm. Wilmore was selected by NASA to join its astronaut program in 2000. He was inducted into the Tech Sports Hall of Fame in 2003, was appointed an engineer by the Tech College of Engineering in 2010 and was awarded an honorary doctorate in 2012. Wilmore is currently a board member of tech. Photography | Thomas Corhern, TTU Sports Information ©2020 Walmart Stores, Inc. Inc.
