Welcome to my Classic WoW Blackfathom Deeps Guide! In the guide below, I will show you how best to make the most of your trip to Profundezas Negras. This guide includes all guests, bosses and loot associated with BFD, as well as a brief dungeon overview. But let's jump right to it! Profundezas Negras is a level 24-32 dungeon located in the Vale Gris Classic WoW. It can be accessed by a staircase-lined shaft, which requires one to swim through an underwater entrance. Deeps consists of a series of watery caves leading deep into the temple dedicated to hydra, Aku'mai. In line with Patch 1.12, groups of up to 10 players can enter Blackfathom Deeps together, although 5 are considered typical group size. The entrance to Blackfathom Deeps Located along the Zoram Strand of Vale Gris, Profundezas Negras may be available to the Alliance, who flying astranaar can head northwest along the main road to find themselves headed towards the entrance. For horde players, you could fly to the Sun Rock Retreat cordilheira das Torres de Pedra, head up through the Talondeep Path into the Vale Gris, then follow the main road in the northwest until you reach the Zoram Strand, to find the entrance to Profundezas Negras.Dungeons are usually ready for five players, consisting of the following roles: tank to keep the threat, absorb damage, and avoid mobs to kill DPS and healer. Usually Tank Warrior is equipping the shield and using proper threat agent capabilities such as and . Check out our Tank Warrior Rotation Tips if you want to tank dungeon in your party and learn about important abilities. Three DPS: All classes can deal with DPS, but the most popular DPS while leveling are Mage, Warrior, Rogue, Sorts and Hunter. Hybrids get DPS, but they usually end up healing. A healer who keeps the party alive and revives dead players. Usually Healing Priest due to their versatile healing kit and buffs like, but Druids, Paladins and Shaman can also heal. Profundezas Negras is not super demanding to have specific party members, although crowd control is always good because there are several big packs you have to pull. The couple available at this level are: In addition, many packages include a wheel. Surely there is someone who can anesthetly, fear or interrupt spell casting. Despite the fact that BFD is one of the longest lower-level prison cells, crowds who deserve special recognition. Like all dungeon runs, just make sure to pull slowly and methodically, CC the extra trash mobs in larger packs, and keep an eye on the healer's mana. Ghamoo-ra is level 25 elite Turtle located on BFD. He's the first boss of the dungeon. AbilitiesStrategyGhamoo-ra is a simple tank and slap catch - the boss has a huge amount of armor and takes a significant reduction in damage. Every so often, he sheds his primary ability, so make sure to stay apart. This is a simple meeting with very little explanation required. LootLady Sarevess is level 25 Elite Naga located in the northwest cave after Ghamoo-ra. He's patrolling his cave with two more Naga. AbilitiesStrategySarevess patrols the area with two more Nagaga. Make sure to clear the cave before pulling her and her 2 bodyguards. Make sure to CC at least one of the bodyguards before involving him. Focus add down, go sarevess, then collect sweet loot. HopeGellhast is 26. He's a volunteer boss. AbilitiesStrategyGellhast is an easy encounter with a small twist - his room is full of Murlocs. While fighting Geli doesn't need an explanation, you need to be very careful when pulling the inserts around the room before pulling the boss. Gellhast has a nasty net ability that can leave your tank in an awkward position later to pull out additional mobs, so it's important that you clear your room first before pulling him out. When he's dead, click on his back-to-back chest to get a little buff. LootSenhor do Crepúsculo Kelris is level 27 elite Orc located in the pen-ultimate room BFD. AbilitiesStrategyKelris is not a particularly dangerous boss, although his sleep ability may catch his healer off guard. Make sure to keep the tank topped out in case the healer has slept, and have all hybrid classes to heal the tank when such an event happens. The Aku/May event at LootThe Fire is a small event after Lord Kelris, who is needed to open the door to the BFD's last boss, Aku'Mai. At the bottom of the Azshara statue, where Kelris directs his magic, there are four braziers in each corner of the statue pedestal. When Kelris is dead and the room is clear, have your tank click one brazier, activating the one wave event. Each wave spawns a series of mobs that must be killed. The first wave, the tortoise wave, is the hardest. Turtles do tremendous damage and require an oftank to pick one of them up, otherwise their tank will die. Pet classes and rogue evasion tanks are very useful here. When the wave is over, make sure to top off your group's health and mana before clicking on the next brazier. All 4 braziers and then all 4 waves must be conquered before the door of Aku'Mai's air opens ... Velho Serra'kis is level 26 Loch Ness monster located nearby baofion. AbilitiesStrategySerra'kis is a voluntary loot pinta without real abilities. The only thing you should be mindful of is your breath a metre underwater. Remember that classic wow, breath meter lasts much less. LootCapa do Trilhador ReluzenteAku'mai is a level 28 hydra located at the end of the BFD. AbilitiesStrategyAku'mai may have a tank and slap a huge single-goal injury due to its frenzied ability. Make sure to stay away from your poisonous cloud so that the healer can focus on healing the tank. Hybrid classes should offer healing here if possible, and the tank should use a health pot if it has one. In general, it's a very simple fight. Loot While there is a great list of Bind-on-Equip items dungeon, one of it's most sought after items is Cajado do Vidente Abençoado, which is one of the few great healing weapons below the level of 20. Please check out the best and worst BoE drops in a comprehensive list. There are 9 total guests associated with Blackfathom Deeps.
