Psalm 23 verse 5 meaning

Psalm 23:5 You prepare a table in front of me in the presence of my enemies. You're anointing my head with oil. My glass is overflowing. Explanation and commentary of Psalm 23:5This is a powerful picture of what it means to walk with God. There is nothing to fear in the darkest valley (Ps 23:4). We're the sheep of his pasture. It will protect us, provide us with food, give us shelter and gently correct us when we are misled. Our legacy from the Lord includes his kindness and mercy (P.S. 23:6). With faith, we walk with the Lord in all the trials of life. Unfortunately, many Christians struggle with great fear because of their reluctance to surrender to God all their lives. We are not in a position to protect ourselves in the valley of the shadow of death. We are not in a position to withstand the presence of our enemies alone. No one's ever heard of a lone sheep. And sheep without a shepherd (Mount 9:36) are only harassed and helpless. Breaking the basic parts of Psalm 23:5 #1 You can prepare a table before me ... The picture here is impressive. God, the Lord of the universe would serve our table. When we surrender our lives to Him, we find him capable of providing more than enough for us. He is an abundant provider to those in his household, and his children never go begging for bread (Ps 37:25 #2). in the presence of my enemies. Again, the picture is impressive. Imagine yourself at a nice table enjoying a feast. All around are all the demons of hell and the people in your life who hate you the most. And they can't touch you. You can forget it's there because you're not being asked to protect yourself. You have a shepherd who has very good staff. You can eat peacefully. We can abandon God's purposes for us fearlessly because we fear and love the Chief Shepherd above all things#3 You anoint my head with oil; The sheep were anointed by shepherds to keep out the deadly bugs. God protects us from the things that would hurt us. The image is also a reminder of the cast of oil poured over the Psalmist's head by Samuel (1 Sam 16:13) to single him out for the work that had called him, as king of the people of God. Inside Psalm 23 is part of God's hospitality to his people, putting them apart at his blessed table, fed and protected#4 overflowing my cup. Not only does God provide what we need. He always gives more. Because our glass is overflowing, we can be as generous as our Father and use what he has given us to be his blessing to other people. In this psalm, we see a beautiful portrait of God as our good and faithful shepherd, who leads us from still waters and guides us on the path of peace. He is indeed worthy of our worship and praise. He's the one who supports and protects. Who blesses and comforts, who offers abundant good things for us, in the presence of our enemies. And he's the one who's been harassing us in heavenly places. The image that is painted, in this beloved psalm of David, is that of our faithful God, our merciful and kind Savior - our good and loving Shepherd, who holds us, protects us and provides us, through all the changing scenes of life. Our merciful God recognized himself for the first time as 'Jehovah-Jira', our noble Supplier, to Abraham. when he was stopped, by the Lord, from offering his son, Isaac, as a sacrifice of love and obedience. In all the two wills, we discover God as the one who provides rain for the earth, food for the crows, father for the childless and a righteous judge for the widow. Our faithful God is the one who fed the hungry crowd, provides solace to the broken, provides help to the weak, strength to the tired, hope to the afflicted and salvation to all who trust Christ Jesus for the forgiveness of their sins - for while we were still sinners, God by His grace provided a relative- Redeemer, to save His people from his sins. The good and loving God provides us with all our needs, according to His riches in glory, through our Savior Jesus Christ. And here in this beloved and oft repeated psalm of David, we discover .. The Lord has prepared a table in front of us in the presence of our enemies. The good Sheep Shepherd has anointed our heads with oil, and our glass of blessing is overflowing with His kindness and love. Although we may suffer on all sides. Pressed, confused and persecuted for the sake of justice, we have not been forgotten or abandoned by our heavenly Lord. Because Jesus is with us forever and ever, even until the end of the season. Has a table in front of us, in the presence of those who hate and despise us, and has covered it with all we need and every spiritual blessing - which he bought for us through His blood, on the cross of Calvary. Although we live in the of this fallen, global system, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ. and the peace of God, who guards our hearts in the midst of a corrupt and twisted generation. The oil poured over our heads is the soothing ointment of His endless love. It is a precious promise to all His children, for we have become kings and priests of the living God - and we have the guarantee that His word is true and His promises are Yes and Amen in Christ. I'm sure David and I can proclaim. The glass of my blessing, for His grace is boundless, His love is boundless, and His mercy endures from one generation to the next. Heavenly Father, how I glorify you and thank you for Your Word and the comfort and strength it gives me. Thank you for being my shepherd and my supplier. Thank you for being with me through the darkest days, as well as during the sunny season, and thank you for having provided everything I need in accordance with your riches in glory. Thank you for being my God and savior. You have indeed prepared a table that overflows before me in the presence of my enemies, and you have anointed my head with the oil of joy. My glass is overflowing with Your endless blessings, for which I praise and thank you, in the name of Jesus AMEN. Page 2 The earth is of the Lord, and all it contains, the world, and those who dwell in it. Psalm 24:1 (NASB) Psalm 24 prepares us for the magnificent entrance of the King of Glory to the great city of Jerusalem. They remind us that this coming king of glory is the eternal Lord of the Hosts. He is the great Creator and invisible St. Of the universe and He is the one to whom all the inhabitants of the earth belong. The first verse makes an incredible statement about the ownership of the world and everything contained within it limits - The earth is of the Lord, and their fullness. The world, and all those who dwell in it, belong to the God of our Salvation. The earth is the Lord's, and all it contains is David's bold statement. The world belongs to God, along with all those who dwell within his borders. A brief reflection in the first chapter of Genesis reminds us of the incredible importance of this simple statement, because with the word of His mouth the earth was said to exist as the Sprit of God hovers over the darkness ... on the face of the deep. And the light and the darkness. day and night. land and sea; heaven and earth. sun and moon and the construction of the large vaulted firmament, which separates the water above the water below, was assembled with supernatural precision. No wonder the morning stars sang together and all the sons of God cried joy when the foundations were laid Land. the seas exploded from the womb of the morning and the chains of the Pleiades were secured. But herbs and grass? fruit and trees; air birds, fish fish the sea and every living creature soon filled the earth and they were instructed to be fruitful and multiply - along with man, who was built from the dust of the earth to the image and likeness of God - who gave his own breath to his own life in the heart of man. David was right to praise the Lord and ponder the magnificence of His Face and His plans. He was right to recognize God's sovereignty and the greatness of Edu. Let us never forget to rejoice that the earth and everything in it... the world and all its inhabitants belong to the Lord. Let us remember that he was the one who laid the foundations for the seas and established it in the rivers. Let us never forget that he is the immortal, invisible God who has placed eternity in the hearts of all His people and that by believing in His only born Son we have the forgiveness of sin and eternal life. Heavenly Father, how we glorify you and thank you for being the great king of glory and the Lord of the hosts, who created the world and everything in it. May we never forget to rejoice that our names are written in heaven, for You are our Creator and Redeemer, and the blood of Christ has been saved. Praise your holy name, DON'T. Prepare a table in front of me in front of my enemies. You're anointing my head with oil. My glass is running out. Psalm 23:5 NKJAll through this study of Psalm 23, we have seen how the Lord is our good Sheherd, our Protector, our daily Provider, our peace and rest, and guide us through every circumstance. We know of God's faith, that he leads us through dark valleys while watching us with His rod and staff. All this is amazing enough to motivate us to praise Him, but we may wonder what will happen after we pass through the valley? Then what does the Lord do? Fortunately, the Lord is not content to leave us alone. In the last part of this Bible study, Understanding Psalm 23, let's look at the rest of the chapter (verses five to eight) and discover what more the Lord does to bless us starting with his sacred table. I'm preparing a table, I remember visiting my aunt Jeanne with my family when I was about eight years old. It was Thanksgiving and almost every member of my family was there. I knew most of them, but not all of them. I met cousins I hadn't even heard of! But, there we were, all crammed into my aunt's beautiful house for a great day of fun and a wonderful celebration. The men were watching football, the boys were in the basement playing billiards and cards, and the girls and women were packed into Aunt Jeanne's kitchen preparing food. I wasn't allowed to cook, but. allowed to squeeze the huge table (actually two huge tables). With the help of my aunt, I carefully put the dishes in each setting, then the silverware, napkins, salad bowls, and glasses. Then I put out the condiments - butter, salt and pepper, cream, sauce, and ketchup for the kids. Ended. Ended. it's a beautifully defined table. That's kind of what the Lord does for us. In verse 5 of Psalm 23, he prepares a beautiful table for us, only that instead of being with friends and family, he is set before our enemies or opponents. Why is God doing this? Many people believe verse two is where God promises to provide for us. Remember, that verse was to make us lie on green pastures (Psalm 23:2). Now we know that green meadows mean something else. The painting, however, is a better illustration of how God provides and satisfies us. Provision and Satisfaction When we trust God, Psalm 23:5 reminds us that he can and will do anything to provide what you need, when you need it, until your soul feels satisfied. Even if you have walked through a dark valley, perhaps the darkest of all the valleys ever, God will lead you through it so that you can successfully reach the other side. Danger will be behind you and you will jump into His wonderful light. Then, after you leave the valley, you'll find his sacred table. The painting depicts abundance, satisfaction, and eternal love. The people of God can enjoy at His table endless love and grace and no enemy of any kind can ever take it away. They can only feel annoyed that you were victorious and prosperous despite them. To repeat the point, the psalmist reminds us of valleys and the table of God again in Psalm 118:5-6:I called the Lord into danger. The Lord answered me and put me in a broad position. The Lord is on my side. I won't be afraid. What can man do to me? And, in the New Testament, Peter says it again in 1st Place Peter 1:3:You who gave me all the things that concern both life and piety, all the things that are required for both the body and the soul, for time and eternity. Don't give in to Satan's lies and tricks. Keep walking with God until you reach His sacred table. It is there you will find what you are looking for in great abundance

- its provision and absolute satisfaction. Sounds incredible, doesn't it? But God doesn't stop there. Anointing OilThe second half of verse five says, You anoint my head with oil; My glass is running. Every time we read in the Bible of the word something or someone, it is a beautiful depiction of God's blessing. But, it's not just a blessing for now or even in your current situation. According to bible scholar Matthew Henry and the full commentary of the Bible written in 1710, God's anointing in this verse refers to The One who blesses you for your entire life with the Holy Spirit so much that the cup of salvation Overflowing. Its anointing is not only to meet your needs, but also to give you ornament and pleasure. In other words, after bringing you through the dark valley, you can look forward to the victory of reaching the Lord's table and His anointing with the Holy Spirit. Did you get that? Is that it? win when you get to the other side. It's almost like God hits you in the back and says, Well done! Just because you hung yourself in there and trusted Him. Hallelujah! The whole experience serves to strengthen our faith, to keep us closer to our heavenly Father and to realize how faithful he really is. If we can grab this, then we can boldly proclaim without hesitation the truth of verse six:Surely goodness and mercy will follow me all the days of my life and I will dwell in the house of the Lord forever God is FaithfulPsalm 23 is a famous chapter of the Bible in a profound sense that is particularly encouraging in times of trouble , whatever it may be. I have thought many times of God's words and promises in Psalm 23 and have brought amazing comfort to me when it seemed that there was no way out of the valley. Now I know... Shepherd's rod and staff protect me because he calls me his. It provides my daily needs and gives me peace when I don't know what tomorrow will bring. He keeps me on the right track and helps me make the right choices so I don't wander away from him. I never have to be afraid because he's always loyal. After passing through the valley, he prepares a table of abundance for me and blesses me with the Holy Spirit and salvation, because I continued to trust Him even when it was difficult to do so. The main takeaway of Psalm 23 you should always remember is that God is faithful. Always. No failure. Period. That's a promise you can count on no matter what you're going through. His mercy and kindness follow you and invite you to stay in His house forever. All you have to do is let him lead you. What's going on in your life today? Are you going to trust him? Go to Psalm 23 for encouragement and when you need your hope renewed. Rediscover God's great, endless, unchanging love and faith in you. You.
