It is the second book in The Dark Artifices, chronologically the fourth series of The Shadowhunter Chronicles. The book was set in the Los Angeles area in 2012. The names of each chapter come from Edgar Allan Poe's poem Dreamland. [2] Plot A month after lady midnight events, Clary Fairchild and Jace Herondale visit the Los Angeles Institute to ask Mark Blackthorn about the Faer entrance because they believe Clary's brother Sebastian Morgenstern had left the gun in the hands of seelie queen. Clary confesses to Emma Carstairs that she dreamed of her death. Shadow hunters search Malcolm Fade's house and find out he had been dating Unseelie King. When they return, the institute will have taken over centurions graduating from Scholomanche, led by Zara Dearborn, who reveals he is engaged to Diego Rosales. This upsets Cristina because she has just made up with him. Meanwhile, Kit, after learning that he is a Shadow Hunter named Christopher Herondale, tries to leave the institute several times, but Jace and Ty have persuaded him. However, he is prevented from visiting the local shadow market because of his position. Clary and Jace will leave for Faerie later. Emma, Julian and Mark are at Gwyn's house in a wild hunt and are asking Mark to save Kieran. Kieran had killed Unseelie King's right-hand man, Iarlath, and will be executed. The trio and Cristina step on Faerie, where they navigate through its treacherous environment as they meet their desires: Emma and Julian's forbidden love and Cristina and Markus' new love for each other, tying the latter to a curse. When they get to Unseelie Court, the group will sue the king by fighting to free Kieran, and Emma will become champion. He hesitates for a moment when his opponent takes his father's face, but manages to kill When a group leaves Kieran, the unseelie blessing chases them until Seelie-faie, Nene, arrives at the last minute to take them to Seelie Queen. Nene turns out to be Mark's aunt, her mother Nerissa's sister. In Los Angeles, Kit, Ty and Livvy are spying on Zara, who wants to plan an institute and plans to destroy all underworldly people. When they return, they will see Uncle Blackthorns Arthur rambling inconsistently, and Diana Wrayburn will talk about his condition. The institute is attacked by a resurrected Malcolm Fade, who still demands blackthorn's sacrifice. Arthur sacrifices himself as Diana portals herself and everyone else to the London Institute. Malcolm kills Arthur to bring back his lover Annabel Blackthorn, who kills him instantly before walking away with black volume. The whole event will be watched by Emma and others in Faere. Seelie Queen offers Julian a way to break her parabatai bond with Emma in exchange for picking up black volume and then asks others for help to take down Unseelie King. He chooses Kieran as ambassador between the Shadow Hunts and the Blessings. Kieran, on the other hand, appeals to Cristina. To keep her happy, Mark and Emma agree to stop pretending to be connected. The group then rides with Wild Hunt towards the London Institute, where they meet the others again. After receiving his first poem, Kit meets the ghost of Jessamine Lovelace and learns about Malcolm's former home in England, located in Polperro. There they learned the full story of Malcolm and Annabel's past: the duo were captured trying to leave with Black Volume, and Annabel was executed after being believed to have been abandoned by Malcolm. Annabel visits Julian, but refuses to give up black volume. Julian and Emma learned about dad from the church where Annabel was resurrected in Talland. However, it turns out to be a trap and they have no choice but to burn down the church using the elevated shape of their parabatai bond. In London, Kit, Ty and Livvy visit the former Blackthorn estate and find a crystal containing Annabel's memories. Afterwards, they visit the local Shadow Market and meet a wizard named Shade, who helps them pick up the memories. When demons attack them, Magnus Bane arrives to help them return to the institute. Kit and Ty find a hidden corridor at the Cornwall Institute and leave behind a letter to Annabel. Cristina gets close to Kieran and follows him as he visits his brother Aداon to convince him to take the Unseelie throne after the death of their father. But the other brother, Erec, is ambushing them. Kieran kills Erec, but not before the latter tells him that their father has sent Mannan's riders hunting the group. The dru is secretly visited by Diego's brother Jaime. She says Zara is engaged to Diego so she can take the Rosales family heirlooor, Eternidad, which is currently in Jaime's possession. Dru touches Eternidad and is briefly transported to Faerie, where he meets a boy named Ash. When Cristina and Kieran try to reconnect with Aداon, they have been linked to Unseelie King trying to manipulate Kieran by restoring his memories. Kieran's upset, but Cristina agrees to forgive Mark. Diana's going to Idris to talk to Consul Penhallow. She starts dating Gwyn, confessing to being transgender, which is why she declines Penhallow's offer to run the L.A. Institute because she doesn't want to come out. They save Kit, Ty and Livvy when they're attacked by riders who also attack Emma and Julian until the former manages to kill one of them. Diana discovers that dying countries have appeared in Idris and learns that they are not an isolated case. Magnus is bringing Emma and Julian back to the London Institute. There the Riders attack once again, but annabel beats those who got Ty's message and came to their aid. He agrees to testify in Clave and give Julian a black volume, which he will take a copy on his phone if Magnus protects him and gives him the Blackthorn estate. Magnus lifts the curse of Cristina and Markus and also advises Julian to speak with inquisitor Robert Lightwood so emma and Julian can voluntarily deport and legally have a relationship. Emma, Cristina and the Blackthorns stepped in the direction of iris, while Diego takes Kieran to Scholomanche for his safety. The Blackthorns meet their eldest sister Helen, who is now engaged to the consul's daughter, Alene. When it's Annabel's turn to be questioned, Magnus suddenly falls ill, leaving her unable to protect her. He is repeatedly insulted and experiences flashbacks from his last interrogation. Freaking out, he steals a mortal sword and kills Robert with it before he commits a frenzied murder among Clave. Emma suddenly manages to destroy the mortal sword with her own sword, Cortana. Annabel's using the shrapnel to kill Livvy.
