During the Rainbow Six Siege Pro League finals in Japan at the weekend, Ubisoft revealed that Capitão would be the next operator receiving an Elite set, called Responsa, depicts a younger Capitão from early in his career. The Elite sets trades its tactical gear for a simple jeans, jeans, a full hair. To see when you can pick it up and how much it will cost, read below. Ubisoft has not officially announced when the Responsa Elite set will be available, but we can make a good guess based on what we know. Ubi said the skin will release shortly after the launch of Operation Shifting Tides. There is also no official release for Shifting Tides, but based on Ubi's typical release schedule, it is likely to begin in the first week of December. With that in mind, expect Capitão's Elite set to release early-to-mid-December. (Image credit: Ubisoft) Capitão Elite skin priceCapitão's Elite set is likely to cost the same as every other Elite set: 1,800 R6 Credits. That amounts to about $15 when you buy bundles of 1,200 and 600 credits. If you are a Year 4 Pass holder, the Elite set is discounted to 1,620 credits. Since you can only buy R6 Credits in bundles, Year Pass holders will probably still need to buy the full $15 credits. What everything is included in Capitão's Elite set? The Responsa Elite set comes with the casual Capitão headgear and uniform of his time working in the favela of Brazil (don't worry, he still has the eyepatch). weathered golden weapon skin for its tactical crossbow, Para-308 assault rifle, M249 LMG, and PRB92 sidearm. The set also includes the Elite Capitão chibi weapon charm, which can be attached to any weapon in the game. Finally, you get the football judges victory animation seen in the trailer above. Victory animations are only seen if the skin is used on the round your team wins the game and you're the MVP, so it's especially rare to see one pop-up. On.
