Tyler's alternate song between the title character Blurryface and Tyler himself feel nostalgic for childhood innocence. According to Joseph Tyler, Blurrface represents everything I do as a person, but also everyone around, about whom they are insecure. Much of the song's music video was filmed at Josh Dunn's childhood home in Ohio. Since the house number is listed, Josh says his parents have had to cancel the landline to end endless calls coming in at all hours. Stress Out received two Grammy Award nominations: Record of the Year and Best Pop Duo/Band Performances, winner of the latter. Tyler and Josh take off their pants before going on stage to accept the award. Award.
