Better homes and gardens colebrook outdoor porch swing

1/9 Jupiter Images/Getty ImagesWhen buying a balcony swing, there are a few important factors to consider. Before you do anything else, look for a place for your new balance sheet. You will need to measure the space to know the size of the balance sheet and determine if there are appropriate mounting brackets. If not, you can always opt for a standalone drive. So consider the best material for your new balcony swing. Wood is classic and durable, but not the most comfortable without cushions, while quick-drying fabrics will work well in areas exposed to the elements. 2/9 via homedepot.comThe Maine Porch Swing ($194) will look home on any balcony thanks to its simple and classic design. This 54-inch swing is made of solid wood with a traditional back slat, finished in a white paint that provides protection against the elements. The swing can support up to 500 lbs., and you can make it nice and comfortable by adding cushions. Buy Now 3/9 via amazon.comFor a different backyard rocking aesthetic, consider fleur-de-lis's best choice Porch Swing products ($120). The swing is 52 inches long with a weight capacity of 485 lb. and features a rather fleur-de-lis design for a touch of elegance. Its durable metallic construction will last for years. I bought this swing to stay outside in Texas heat/sun and rain, says a critic. I have a bank from his manufacturer and it's been out for four years and it still looks new, so I decided to take the swing. Very pleased and love this swing, use it every morning while enjoying a cup of coffee and every night with a glass of wine! Buy Now 4/9 via amazon.comJoso will be pressed to find a better built product than the CAF Amish Porch Swing ($200), made from dry pine wood with thick, durable slats. It is 62 inches long and can support up to 800 pounds. As the wood comes with a natural finish, you can color it or paint it to match the décor of the balcony. My husband, who worked as a union carpenter and construction superintendent, loved this swing and craftsmanship, says an Amazon reviewer. He thought the materials, hardware and overall construction were of high quality. Buy Now 6/9 via magnoliaporchswings.comYou can create the perfect place to sleep outdoors on your balcony with the All-American Swing Bed ($1,362), which comes in cradle, twin and full sizes. This beautiful swing is made from dry pines to solid oven, and you can select from various stains or paint finishes to match your décor. The seller also offers complementary features to increase its comfort and functionality, such as built-in cup holders or wine slots, mattresses, decorative pillows and rope or to hang. Buy Now 7/9 via wayfair.comS you already have Adirondack chairs on your balcony, you can get a swing to match. The Bettrys Porch Swing ($430) has the same signature slatted design and back as Adirondack chairs, and their length of 51-1/2-in. makes it ideal for two people. Supports 500 pounds. And according to the manufacturer, its weatherproof finish means it can be left out all year round without cracking or peeling. Buy Now 8/9 via ballarddesigns.comIf you're willing to spend a little more, you'll definitely be pleased with the design and construction of the Sunday Porch Swing ($1,099), which comes with several comfortable cushions. The swing is 65 inches wide and can support up to 800 lbs. in its daytime style form. This balcony swing has classic slat rails and a deep, cozy seat. You can choose between washed white or gray finishes that are perfect for a farm or chic country aesthetic. Buy Now 9/9 via wayfair.comIf you don't have room to hang your swing, you'll need a standalone model like the Arianna Hardwood Hanging Porch Swing ($250), which comes with a matching wood holder. The swing is 42 inches long, making it perfect for two, and can support up to 440 lbs. The swing is a perfect addition to our newly made backyard!, says one critic. It swings smoothly very different from some other swings that make you feel insecure. Amazing purchase for the price!
