This Dragon Quest 11 Hero Build & Equipment Guide will teach you how to maximize luminary potential in Dragon Quest 11 so you can dominate the game. If you're playing Dragon Quest 11, you'll want to know what your hero's best skills are, as well as where to find their best gear. This Dragon Quest 11 Hero Build & Equipment Guide will teach you just that. I'll tell you what skills to invest in from start to finish, as well as how to get the best hero gear. Dragon Quest 11 Character Building GuideHero – Erik – Veronica – Serena – Sylvando – Jade – Rab – Hendrik Skills – Dragon Quest 11 Hero Guide The Hero Aka Luminary has 4 skill trees to invest points in: Swords, Greatswords, Luminaries and Swordmasters. Of these, Greatswords and Swordmasters are hands down the best trees to invest in. Even if you are going to double wield swords, the Swords tree has questionable value. Sword skills are very bad, and the whole tree gives only a handful of bonus nodes to attack (+19 attack power vs +30 attack power and +25 strength in Big Words). Greatsword Build – Dragon Quest 11 Hero Greatswords are definitely better than swords throughout the game, except when it comes to gigaslash spamming to quickly end random battles, so I recommend you go down the Greatsword path and just unlock each knot. The locked knot in the middle of Swordmaster (Sword Dance) is just a modest upgrade over the unbridled Blade, so there's not much rush to get it. It's probably better to catch stats improvements in the Luminary tree (after expanding it) after catching the Force +25 node. Swords Build - Dragon Quest 11 Hero However, if you are going to go swords, what I recommend you do is go to the top of the tree where you go to swordmasters, grab falcon slash, and reset your points in swords. Use your free points to do the same on the Greatsword path to snag in +25 strength and reset Greatswords, then dive back into the Swords tree to unlock Dual Wielding. Finally, catch the Gigaslash and then start working down to the Greatsword tree with the Counterattack node and unlock The Dance Sword, which is a fairly significant upgrade over the Falcon Slash. Build Notes – Dragon Quest 11 Hero Definitely go with your weapon to build first. The Luminary Tree not only doesn't have enough skills to really make the hero a strong character on its own, but disappears into a solid piece of the game. However, once you've gotten the key skills you need from the weapon tree of your choice (Unbridled Blade, Helicopter, Force +25 for Greatswords/Dual Wield, Gigaslash, Sword Dance, Force +25 for Swords), Luminary should be the next stop as it is full of useful spells and stat bonuses. Best Equipment – Dragon Quest 11 Hero Equipment Setup Weapon: Brilliant Blade +3Helmet: +3Armor: Erdwin Tunic +3Accessory 1: Mighty Armlet +3Accessory 2: Mighty Armlet +3 Alternative Equipment Options: If you are a dual wielder, you can use the Supreme Sword of Light and Hypernova Sword. If you want to use a shield, use the Erdwin Shield. If you prefer defensive accessories, use Catholicion Rings. Brilliant Blade Locations: Complete the circle of Harmy's final attempt in 30 moves or a lesser sword of light; Made using the highest sword of light recipe obtained from the Process of Drustan, Desiring a Powerful WeaponHypernova Sword: Upgrade the Evolutionary Weapon Stardust Sword that's chest-deep in FearErdwin's Shield Fortress: 100 mini medal stamp awarded to Erdwin's Coronet : Found in a chest in the Luminary's TrialErdwin's Tunic: Found in a chest in the Luminary's TrialMighty Armlet : Found in Heliodor Castle (Post-Game) or crafted via Brace Yourself which is found in The BattlegroundCatholicion Ring: Crafted via Kings of Rings which is found in a chest in the Disciple's Trial – Cruel Crypt That about covers it for the Dragon Quest 11 Hero Build Equipment &amp;. As you pass through Dragon Quest XI: Echoes of an Elusive Age, several companions will join the hero's journey. Your teammates will earn skill points with each level earned, which can be used in the Character Wizard menu to unlock new attacks, spells, and stats bonuses. Wondering how to develop each character at an early stage? Here are some suggestions to get you started. Warning: This article may contain mild spoilers about the identity of your party members and the types of skills they use. While most of your teammates were very visible in the promotional material for the game and in the opening videos, if you want to avoid spoilers, come back now. character buildingIn expropriating in the early hours of Dragon Quest XI makes sense focus primarily on one area of the grid, rather than evenly distributeing your skill points between each category. It's better to be sloping than balanced, because you'll be able to unlock stronger skills faster. Skill trees for each character can change due to story events, often giving stronger moves. If one of your teammates leaves the event temporarily, it's a good idea to check to see if there are any skill points in Character Builder when you return. After a few hours of play, you'll be able to undo your skill point tasks at any time by visiting a campsite or church in the same menu where you save the game. If you're not satisfied with your character's current abilities, select Rectification to release skill points for 20 gold. You have to undo the entire category at once, you can not select and select individual skills. The best skill branches for any Hero Character/Hero Protagonist is not the richest man in the early hours of DQXI, and for a while characters like Jade and Sylvando will be harder than Cobblestone's pride. It will benefit from additional protection, so focus first on the branches of single-handed swords to leave a free hand for shields. Once you've built these skills a little bit, give some love to the stat boosts found in the Luminary branch. Leave Greatswords and Swordmasters for later in the game when hero pairing speed, basic stats, and access to divine-level equipment allow them to take much more damage. (At this point, however, you'll be able to dual-wield one-handed swords, so why bother?) Best Early Unlock: Falcon Slash (Swords 16P) - Quickly attack twice for double damage. Miracle Slash (Swords 16P) - Deals damage by slightly healing the MC Skill Tree. Erika in Dragon Quest XI. The building of each character has its own characteristic shape. Square Enix Erik If you're in stealing rare items and materials from the bad guys, Erik is your guy. But even if you are not, do not reject it. He has a good chance of causing ailments to enemies, and his agility allows him to act at the beginning of the turn. Instead of doubling down on Swords, we recommend training Erik in knives (many ailment-inducing attacks), supplemented by reinforcements of statistics provided by Guile.Best Early Unlocks: Poison Strike (Knives 7P) - Attack and possibly poisoning the enemy. Half Inch (Guile 8P) - Steals an item from an enemy (no damage). Double Wielding (16P Knives) - Equip knives with both hands, increasing damage and lowering defenses. Veronica It is difficult to think of Veronica as something other than a black mage ... so we didn't. Ignoring whips completely and favoring Vim's skills will increase her MP and Magic Power. Heavy wands as her main weapon will further increase her magic damage, but you don't have to worry about sacrificing skill points in this category right away. Honestly, Veronica's skill tree is not so useful. Useful. a huge advantage of the event, but most of its amazing skills are spells drawn from the usual profits on the level. Best Early Unlock: Fire and Ground Resistance +20 Percent (Vim 10P) - Increases Veronica's Elemental Defense. Ice and wind resistance +20 percent (Vim 10P) - Increases resistance of Veronica's elements. Serena's Skill Tree in Dragon Quest XI: Echoes of the Elusive Age. Wondering how to grow each member of your party? Here are some suggestions to get you started. Square Enix Serena Surprisingly, she is very useful with polearm. Before everyone joins, especially when there are only four of you, you'll want Serena to focus on Spears. Your fledgling team will take advantage of additional attack and defense damage, but can still be the main healer. Later in the game, when she's mostly handing out HP regeneration and buffs, give Harpistry and Wands some love. Best Early Unlock: Liberation (Spears 7P) - Heavy damage to undead enemies. Hymns (all elements, Harpistry 8P each) - Increase the team's elementary resistance for several rounds. Fighting bosses is essential, even until late in the game. Sylvando the Smiling Knight is a good option for swords or knives at the beginning of the game. Like Erik, his high Charm and Agility stats give him decent chances to cause status ailments, but Sylvando has a lot of useful buffs and (ultimately) healing. Therefore, it is an exception to the keep it lopsided principle set out above. Be sure to build Litheness to get to Showmanship, which opens some of Sylv's best moves in the game. Best Early Unlock: Fuddle Dance (Showmanship 12P) — Chance to get all enemies wrong. Hustle Dance (Showmanship 14P) – Restore over 70 CP to all teammates. Jade Jade is a warrior of power, able to deal a blow and sometimes inflict status ailments. She completely lacks magic and healing skills, so when you have her in a party to fight the boss (which will often be the case), make sure you bring a restorative magic user like Serena or Rab together. Like Sylvando, Jade is a bit of an exception to the lopsided rule. She deals more damage with spears than Claws, and some of her best abilities come from Allure. Its other unique category, Fisticuffs, is mainly stat bonuses, but a profitable investment. Best early unlock: Hip Drop (Allure 6P) - a fierce, inelegant attack at low MP cost. Consistently useful. Multithrust (Spears 12P) - Unleash four random spear attacks on a group of enemies. It will also attack one enemy 4x. Unlock movement on the Raba skill tree in the Dragon Quest XI character builder menu. Square Enix Rab This crunchy coot is essentially the Group's Red Mage: a pu-pu ing chom with offensive and defensive magic and moderate Attack. Initially, I dedicated Rab's skill points to the claws. Do not make the same mistake as I do; is not to be used as a melee. His attacks are not terrible, but by the time he joins you will have better warriors. Instead of first at the Enlightenment, then heavy wands. Like Veronica, she learns more interesting skills by leveling up than through Builder.Best Early Unlocks: Right as Rain (Enlightenment 6P) — A full party regenerates a small amount of HP at every turn. Sugar caster (Enlightenment 12P) - increase the effectiveness of spells. How did you develop your team in Dragon Quest XI? Do you think the unjustly undervalued values of Boomerangs and Whips?
