Happy new year banner printable

You can't have a hole without a banner, right? I made a simple and elegant banner playing off the theme of this Year's Eve party, including the very plumber and gold color. Just download and print this Happy New Year banner on stock card, trim, pointed a hole at the top of each letter and string on a gold ribbon. Now you're part ready. Cheers! ~ Lia I really can't believe that this year is almost over. Just a few more days and we'll be in 2017 and another year will be in the books. Today I share a free printing banner for you to use in your home or for a New Year's Eve feast with I also share what this year was meant to me and this little old blog. This was a really big year of change for Uncommon Designs. I'm now the only lady behind this little old blog and we're not a partner team. Bonnie and I are still as close as ever, but she is now working part-time in her church and devoted more time to her children. His kids are in high school and one of his past years, he'll enjoy every moment that he can. I miss having him as a business partner, but his decision was backed by plenty of thought and even more prayer. I respect him very much to listen to his calling and follow his heart. She continues to be such a model for me and I'm so happy that she is always such a big part of my life. 2016 was a time for reflection for me and which direction I wanted to take with Uncommon Designs. In the end, I decided it will stay the same. Full of ideas about how to bring beauty and joy to your home and family life. A place you can come and find a imperfect woman sharing some of her favorite things and how I find time in a packed schedule to celebrate the little things in life. I want to focus more on how bringing people together for any occasion reinforces family ties with friends. Time spent with those you love are so precious and we built to have thanksgiving to others. I want people in my life to have broken bread with you, have some fun with you, and share life with you. So be on the look for simple party leaders and tutorials. I will make this a priority for our family. I hope to get more organized in many areas of my life and hope to share many printings to help those of you who mostly wing it day. I know I can't be the only one that can use a little more planning in their lives with a little less chaos. After the realization that as my child gets older, my schedule will become even more cume-packed, I need a foundation of some sort to feel like I have both feet on earth. Finally, you'll see more recipes. Yes, I don't mean a food blogger, but I really want to start documenting some of our family favorite recipes this year. Now that I told you about it, it has to be done, right? Let's go through what you have waiting for... Happy New Year Free Print Banner! Download Here Do on the look for adorable tags tomorrow as the perfect New Year's Gift for anyone special in your life! Christmas seemed to just fly by and now we're getting ready to bring in the 2020 New Year. Today I share with you a little something to help you Bling in the New Year! A happy New Year banner free printable for you to print yourself. UPDATE: The year 2020 has been added for both gold and silver. You will find them below. Yes, I know what you're thinking? Another banner? After looking at our series of free printable letters I felt just wasn't bling enough to banner a New Year's. Megan made it blingy gold snaps for her Christmas racks and I felt all that bright. My husband is very afraid of glitter! Is there anything like glitterphobia? Well he has it, if so. {Shh! Don't tell him I told you. } I love everything that sparked so I had to come up with something creative that would not throw it over the edge. I did two sets of milk. Gold set looks best printed on a jet ink printer. I printed me on stock matching cards but you could print them on picture papers if you wanted to be more sparkly! Here they are! I use black tul I ordered in the Amazon string and! I love how they turned out. >>>Instructions for downloading and/or printing<<<Download- Click the link you want to download/print- a PDF version (make sure that the latest version of Adobe Reader installed) will open up, and you can download /save in your computer or just print. Printer - I recommend printing on card stock. Here is the one I use, it's stock four to 90lb. Cut-trim to the excess area using suspicion. Short dot- using a punch, shorten a hole to each corner- make sure you don't get too close to the corner. String Sets – Add a colored ribbon, twine, fidities or favorite – tulle me to assemble your banner! To step by step instructions and pictures on how to assemble letters to make a banner click here.
