Bsf romans lesson 23 day 4

All scriptures for this lesson are questions for this lesson 9. Treat the enemies with kindness. (George Barker Stevens) Knee means speak well, praise, thank or inspire a blessing [wishing someone good.] I don't know. A note about Matthew 5:44 in the SFL Bible about loving our enemies: the command to love our enemies means much more than simply changing our feelings about people with whom we don't get along. Instead, an enemy means an opponent or an enemy; And relates to those whose actions and words express hatred for you: the butt who won't talk to you, the partner who tried to get you fired. We are called upon to love those full of enmity towards us. Jesus leaves no room for speculation in this paragraph, commanding love for those who hate, despise and pursuit us. Such love is only possible through the power of Jesus Christ, who himself loved in this way and now seeks tools through which to love again the fullness of hatred and benefit him as they oppose you. King David set an amazing example by honoring and serving Saul, who constantly tried to kill him. I ask the Holy Spirit to teach me how to bless the man I mentioned on Day 3. Lux 6:28 to inspire blessings during and pray for the happiness of those who curse you, imploring God's blessing (favor) for those who abuse you [who resent, disrespect, and man in your hand misuse]. 10. Changed Relationships (TPT) live happily together in a spirit of harmony. Be aware of the value of another as you are of your own. Don't live with sublime thinking, thinking you're too important to serve others. Be prepared to do on-hold missions and empathize with those who are modest-minded. Don't be smug or even think for a second that you know all this. I have opportunities. In addition to the person I highlighted on Day 3, I take care of her washing my granddaughters. They have more accidents and stains than my sons at that age. My father has advanced dementia. Spending time with him is a chance to show patience and love. While I'm visiting Dad, I try to love and encourage his caregivers, thank them for their hard work and ask how she's doing. I'm standing on the phone when my son needs help with the kids and when something happens with my dad. My husband also needs a lot of backup. 11. Pride Destroys Relationships. Pride destroys relationships, but humility is the antidote to pride. Humility builds relationships. The Bible says in 1 Peter 3:8, live in harmony, be sympathetic, love each other, have compassion, and be humble (GWT). Don't let selfishness and proud agendas take over. Embrace true humility, and lift your mind to extend love to others. (Philipps 2:3 voice) Pride makes apology difficult. Humility is ready to apologize. 12. Cry with Those Who Cry. Being able to show compassion and empathy is really a gift, I think. But we all can. To make it better. Most examples I can think of fall into a group of what not to do — as just saying, sorry for your loss. This verse doesn't mean talking to the one who's been withered. He wants someone to be there. Cry with me. To say they're sorry things are so bad. Don't expect me to have perfect theology. To let me. What an amazing gift it is not to feel judged by every word I say in despair. We need to remember there's a mystery in suffering. We don't understand god's ways. Job's friends thought they did, so they blamed Job for his plight. There are no easy answers in mourning. ... Instead, let's sit down with our friends. Cry with them. Support them as they grieve. They need grace to heal. Join the discussion on our Facebook page or leave a comment below. But Ben asks him to stay because he knows he only thrived because of Jacob so he suggests Jacob name the price of his stay. Jacob says he'll stay if Ben gives him a wage of any spotted or spotted lamb and any dark lamb and any spotted or spotted goat born. It will separate the current dotted animals, dotted and dark colours, and these will be cared for by Ben's sons, reducing the chances of them being born. Ben divided the animals as agreed and separated the flock. Jacob then placed tree branches in the water manger, so that when the sheep came to drink they would mate. Jacob, who takes care of the animals in full color, separated his flock from ben and he kept only the strong. The weak went white. Jacob grew up very prosperous. Ben's sons were jealous of Jacob's wealth. God told Jacob it was time to go back to his homeland. Jacob called Rachel and Larva to him and told them how he worked for Ben even though wages change all the time, but God was with him and blessed him with their father's livestock. Jacob talks about a dream in which God recognized Ben's betrayal and told Jacob to leave immediately for the house. Rachel and Lya agree and say all of Jacob Accumulated from their father should be theirs anyway as an inheritance. Questions: 8A) He did his job. His employer's herds doubled under God's care and blessing. He gave over 14 years of work for Ben in exchange for a room and a board and his daughters. b) Jacob worked hard for Ben, never resented it, always did what he was told, and never complained. He first increased his employer's wealth and then took care of his own wealth. Ben thrived. He obeyed me with everything he was asked to do. He's worked all over it since he actually worked for God. Anyone who does badly will get paid for the wrong one (as Ben will). He respected Ben. Wealth wasn't Jacob's goal. Although White repeatedly deceived him, Jacob rewarded him with a blessing by doubling herds. He was humble. He depended on God for ours. He wasn't worried. He trusted God to take care of him. c) Personal question. My answer: work for God, not for others. I try to keep it at the forefront of my mind especially since my reporters bring me no financial rewards as of this time. I'm trying to give him as much of my concerns as possible. 9a) Selfish, arrogant, unfair, manipulative, greedy, taxing, unscrupulous, deceitful, totally intrigued b) Ben lypped the spotted, dotted, and dark animals and removed them on a three-day journey away, leaving Jacob with only solid-colored animals. This means spotted, spotted and dark animals will be born with these gardens removed from the garden pool. And fewer animals Jacob will receive in compensation for his long years of work. 10a) Personal question. My answer: home school, write, and maybe one day make worship music. Take care of family and home. b) Personal question. My answer: By trying my best, working for God, following his word when a questionable situation arises, and praying throughout. Give God the credit only by saying that, recognizing that everything is through his power (like all we do is get up in the morning to go to bed at night). Conclusions: I was pleasantly surprised that this lesson was at work. I thought it would be about trickery. Always a good reminder that you work for God. Because if you work for the person you are destined to be unfulfilled, miserable, and unhappy with life. Just as important is to give God the credit for everything you do. Saying it out loud to others is powerful evidence that I'm sure put a smile on God's face when he hears it. Note on selective reproduction: Researchers are not exactly sure the methods Jacob used as described here in Genesis. Jacob thought the branches would somehow give him speckled offspring and he glysed the strong to reproduce with the strong. The point is, God increased Jacob's share despite the methods used.
