Ted Williams hit just .254 and Stan Musial dropped to .255 in the twilight of his super careers. Pirates' Harvey Haddick threw a perfect 12-turn game only to lose on 13, and the teammate went 18-1 on the face in relief. After finishing seventh in 1958, the Dodgers regained their thickness and won the National League Championship. But the biggest surprise of all was delivered by the Yankees in 1959. The Blanco Bombers, winners of nine American League flags in the past 10 years, are in last place on May 20. The New York Pitching Winds weighed the team and could never join the match, which the White Sox ultimately won by five games against the Indians. Detroit finished in fourth place with an average of 353.353 and .327, despite efforts by Harvey Coen and Al Colin. Boston and RBI leader Jackie Jensen finished fifth at 112. The evening champion couldn't do it on his own, as Wilhelm's identity (a mark of 2.19) and Baltimore finished sixth. Harmon Kilborough was last in the league-leading 42 home runs for naught as Washington finished last. The National League Pennant match was far more dramatic. San Francisco seemed to have a locked flag with a 2-game lead over the Dodgers and Braves and a week into the game. The Dodgers then came into town and swept San Francisco in three games. The Giants never recovered, dropping four of their last five to the Cubs and cards. Sen. Fran finished third despite big years of Willie Mays (.313 averaging, 34 homers, and 104 RBI) and... Orlando Cepeda (.317 average, 27 homers, and 105 RBI) and solid performance from Sam Jones (who posted the best era in the league at 2.82 and with Milwaukee's Warren Spann and Lou Bardet for the lead Tied with 21 wins). The Dodgers and Braves finished for first place, as both teams won last Sunday. In a playoff best-of-three, the Dodgers led the league with 46 homers), Hank Aaron (who set up 39 and led the circuit with a .355 average), and swept the rest of the Braves. Los Angeles boasted of a balanced attack that combined experience and youth. Duke Snyder and Gail Hiji combined for 48 homers, while former Cardinal Wally Moon hit .302. Speedy Mavery took Wales in short stops over, and 23-year-old Don Drysdale won 17 games to anchor the pitching staff. Ernie Banks earned his second straight MVP with 45 homers (second on the circuit) and 143 RBI (tops in the league) for fifth-place Cubs. His American League MVP counterpart, Nelly Fox, finished white sox with a .306 battalion average. Go to Sachs, catcher Sherm Lollar (22 homers, 84 RBI) and shortstop Luis Aparicio (the stolen base leader with 56). Cy Young Award-winner Early Wynn, age 39, was 22-10 while Bob Shaw went 18-6 to stabilize the starting pitching. Jerry Staley and LeVen's cracks were solid from the pen. Ted Klawnski belted a pair of two-run homers in the first game of the 1959 World Series to give Chicago an 11-0 victory over Los Angeles. The Dodgers came back behind Johnny Peders and took a 4-3 game and sent a 1959 tied World Series to Los Angeles. Although the Sox hit 12 in game three, they lost 3-1 to Los Angeles. The Dodgers then played a game four 5-4 in The 8th Home Run by The Borges. A record crowd of 92,706 appeared in the Coliseum the next day hoping to see California's first World Series winner, but Chicago ruined the party with a 1-0 win. The Dodgers then took a game of six 9-3 in Chicago for the first time since their World Series crowns. To learn more about baseball, see: Picture: CasarsaGuru/E+/GettyImages Is Hard These Days When You Compare Softball to Baseball, but there was a reason softball was invented in 1887. This game is meant to be indoors as a way to ensure you can still have some baseball fun even if the weather outside was moody af. As a result, the playing field was shaking a little, like the distance between the baselines and, of course, the size of the ball changed. The ball also softened to make it less than a piece of destructive equipment for the indoor game. Then eventually we moved it all outdoors again, but the rules remained the same. These days, some buddies may look at softball because baseball is not real, but it's probably because they haven't played the game before. its not like football rugby is not baseball . Staying involved with the sport by becoming a umpire for up-and-coming young players in the region's high schools. A strong knowledge of the rules and subtleties of the game, the ability to handle emotional young players and occasionally flee coaches and parents, and the love of playing are essential tools for a high school baseball umpire. Excellent vision and being in generally good physical conditions, including having the stamina to stand and squat for long periods of time, are also required. You should also be able to pass background checks. Colton Underwood may be one of the most recent Bachelor success stories, but he still had to go through some typical teen struggles on his way there, even in relation to his sexual identity. Colton Underwood questioned his sexuality after years of bullying in high school, as he first revealed in his new book. And it took her experiences in the show for her to work through her doubts and make sure of herself. In his new book, Underwood wrote that he was bullied because of his physical appearance at class school. I was called fat, four eyes and four lips, he wrote, as people reported. I was a little heavy, and this, along with being socially awkward, led to a really difficult time. I didnt believe in myself . And I was very insecure. Bullying followed her to high school, even as she became a star on the football team when people realized she was a virgin, which ended up being a big plot point of her course on The Bachelorette. Rumors began circulating that he was gay and that bullying was so relentless, it made him ask questions himself. It was one of those things where you often hear something, you start to believe, he says. gay. The captain of the football team should have sex and drink, right? Although she pledged to abstain from sex for her faith, she got to the point where even Google'd Am I gay? after so much uncertainty, something she had ever kept to herself. I didn't know who I was, she wrote, I don't talk to my parents about it when I struggled with my sexuality in high school. Rumors of his sexuality actually followed him to the Bachelorette, and comedian Billy Eichner teased him about the possibility during his guest appearance on Underwood's season. I'm gay—I know it's a shock, Colton, Eichner told him, I think you should look at it, maybe you're the first gay bachelor, and we don't even know if you put him at your prom, Underwood laughed in stride, and wrote in his book that he learned how to deal with rumors in a healthy way. They said he was gay, he hid it. But I was there, I did it now today, he's happier than ever and still along with his first choice of show, someone Randolph - even though they're still engaged. I finally found someone I really just want to be with, he said. i want my life with someone . And that's really all that matters. It's important.
