How to type in vietnamese on android

Vietnamese IME is the first software that supports Vietnamese writing in TELEX and VNI style on Android phones. Interestingly, the use of this software is quite similar to the UNIKEY program on your computer. To use the program, download the VietnameseIME file.apk on your device to install it. After starting the program, go to Settings -> Locale and Text Settings, select Vietnamese IME as shown: Click OK on the following bulletin board and the installation process is considered complete. When you type the text and want to use the Vietnamese IME, press and hold the text box, and then select Select Input Method, continue selecting Vietnamese IME as below screenshot shown. To configure customizations for Vietnamese IME, go to Options, the 'Settings to Write' dialog box will appear to allow us to change the program settings. These options are quite similar to the UNIKEY menu buttons. Similarly, to switch between typing TELEX and VNI in Vietnamese as you go to Option, in the Settings section for the input method select the selection typing method. A new dialog box appears allowing you to make changes. Click OK on the next bulletin board to save the settings. You can download vietnamese IME software here. While it's the easiest to learn, it can take a little longer to write as a 4th row is involved. 2 Start with the tone marks. Tone marks can be written at any time after writing a vowel, and the software will automatically place the marks in their correct places. For example, to type m (mother), you must type ma1; to write m (code), type ma4. The tone does not need to follow the vowel directly, so to write m'ng (web), you can type ma5ng, man5g, or mang5 (note that m5ang is not accepted). Acute Tone ('d'u s'c') is 1 Pendant Tone ('d'u huyền') is 2 Question Tone ('d'u hỏi') is 3 Flip Tone ('d'u ng') is 4 Heavy Tone ('d'u nặng') is 5 3 Learn diacritical marks. Like tone marks, they can be written at any time after the letter in which they are supposed to be placed. You only have to write once if there are 2 horns in one word; for example, to type x'ng (bone), the type xuong7 Circumflex (found in ,) is 6 Horn (found in ,) is 7 (Short found in) is 8 Crossbar (found in) is 9 Key 0 is used to clear the tone mark or diacritic mark in that word. 1 Know the features. Telex uses letters to represent diacritic tones and marks. It is more difficult than VNI, but once master, it allows you to write faster since only 3 rows are used. Telex is particularly common on mobile phones, as the number row is generally not displayed. 2 Start with the tone marks. Like VNI, tone marks can be written at any time after the Acute tone ('d'u s'c') is the pendant tone ('d'u huyền') is f Ask tone ('d'u hỏi') is r Tumbling tone ('d'u") is x Heavy tone ('d'u nặng') is j 3 Learn the diacritic marks. Similarly, diacritic marks can be Point. To write the circumflex, type the same vowel twice. It's aa, it's oo, it's ee. The horn (found in the question nation page file is from the crossbar of the horn page) is d Add New Question Question. On a Mac, go to Settings > Keyboard > Input Sources > select the + > select Vietnamese icon in the languages. You can change the keyboard at any time by clicking the flag at the top of the screen.
