It stars Bel Powley as a 15-year-old girl who becomes sexually active by starting an affair with her mother's boyfriend. It also stars Kristen Wiig, Alexander Skarsgård, Christopher Meloni, Quinn Nagle and Austin Lyon. It premiered at the 2015 Sundance Film Festival and had a limited release by Sony Pictures Classics on August 7, 2015. [2] Plot In 1976, San Francisco, 15-year-old aspiring cartoonist Minnie began holding an audio diary. She is touched by her awakening sexuality and wants to lose her virginity. She fears she can be unattractive. When Minnie's bohemian mother Charlotte is too busy going out with her boyfriend Monroe, she suggests taking Minnie out instead. At a bar, Minnie and Monroe and she flirt for him she wants to sleep with him. They start meeting at his apartment and having sex. She shares the details of her sexual experiences with her friend Kimmie, and records them in her audio diary. At a comic book store, Minnie sees cartoonist Aline Kominsky signing books. She posts Aline her first comic, about a woman walking through town. Minnie sleeps with her schoolmate Ricky twice, but he finds her sexual enthusiasm intimidating. At a bar, Minnie and Kimmie decide to pose as prostitutes. They fell two boys into the bathroom, but the next day agrees it was a bad choice. Minnie's stepfather, Pascal, calls from New York City and invites Minnie to live with him, but she declines. Charlotte loses her job as a librarian. Minnie and her younger sister, Gretel, ask Pascal for money, and though he's annoyed, he sends the family a check. After a wild party, Minnie, Kimmie and Monroe have a threesome. Kimmie later says it was a one-off if Minnie seems bothered by it. She adds, it's not like Minnie loves Monroe. Minnie realizes, and says, that she does love him. She is becoming increasingly uncomfortable with her relationship with and he keeps teeing it down and says it's wrong just to continue having sex with her. Yet when she wants sex, sex, act too tired or push her down to give him a blow job. Her own satisfaction is a minor consideration. Minnie goes around confronting Monroe, but he says he hadn't slept the night before and needs a nap. Minnie is anrited but lets him climb into bed. She also lies and then he koaxes Minnie to talk dirty about a man she met at the theatre and then asks if it would hurt her if they were to have sex. They have sex and take acid together. Minnie sees herself covered in feathers and flies, but Monroe has a bad journey, convinced they are being watched. During the trip, he tells Minnie he loves her and she realizes that she no longer cares about him. Monroe starts making plans for them to be together when she's 18 and Minnie leaves him. Charlotte becomes suspicious of the relationship between Minnie and Monroe, but he convinces her that she imagines things. Charlotte discovers Minnie's audio diary, and confronts Minnie and Monroe. She decides that Minnie and Monroe should now get married, which Monroe agrees to. Minnie walks away from home in disgust and starts seeing a risk-taking lesbian, Tabatha. When Tabatha brings her to a drug dealer, after she told him that Minnie will have sex with him for the drugs, Minnie returns to her family. Minnie finds a letter from Aline encouraging her to draw more comics. Selling her comics and zines on the beach, Minnie walks in Monroe. She's cold towards him, and they go their separate ways. Minnie reflects on her emotional growth and realises that the only way to find happiness is by loving herself, not by depending on another person's love. Cast Bel Powley as Minnie Goetze Kristen Wiig as Charlotte Worthington Alexander Skarsgård as Monroe Rutherford Christopher Meloni as Pascal MacCorkill Austin Lyon as Ricky Wasserman Madeleine Waters as Kimmie Minter Margarita Levieva as Tabatha Quinn Nagle as Chuck Saunders Abigail Wait as Gretel John Parsons as Burt Susanna Schulman as Aline Kominsky (voice) Backstage Writer/director Heller received Phoebe Gloeckner's The Diary of a Teenage Girl as a Christmas present from her younger sister in about 2007. [5] Over the next few years, Heller adapted the graphic novel into a play, in which she played the lead role. The piece of theatre was originally conceived with Rachel Eckerling and then developed from 2007 to 2010 with Eckerling and Sarah Cameron Sunde. Sunde and Eckerling went on to co-direct the full production. The Diary of a Teenage Girl plays premier at 3LD Arts and Technology Center, produced by Aaron Louis in collaboration with New Georges and The Essentials. The production design functioned as an immersive cinematic experience with a carpeted sunk lounge and pillows for the audience to sit on, video and actors action took place in a full ambient setting. It critically acclaimed and ran for six weeks in March-April 2010. The success of production production gloeckner to give the film rights to Heller. [citation needed] Production On January 10, 2014, Kristen Wiig, Alexander Skarsgård and Bel Powley were reported to have joined the cast of the film as clues. [6] Caviar was co-financed with Cold Iron Photographs, and co-founded in the products of Archer Gray Productions. [7] Principal photography began on January 10, 2014 in San Francisco, California, and continued until February. [8] The film had its world premiere at the Sundance Film Festival on 24 January 2015. [10] Shortly thereafter, it was announced Sony Pictures Classics had obtained distribution rights to the film. [3] The film was released in a limited release on 7 August 2015. [11] In the UK, the film was the subject of some controversy due to the decision of the BBFC to give it an '18' rating. [12] Reception On review back Rotten Tomatoes, the film has an approval rating of 95% based on 164 reviews, with an average rating of 7.93/10. The site's critics consensus reads: Boldly unconventional and refreshingly honest, Diary of a Teenage Girl is an honest coming-of-age story that addresses its themes - and its protagonist - without judgment. [13] On Metacritic, the film has a weighted average score of 87 out of 100, based on 35 critics, indicating universal recognition. [14] IndieWire described the film as genuine, poignant and hilarious. [15] The Guardian gave it five out of five stars, called it morally complex and sometimes uncomfortably close to the bone, but also lush bawdy and funny, and packed along with an astonishing degree of cinematic bbee. [16] Acolades At the 2015 Berlin International Film Festival won the film the Grand Prix of Generation 14plus section for best film. [17] At the 2015 Independent Spirit Awards, the film won best first feature and was nominated for Best First Screenplay and Bel Powley for Best Female Lead.
