It provides voices for English-language versions of Japanese anime movies and television series. Early Monica Jean Rial was born on October 5, 1975 in Houston, Texas. Her father is from Pontevedra, Galicia, Spain. When she was young, her family often lived in Spain. She translates for her younger brother some of the European Spanish-speaking cartoons that included the anime shows Doraemon and Dragon Ball, often imitating different characters. Rial studied ballet, tap and jazz, but moved to musical theatre when he was 12 years old. She studied acting in high school as well as at the University of Houston College. In an interview with Otaku News, Rial mentioned the inspirations of The Simpsons, Family Guy and Beavis and Butt-head. She worked on a theatrical show with Jason Douglas, who offered her an audition for ADV Films. Rial's career first voice-over role was some kind of Walla in the 1999 dub of the Martian successor Nadesico. In an interview with Otaku News, Rial said she had to speak for two minutes straight as people in the crowd telling Jovians to return home. She later starred as Mihara in Gagaraki, Natsume in Generator Gawl, and the main character in the production of ADV Films at Hello Kitty's Animation Theater, the latter of which was one of adv's best-selling DVDs. In 2003, Rial voiced his best friend Kyoko Tokiva in Full Metal Panic!, and received a reprise of her for Full Metal Panic: Second Raid. In the same year, Rial voiced Kirika Yumura, the killer's quiet partner in Noir. Rial said Kirika was challenging because she had very few words, but she had to convey a lot of emotion. She also noted that Kirika's personality changed over the course of the series, so she expressed her more emotional in later episodes, which drew some criticism from fans. She also voiced Lila's Najica Blitz Tactics, where she also got to make a DVD comment along with fellow actress Keira Vincent-Davies. The comments have become popular as she gets feedback from fans about them at anime conventions. She is Haruka Shitu in the sci-fi show RahXephon. In 2004, Rial began behind-the-scenes work with anime dubbing company Funimation in the Dallas/Fort Worth area. During the year, she voiced Amy in the long-running detective anime series Case Closed, and Lear (aka Dante) in the drama series Fullmetal Alchemist. Both of these shows were shown on the Cartoon Network. She also voiced Lumiere's co-host Kiddy Grade. Meanwhile, with ADV, she voiced Nyamo-sney in the school comedy Azumanga Dayoh. She also took on some character roles like Momiji in Blue Seed and Maya in Neon Genesis Evangelion. Rial said it was very difficult to try to sound like previous voice actors, especially Maya's low voice, so she tried her own approach. She also received the voice of Pen Pen Penguin in Evangelion. In 2005, she voiced the serious main character Joe in a team of female mercenaries in the sci-fi series Burst Angel. Rial continued to play leading roles in the anime show. In 2006, she voiced the main character in Nanak 6/17, about a 17-year-old girl who, as a result of an accident, has amnesia and regresses to her 6-year-old I. In Speed Grapher she voiced the main character Kagur Tenzou, and in the remake of ADV Films Macros she voiced Misa Hamas. In 2007, she voiced Sakura in the English anime adaptation of Tsubasa: Reservoir Chronicle; Mary in the witch; Misuzu Amiiyo, the heroine in Kurau: A Phantom Memory. She also voiced the main characters of Misao Shinohara, Sasami's best friend in sasami: Magical Girls Club; and the heroine Asa Shigure in the harem comedy Shuffle!. Rial in the World of the Wizards of Columbus in 2017 in 2010, when Dragon Ball was remade for Dragon Ball and Kai, Rial received a voiceover of the character Bulma. She voiced other female characters such as Mia Asami in Sekirei, Tsubaki Nakatsukasa in Soul Eater, Mei Chang in Fullmetal Alchemist Brotherhood, and Ringo in Cassarn's Sins. In 2011, she voiced the main character Mina Tepex in Dance in the Vampire Bunde, as well as several main female characters in the ensembles Rosario and the Vampire, HighNess of the Dead and The Fabulous Tail, such as Yukari Sendou, Shizuka Marikawa and Rial voiced more leads in 2012 with Shirou's Deadman Wonderland, which also airs on Adult Swim. Stocking in the raunchy comedy Panty and Stocking With a Garter. In 2013, she voiced the character Haruko Amaya in the harem comedy Maken-ki! and Iori Nagase in the school anime series Kokoro Connect. As for her starring role as Michiko Malandro in Michiko and Hutchin, which was released on DVD in 2013 and aired on Adult Swim in 2015, Rial said that of the 300 characters she voiced, only two of them were and she liked that her character was not a stereotype. In 2014 and 2015, she voiced the main characters of the comedies Watamot and The Virgin of Samal as Tomoko Kuroki and Misaki Ayuzawa, respectively. In addition to voiceovers, Rial is consistently involved in writing the ADR script, with work in English dubs for D.N. Angel, Madlax and Gatchaman. In an interview with Active Anime, Rial said she would take a direct translation and write it in a sequential scene that matches the lip flaps. At later anime conventions, Rial mentioned that writing the ADR script had kept it quite busy, especially with the simulis, which are shows that are locally cased shortly after the original broadcast. She also wrote columns for the new US Newtype. In January 2018, Rial announced that she was taking time away from the film adaptation. In 2019, Rial claimed to have been sexually assaulted by actor Vic Mignogna in 2007. On April 19, 2019, Mignogna filed a lawsuit against Rial, her fiance Ron Tye, as well as Funimation and Jamie Markey for accurate interference, civil conspiracy and defamation over Rial's allegations. On July 19, 2019, Rial, Tye and Markey filed anti-SLAPP motions for Mignogna to dismiss his claim. On October 4, 2019, the case was dropped and all charges against Funimationa, Marki, Rial and Tye were dropped. Rial's personal life is with his younger brother Miguel and younger sister Natalie, who is also an actress. Both brothers and sisters voiced in the anime dubs. Rial is currently engaged to Ron Toyer.
