Journalist, Technology Entrepreneur Credit Image: UnsplashNowadays, in the age of information overload, it might still be difficult to find practical advice to use for building a business or product. Good books and ebooks can become a great source of ideas, a real experience to review and analyze, a coach helping to avoid typical mistakes. Here is a list of these books dedicated to online marketing that all professionals or entrepreneurs in the industry should read in 20201. Content Marketing for Traffic and Sales by Daniel Daines-HuttDaniel Daines-Hutt Content Marketing for Traffic and Sales is perfect for any marketer who feels their content is not doing what it should. It's great for you if you feel your content is missing something, and you don't know why? Everyone tells you to write more often, but you go crazy for all the work and small results. Daines-Hutt shows you what content will make a difference for you and then tells you how you can get the most out of that content.2. Theory and practice. The Ultimate Guide To Online Content Marketing by Aleksandr LashkovThis book is intended to help you solve practical marketing tasks. Alex Lashkov runs his own content marketing agency in Miami, and has worked with dozens of tech start-ups over the past ten years. An expert in the technology industry, he has extensive experience in helping technology companies talk to people using language that people can understand. This guide focuses on the practical issues that each content creator faces in their day-to-day work. This is a training ground that gives you knowledge about the types of modern content and tactics that can help raise awareness and engagement. All statements are supported by actual case studies3. The Lead Machine The Small Business Guide to Digital Marketing by Rich BrooksRich Brooks describes the critical aspects of modern digital marketing and shows you how you can grow them and grow your business. It talks about the different strategies you can use to get visitors to your website and how you can make sure they keep coming back. The complexity around certain elements of digital marketing is simplified and readers are presented with a book that simplifies what they need to do. The book provides a step-by-step guide to growing your online business that is perfect for marketers and entrepreneurs in any niche.4 Hooked: How to Build Habit-Forming Products by Nir Eyal is an expert in the field of behavioral design, and the book is the result of his ten years of research. Eyal helps you understand not how to get people to buy your product, but to get into the habit of buying your product. Another important fact about this book is that Product Hunt founder Ryan Hoover has helped make the content even more convenient. The author describes the real methods that are used by modern companies to attract attention and establish a direct direct connection the product or service they sell. This book is a handy tool for driving your company's retention measures.5 Hacking Growth: How Today's Fastest-Growing Companies Drive Breakout Success By Sean Ellis and Morgan Brown Hacking Growth is a relatively new book and, more importantly, the ideas it contains are not reconditioned from the good old things of Philip Kotler. Both authors have solid practical knowledge, especially since Ellis and Brown are the pioneers of growth hacking. This book will give you a practical overview of the multiple distribution models available. With it, you'll get a real guide on how to implement growth piracy within your business.6 Data-driven marketing with artificial intelligence: harnessing the power of predictive marketing and AI machine for marketing by Magnus Unemyr, 2018This is a unique work by Magnus Unemyr. First, it has an overview on the application of AI to marketing, which Unemyr gained by interviewing companies and marketing executives in high-end product construction companies. Second, it has a perfectly structured content, because all products are divided into several categories. These categories include competitive intelligence, predictive pricing, ad strategy, e-commerce, content marketing, lead and customer acquisition, customer relationships, segmentation and customer journey. These categories allow you to understand how and what tools can help you solve specific tasks7. The Choice Factory: 25 Behavioural Biases That Influence What We Buy by Richard Shotton Behavioural Science explains what really motivates people, rather than what they claim motivates them. The Choice Factory shows how the results of this strong field can easily be applied to marketing. Shotton highlights the complexity of target selection and explains how marketers should do this. Even if you're not a market specialist, this book provides fascinating insights into consumerism and human behavior. It focuses on everyday decisions and examines what drives us to make them and, therefore, what makes us vibrate. What great marketing books are you worth reading? In your will, you name the beneficiaries who will inherit your an executor to complete your estate, guardians to look after your young children and guardians who will own and care for your pet. You can create a trust for money inherited by children. You can also forgive the debts you owe and indicate how you want your debts, expenses and taxes to be paid. To start creating your will, visit Nolo's Online Will on Nolo's website. Back to the top What can I do with this will? With this will, you can: Name beneficiaries (and alternative beneficiaries) to inherit your property. Appoint a tutor to take care of young children. Create a trust or guardianship and choose an adult to manage your children's assets. Cancel the debts that others owe you. State how your debts, expenses and taxes should be paid. Appoint an executor to carry out the terms of your will. Back to the top What information do I need to make my will? It will be easier to do your will if you have collected some information first: an approximating inventory of your property (but if you plan to leave everything to one or a few people, you can skip this) a list of beneficiaries - that is, the people who will receive your property a list of alternative beneficiaries - the people who will inherit your property if your first choice beneficiary dies before you if you have young children , a list of your first and second choices for the guardian a list of your first and second choices for the executor's contact information for the persons you appoint as guardian, executor or guardian for your information on the debts you want to forgive, including the date you lent the money and the amount you want to forgive the account numbers and locations of all the accounts you want to pay them debts, spending and taxes back to the top How long will it take to do my will? You could do a very basic will in a few minutes. But a will is an important document; Don't rush. Set aside an hour or two to think about your wishes and do your will. Back to the top How long will you store my personal information? After you buy your will, Nolo stores your personal information for a year. Meanwhile, you can return to Nolo's online legal forms to change your wishes or print copies for your reference. If you don't want Nolo to keep your personal information, you can delete it at any time. Back to the top What if I have questions along the way? Nolo's online legal forms provide a lot of legal and practical information to help you every step of the way. On the right side of each interview screen, you'll see information about the choices you're making at that time. Back to the top What will my finished look like? Click on the link below to see an example of willpower. Of course, it's just a sample; your document will reflect your property, your situation and the laws of your state. The sample will be back at the top What should I do with my will completed? You must sign your will in front of two adults who do not inherit under your will. These do not need to read the will, but everyone must sign it as a witness. Keep this original document in a safe place, such as a fire-fighting box. (Full signature instructions will print with your finite will.) Back to the top Can I make copies of my completed will? It is fine to give a copy of your will to your executor or other close persons for information purposes, but do so only with unsigned copies, so it is absolutely clear that copying is not a legally effective will. (It's a good idea to store an unsigned copy with document signed, in case you need to make copies later.) Do not sign more than one copy of the will. This creates more than one original document and could cause confusion after your death. Back to the top What if I want to change something later? You have access to nolo's online legal forms for a full year from the date of purchase. During this time, you can make revisions as needed. To review your wishes after you've purchased it, log in and select the document you want to edit on your Nolo's online legal form homepage. You can't directly edit your completed document - you'll have to find the document interview screen that has the answer you want to change and do it there. If you revise your will after finalizing an earlier version, you will have to sign it and have it re-testified - as you did with the previous version. Nolo's Online Will always prints with instructions on how to finalize your will. Back to the top What other estate planning documents could I need? In addition to a will, you might consider: a living trust (whose main advantage is to avoid probate proceedings after your death), a health care directive (to appoint someone to make health-related decisions if you get too ill to do so), and a power of attorney (to allow a trusted person to organize your affairs if you can't). Learn more about these documents and how they can help your family nolo.com. You can make a living online now with nolo's Online Living Trust. Back to the top Is it safe to make a will without a lawyer? Making a will rarely involves complicated legal rules, and if you're like most people, you won't need a lawyer. It's up to you to leave your property as you wish. Most people do not find this task too difficult. We will take you step by step in the manufacturing process of your own legal will. And if a situation arises where you can benefit from the advice of a lawyer or another expert, we will be the first to tell you. If you decide to get help from a lawyer, let Nolo's Lawyer Directory take the guesswork to find a great lawyer. Back to the top Will it do me any good? Nolo's Online Legal Forms Will is a simple and legally valid document. It should work well for most people with typical assets such as a home, a car, savings, and investments. It's always good to make a simple everyone needs it. But there are certain situations in which you may need more than a simple will and should get expert advice or, at the very least, investigate your options. For example: If you think you or your spouse can leave assets worth more than $5 million, your estate may owe federal inheritance tax, and you should consider tax-saving strategies. If you're planning family fights, consult a lawyer for advice on how to avoid bad feelings and legal battles. If you want to create a long-term trust for a child find out how you can support your child without compromising government benefits. See Special Needs Trusts by Stephen Elias and Kevin Urbatsch (Nolo). Nolo's online will is not suitable for residents of Louisiana or the U.S. territories. You must be at least 18 years old and sane (meaning you know what you own and want to leave it to) to make a valid certificate. For detailed information on estate planning, visit Plan Your Estate by best-selling author Denis Clifford. Back to the top Why can't I do nolo's Online Will in Louisiana? Nolo does not provide estate planning products for Louisiana. Louisiana's estate planning laws differ significantly from estate planning laws in the other 49 states. Louisiana based its laws on the Napoleonic code, while the other states based their laws on the English common law, and Louisiana's estate planning laws remain unique. If you have questions about estate planning in Louisiana, consult a local lawyer. Back to the top
