Where is twitchcon 2020

Thanks, coronavirus. Twitch made the unfortunate but responsible decision to cancel TwitchCon 2020 in San Diego. This announcement followed up on the one made back in March that also canceled TwitchCon 2020 Amsterdam, which would take place in early May. It's obvious, the cancellation made in an abundance of caution due to the ongoing pandemic, but equally obviously, fans all around the world are ambassadors. However, for those of you who have already booked trips and accommodations for one of both events, you're probably wondering what exactly you need to do about it right now. Luckily, the official site has a lot of information to help fans and hopefully patrons sort everything out. And there may be hope on the horizons. Twitch is looking for ways to get everyone together they normally pick up for a time how long in the future, so stay tuned for more on that. Here's a look at the official explanation behind the cancellation: More details can be found in official pages here, including the following statement: In March, we made the incredibly difficult decision to cancel Amsterdam's TwitchCon.
