One punch man s class heroes list

The Japanese manga series One-Punch Man contains a number of fictional characters created by One and illustrated by Yusuke Murata. The series follows a superhero named Saitama and his disciple Genos who join the Hero Society so they can be recognized as such when they have multiple monsters and fights. The Hero Association ranks all of its members through a Class and a position within that class. Characters listed are noted by the author in the manga profiles, the ones highlighted in the anime character list, and those that recap across multiple storybowls. Main characters Saitama The title character, Saitama (サイタマ), is a bald-headed 25-year-old man who is bored of the fighting because he is effortlessly capable of defeating enemies with a single punch. Vol. 1 He lives in an apartment in City Z. Three years before the start of the series, when he still had hers, Saitama was jobhunting when he defeated the powerful supervillain Crablante who attempted to kill a child with his buttocks on his chin. Ch. 2 Saitama says he became a hero for fun daarvan. Ch. 5 His abilities consist mainly of physical abilities enlarged to an immeasurable degree: speed is the true power of Saitama, with power, stamina, and durability that are mere side forces. He attributes this to a daily training regimen (100 push-ups, 100 stickers, a 10 km run, eating healthy food, and not using the air conditioner or heater to bolster his mental fortune). However, he seems to have an ability where he gets stronger when he pushes himself to his limits (3 years of changing him in what he is today)Ch. 11 Early in the series, he picks up a disciple and roommate Genos. Vol. 1 Though he broke all the physical records in the Hero entrance exam by large margins, Saitama enters the Hero Society with a score of 71, giving him one of the lowest ranks in the Hero Society. This is due to his miserable performance on the spiritual exam. Ch. 16 He soon goes the ranks by performing many acts, although many of his efforts are not recognized because of collateral damage or higher-level superheroes receiving more credit. They include defeating the angry ninja supervillain/assassin known as Speed-o'-Sound Sonic and destroying a meteor that made the dinosaurs die out with a single punch. Due to the current arc of the webcome by ONE, he is A-Class rank 39. He doesn't care that others have the recognition, however, as demonstrated in his actions after the fight against the Deep Sea King. In the Dark Matter Diewe's story arc, he is unfthed by the telekinese of a powerful esper, further displaying his resistance. This bow was also one of the only times he used his serious punch, defeating the world-conquering leader of the aliens, Lord Boros, before taking his Star Cannon attack could use. By various various he forms friendships with Mumen Rider, Bang, King, Genos and Blizzard. His superhero name in the association is Bare Cape (ハゲマント, Hagemanto, Anime: Caped Baldy).Ch. 45 Saitama is voiced by Makoto Furukawa in the Japanese version[1] and by Max Mittelman in the English dub. [2] Genos Genos (ジェノス, Jenosu) is a 19-year-old cyborg who becomes Saitama's disciple after testifying about Saitama's easy win over Mosquito Girl.Ch. 6-7 Four years before the start of the storyline, his family was killed by a rampaging cyborg. Genos nearly died in the attack and his body was so destroyed to keep him alive to stop the rampaging cyborg for justice, a scientist named Dr. Kuseno Genos took in and changed his body to make him a cyborg with destructive abilities. Genos, however, remains steadflously convinced that justice has demanded revenge against and destruction of the cyborg. Ch. 7 His perfect score on the entrance exam for the Hero Society puts him in S-Class, but he still considers Saitama to be his master and goes with him when he's not summoned to other missions.Vol. 3-4 Saitama often has to save him., as Genos' headache personality causes him to jump into action without thinking. He lives with Saitama after making a substantial pay-off for his part of the rent.Ch. 18 His superhero name in the Hero Society is Demon Cyborg (鬼サイボーグ, Oni Saibōgu)Ch. 45 Genos is pronounced by Kaito Ishikawa in the Japanese version[1] and by Zach Aguilar in the English dub. [2] Hero Society (ヒーロー協会, Hishrō Kyōkai) is a superhero organization established by the multimillionaire Agoni to fight monsters, criminals and various threats. It uses a hero registry to indicate which characters are recognized as professional heroes, with anyone not registered to be perceived as a pervy freak that stems irresponsible nonsense. Agoni created the association after his grandson was rescued from the monster Crablante by an unknown bystander (who appears to be Saitama). It is also financed by donations from citizens. Ch. 15 The association consists of four levels from the lowest C-Class to the highest S-Class. The heroes within each class are ranked numerically, with the highest rank 1 of each class eligible to progress to the next level if they so desire. Vol. 4 New heroes must write an exam in which 50% is a physical test, and the other 50% is a written exam and an essay. A passing grade would be 70% or higher and placed directly in a class of 70% which is barely C-class to 100% provided S-class. Ch. 16 They are then placed at the lowest position for those tier. Ch. 16 Heroes can climb up or descend into their rankings depending on their actions: C-Class Heroes Who Are Inactive For A Week Are Dropped From the Register. Vol. 3 S-Class Superheroes is the highest hero rank in the Association. Those who received a perfect score on the entrance exam, as well as the top candidate of A-Class, are eligible to enter this class.Ch. 16, 23 Except Genos, the S-Class Superheroes in the series, in ranking:[3] Explosion (ブラスト, Burasuto) is the top superhero in the Hero Society. His whereabouts are currently unknown and are said to make himself known when a threat to humanity arises. Ch. 30 Terrible Tornado appears to be the only person to know who he is and what he looks like. Ch. 106 Explosion Once Fought Centichoro, a powerful, giant senipede, and took it to the brink of death. 84 He also fought the Ninja Village Leader at one point, ending with the Leader delivered comatose for 15 years.115 He had saved and became an idol to Sweet Mask 135 Tornado (戦慄のタツマキ, Senritsu no Tatsumaki), at rank 2, is the top female superhero ,Ch. 30 A petite 28-year-old woman with curly green hair, whose youthful looks and short stature lead others to confuse her for a lost little girl. Ch. 30, Vol. 9 bonus If an esper can perform its psychedelic maneuvers like telekinesis Ch. 30 and levitation. Ep. 6 She has a younger sister named Blizzard. Vol. 3 bonus In the fight with the Dark Matter Pigeons, she easily turns around a multitude of shells shot from a large alien ship back on itself, dealing with terrific damage. Ch. 34-35 Other espers are generally thwarted by her overwhelming telekinese. She has a short temper and slim often people for their incompetence. Ch. 37 Explosion is the only individual to see Tornado in high regard and she awaits his return.Ch. 106 in the anime, Tornado is voiced by Aoi Yūki in the Japanese version[1] and by Marieve Herington in Season 1[4] and Corina Boett in [citation needed] Bang Bang (バング, Bangu), who goes by the hero name Silverfang (シルバーファング, Shirubā Fangu, anime: Silver Fang), at rank 3, is an expert martial artist who runs a dojo in City Z. His martial arts style is the Fist of Flowing Water-Crushing Rock (流水岩砕拳, Ryūsui Gaisai-ken). Ch. 21 His only student is Charanko when he had a former disciple named Garo who beat his other students until they guit. The incident is a painful reminder for Bang and as a result he constantly searches for new disciples to surrender his martial arts; Charanko is pretty incompetent, after all. Vol. 6 As a hero, Bang is wise and displays a great deal of patience compared to others in S-class and often scraps other heroes for being naughty or selfish. He is one of the first heroes to recognize Saitama's true power and see him destroy a meteor on his way to wipe out Z-City. He has an older brother named Bomb who is a martial artist of the same caliber. Vol. 8 In the anime he is voiced by Kazuhiro Yamaji in Japanese version[5] and by Will Barret in English dub. [6] Atomic Samurai Kamikaze (カミカゼ)Ch. 69. who goes by his hero name Atomic Samurai). ranks 4. is a samurai hero who sports a kimono with an atomic symbol on the back thereof. He initially refuses to shake Saitama's hand, as he is not S-class, and when Saitama calls him middle-aged, he replies that he is only 37.Ch, 30 Atomic Samurai is highly skilled with his katana, able to cut off enemies into millions of pieces in an instant. Within condempted spaces, he wields his sword with so much accuracy and speed that enemies are deatomized. He has several students filling A-Class ranks 2, 3 and 4. He is part of a group called the Holy Order of the Sword, along with Nichirin, Amahare and Zanbai, each an unusually skilled sword-wielder. Ch. 68 In the anime, he is voiced by Kenjiro Tsuda in the Japanese version[5] and by Kyle Hebert in the English dub. [7] Children's Emperor Kinderkeiser (童帝, Dōtei), rank 5, is a ten-year-old boy who wears a Japanese-style primary school backpack. Ch. 30, 31. He's a genius inventor who uses robots to fight, as well as using his backpack to sprouting spider-like legs. that enable him to ambulate.Ch. 35, 67 In the bonus chapter Numbers, he devises a mask that functions as a scanner for the heroes and monsters' power levels.Vol. 10 bonus In Vol. 12, he fights a giant Medusa-like monster Ganriki with one of his robots called Dogman.Ch. 67 Several other gadgets were displayed, each with a unique feature tailored to the fight against certain enemies. Though he is the voungest of the S-Class heroes, he displays a level of maturity that exceeds most of his peers. In the anime, he is voiced by Minami Takayama in the Japanese version[5] and by Sara Cravens in the English dub. [7] Metal Knight Dr. Bofoi (ボフォイ博士, Bofoi Hakase), who goes by the hero name Metal Knight (メタルナイト, Metaru Naito), is a scientist who uses several remote-controlled robots to fight with high destructive ability. His robot first appears at Z City, where he tests a new weapon against an incoming meteor, but it fails while also turning down a collaboration with Genos. He was introduced as S-Class, Rank 7,Ch. 21, but after being credited for stopping the meteor, advances to rank 6.Ch. 22 He is absent at most S-Class meetings, Ch. 30, but his robots often appear to save parts from destroyed enemies. Ch. 37 Drive Knight advises Genos to be wary of Metal Knight, hinting at a connection between Bofoi and the cyborg that genos' hometown. When King was younger, he was attacked by a Tiger-level monster that clawed his face. But when a younger Saitama defeated it, King got credit because of Saitama's lack of registration with the Hero Association. Other similar victories depicted show that Saitama and other circumstances cause high-level demons to die near him, and he often receives all the credit. As a result, he was placed in S-Class. King didn't protest because of the S-Class benefits and wealth, soon becoming one of the most popular heroes. King is often targeted by monsters and assassinations; however, because of his happiness, his enemies overestimated him and ended up running away because of his presence. People have given his special technique a nickname, the King Engine, which in fact beats its heart so hard and fast that enemies are afraid. Although Saitama knows about King's lack of abilities, he doesn't mind giving King to keep inspirational people as an S-Class hero. King and Saitama become friends and often visit each other to play video games. As he was present at Saitama's previous life where the latter saved his life, King is the only person of that time who remembers to get naked. Vol. 8 King is voiced by Hiroki Yasumoto in the Japanese version [6][5] and by Rich Brown in the English dub. [7] Zombieman Zombieman (ゾンビマン, Zonbiman), at rank 8, is a zombie hero with short black hair and wears a jacket. Ch. 30 He is a virtually immoral hero who can regener from any wound. It is later revealed he was a former test subject of the House of Evolution. Ch. 89 His innate fighting abilities are non-existent compared to those of the other S-Class heroes, so he uses his rebirth for unconventional tactics that pinpoint the opponent's weaknesses. [volume and problem required] Fights against him often evolve into wars of attrition. In the anime, Zombieman is voiced by Takahiro Sakurai in Japanese[6][5] and by Vernon Dew in English. [7] Drive Knight Drive Knight Orive Knight Orive Knight Orive Knight Orive Knight Orive origins or Sakurai in Japanese[6][5] and by Vernon Dew in English. dub. [episode Bomb Bomb (ボンブ, Bonbu) is Bang's older brother and a powerful martial arts master. Its Side is the Fist of Whirlwind, Cutting Steel (旋風鉄斬拳, Senpū Tetsuzan Chin). Bomb was first introduced during Garo's hero hunk, when Bang came to his dojo to ask his big brother to help him stop his former disciple and Bom accept, finding Garo as a possible future threat to his own doio as well.Ch. 46 He is voiced by Shinya Fukumatsu in the English dub. Sourface (二ガムシ, Nigamushi) is a rather large muscular man with a large and hostile face who is a professional martial artist who is a professional martial artist who is always dressed with a white qi. Sour-faced was once a disciple of Bang, but stayed behind after Garo raged through the doio; sometime after that, he created the Sourface-style Kempo martial artist and started his own doio. He meets Saitama at the martial arts tournament and thinks he's talking to Charanko.Ch. 53 He is voiced by Itaru Yamamoto in the Japanese version and by Armen Taylor in the English dub. Suiryu (スイリュー, Suiryū) is a young man with tan skin and a low ponytail, he wears a traditional black uniform used in Chinese martial arts with star-like buttons. He previously won four consecutive Super Fight tournaments, as he is an incredibly powerful martial artist and used the Void Fist style. He is very popular and has many female admirers, but does not want to be a hero, preferring to be a free spirit. He advances to the final in the tournament that Saitama entered but can't beat saitama. However, he wins when Saitama is officially disqualified but is still dissatisfied because of his recent encounter with Saitama. Shortly thereafter when the Monster Association converts many of martial artists with deeper darker edges into monsters, just as Suiryu lost his strength and unable to fight the last of them (namely Goketsu and a recently sampled Bakuzan), he cries for help and Saitama saves him after which he vows to become a hero. Vol. 11-14 When the news of Monster Association's HQ is exposed to the surface at a place
