Players in the skin of monsters will eat the weaker individuals and move quickly in space in the opposite direction from the larger ones. The resulting DNA must be immediately assigned for the avatar's development and growth to show all its power with new powers and abilities to those who used to be a real threat to their continued existence. Action in which players take on the role of the unique types of predators on Earth in a new era. Until recently, they were only prototypes in scientific laboratories, and now they are fighting for the main square. The cataclysm destroyed civilization and now the planet is dominated by genetic experiments. And gamers must that their species is better suited to become dominant. Under the scorching sun, a new civilization found its origin. Spore monsters survived on this deadly empty ground and developed. The solution was found in symbiosis with the technologies of extinct humanity. Technological Technological of monster claws, limbs and bodies. These transformations of monster species made it possible to adapt to the unfriendly environment. But this rapid development has hit the spirits of the creatures hard and caused anger, madness and anger. Now these creatures are even more insatiable, grim, and hungry. Found in the deep depths of the deep sea, spore monsters were genetically modified by scientists in cell labs and now survived their creators. They are much stronger, more angry and more flexible monsters than they were. But they continue to evolve into high-tech monsters. Take part in a fierce battle for the area and become one of the terrible monsters. Destroy your enemies, absorb their genetic code (DNA), and develop to dominate monsters who dare to challenge you. Become a monstercrafter and decide for yourself what your new monster will look like. Eat and breed your own fighting monster. Don't starve monsters! Enjoy unlimited evolution and transformation, but be careful! Many more angry creatures put their hearts on this area. Huge sandworms that are ready to absorb and devour anyone who dares to get close enough to their abyss jaw. Gigantic crabs that do not participate in this war, but constantly observe the struggle of their smaller genetically similar species. Start as a tiny evil wood louse-looking creature that can barely survive for several seconds in this unsafe environment. Run away when you see other moving objects such as monsters, deadly spiny balls, wormholes, devour DNA of other wild monsters, and simply collect DNA scattered across the territory. The only way you can survive is to constantly evolve, acquire new skins, improve the parameters of the insect, and constantly change tactics against other insatiable monsters. Depending on the evolutionary stage of the monster, it can become a tiny weak but very fast monster, or, in contrast, become an angry, powerful and dangerous monster that easily devours other inhabitants of this tiny universe and shows its power in clashes. It's entirely up to you to decide which skins and parameters to output the DNA collected in the battles and which evolutionary path to choose. Follow us on Facebook:
