Whether her earrings, rings, charm bracelets or necklaces, it's hard to go wrong when you give jewelry to a girl! This Mother's Day, give it something a little more unique than your typical jewelry, give it an origami owl! Although I love jewelry, too I am not one of those which layer it. Instead, I would keep it simple with just a few pieces of compliments on whatever outfit I am wearing. I would also like to buy worn jewelry that means something to me: my engagement and wedding rings, earrings my mom gave me, a charm bracelet that tells my story, or my latest addition, addition, Origami Owl Living Locket and Necklace. I'm sure most of you have heard of origami Owl, not only known for its business model, but also for its unique jewelry such as charm, bracelets and cabinets. For those of you who are not familiar, here's a little bit about their background – and that background seems to me quite impressive! Origami Owl was created in advance by a teenage girl under the name Bella. Like many parents, Bella wanted her to know the value of the job, so instead of offering to buy her a car for her 16th birthday, they told then-14-year-old Bella that if she wanted a car, she would have to buy it herself. So, with $350 and the support of her family, she started selling lockers to friends and family after school. Not only were the lockets immediately hit, but Bella was able to fulfill her dreams when she purchased her own Jeep. But that's not all she did. She also created a business that gave thousands of people a job. Today there are more than 60,000 independent designers, and thousands more are waiting to sign up. A pretty impressive 14-year-old, isn't it?! Origami Owl Living Locket Living Locket® is a cabinet that has started everything, and it is also a cabinet to choose a view. Much like the concept of a charm bracelet, Living Locket is a cabinet that you can customize with small charms that reflect your history and life. But instead of the charm attached to the chain, they fit inside the cabinet (which has a transparent glass face so that everyone can see the charm). There are many cabinets from which you can choose different shapes, sizes and materials. There are silver cabinets, gold cabinets, engraved cabinets, engraved cabinets, locks covered with Swarovski crystals, and even colored cabinets. And there is even more charm, ranging from birth stones to animals, food, hobbies and more! Living lockets are designed where you can pretty much create it to look the way you want. You can choose the cabinet, the main buttons that you want to add inside, the desired type of chain, any desired covers (these are the individual buttons that hang near the cabinet) and the plate. Panels are pieces that go to the locker for charm to give an additional background. They are available in a variety of materials, colors and designs. Origami Owl Living Locket Review of The Living Locket I created started with a beautiful Silver Twist Living Locket with a floral face that features floral engravings and Swarovski accent crystals. I chose not to have a plate as I wanted, but the shirt I was wearing provided a background for the charm. I added a silver, flat oval link to a custom chain, and started with four simple charms, including dragonfly, silver chai (Hebrew for life), and amethyst and blue rhinestones of Swarovski crystal stones. Over time, I plan to add a few more although I like it Simple appearance, so most likely will not fill it in capacity. I really didn't expect the charming package my locker came to! The origami box is designed to resemble a Chinese pick up container, and inside was a nice eastern print fortune cookie for the jewelry holder. As soon as I took off my locker and chain, I fell in love. The cabinet itself is very well made, with a delicate engraved floral pattern around the face and equal sides and base. The face is a piece of thin glass, like the base (remember that I choose not to get a plate of mine). Each of the charms is exactly as depicted on the site, with a very detailed butterfly, a beautiful brightly colored amethyst and blue zirconia Swarovski crystals, and pretty, clear crystals inset on a silver chai. The only thing I would like to order otherwise is the chain. The one I got is a little longer than I would like, but it is my fault not measuring one of my other necklaces to check the exact size of the chain I wanted. One thing I've noticed that I've never thought of myself is that the front and back pieces of the closet are close enough together that the charm won't ever flip into your back. For many charm it may not matter, but for some - for example, my chai charm, when the front has crystals, and the back part is simple - it does make a difference. Overall I am very impressed with my locket! The cost of living locket necklaces is on average with the most basic locket starting at $12, chains starting at $12, charm starting at $5, and plates starting at $6. As I said earlier, each piece looks very well made, and even the glass at the front and back of my cabinet perfectly holds. Living in Lockets would be a great gift for birthdays, holidays and especially Mother's Day! Life Lockets are not the only ornaments that origami owl offers.
