Blue canary night light

Anfani's Blue Canary Night Light, a tribute to the wonderful song Birdhouse of Your Soul by which they might be giants. Blue canary at exit with light switch Who watches over you? Make a small aviary in your soul not to put too fine a point on it I say I'm the only bee in your bonnet Make a small aviary in your soul Like this! Tweet this! Email this! Lights, preschoolers, toddlers want to do it? Blue canary at the exit with a light switch? Not that you care. Sleep is overrated. (Or you'll keep saying to yourself). Made in small batches by giant TMBG fans, these really sweet little night lights are more than just compliments. They are actually really cute, functional night lights that release blue lights (a way to calm down more than white) and use LED bulbs rather than incandescent. Therefore, they are more energy efficient. Use it as a moment to be taught to let your child know their commitment to eco-friendly products (and watch them roll your eyes and plug in your earbuds). stop interrupting beaver fever). In fact, it removes the night light from the grateful whipper snapper. Put it in your room where the blue canary can see the actual action. Mum, for example, re-reads Fifty Shades of Grey and Daddy watches Game of Thrones). The only complaint that everyone seems to have about this item is that it is not super bright. Obviously, those people are not super bright themselves. It's the people of the night light. Already go f* to sleep. I owned one about 5 years ago from ThinkGeek but I lost it and I really want to have it again. I've seen Amazon, ebay, but no one seems to have anything. I have an aviary without birds.
