When he finished his Requiem, Webber dedicated it to his father, who died in 1982. Webber's requiem is his most personal composition and his only fully completed classic work. The requiem is striking, but deviate from the style of music music Lloyd Webber is well known. Webber's requiem first performed at St. Thomas Church in New York, 25, 1986, and was awarded the Lloyd Webber Grammy Award for best classical contemporary composition. In addition, Pie Jesu placed among the top 10 in the British music charts to earn Requiem Silver certification for the British phonogram industry. Unlike the traditional requiem mass, Lloyd Webber combined the texts of Pie Jesu and Agnus Dei, as well as Hosanna and Benedict, and divided Satus into two movements. This treatment of sacred texts is unique to Andrew Lloyd Webber and will be remembered and enjoyed by many, probably for centuries.
